RALLY EFFORT ON WALL ST. FUTILE

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Efforts to expand Friday's modest stock market rally met with opposition today and leading issues generally shifted over an extremely narrow range. Traders had little fresh news to go on and the disposition of most was to step lightly in expanding commitments. Dealings frequently were at a standstill during the two-hour proceedings.

FASCISTS STAGE ANTI-RED MARCH

Rome, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Uniformed Fascists demonstrated against Russia today before the Soviet embassy and the Finnish legation. Onlookers said there were 3,000 demonstrators, including many students, in the gathering before the Soviet embassy at which anti-Soviet slogans were shouted for half an hour.

Then the throng marched to the Finnish legation where it cheered the Finns and denounced the Russians. The demonstrations, uninterrupted by police, underscored the sympathy for Finland expressed by the Fascist press since the Soviet invasion of the little republic.

At the Finnish legation the demonstrators hoisted Finnish Minister Eero Järnefelt on their shoulders and paraded him around the plaza.

NEWS VIEWS
By HALE WHEELER
LOOKS Like England is having more trouble with its "blackouts" than with enemy bombs. When a bomb drops, at least you have a rough idea of what's going to happen, but with a "blackout" anything can happen—and apparently does. However, I suppose the "lights out" order is a boon to men who are looking for an excuse to keep them from the family fire-side. They can always say they were afraid to come home in the dark.
Sometimes it seems the world is too well educated. I'll bet Fritz Kuhn, the Bund leader, wishes he had never learned to write—because there's nothing less romantic than the way a lawyer reads love letters in a courtroom. How does your winter overcoat look after a summer in the closet? Unique Cleaners' modern methods of cleaning will bring back the "new" look to your garments. We gladly repair small moth holes, sew on buttons, and perform other special services after your overcoat has been thoroughly cleaned by our careful workmen. Unique service coats no more.
