CIVIL LIBERTIES PROBE IS BALKED BY CALIFORNIANS

Two Sheriffs And A District Attorney Refuse To Produce Records Demanded.

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Two California sheriffs today flatly refused to produce their records for the LaFollette civil liberties committee and one district attorney refused to deliver all requested data.

All three were subpoenaed in connection with the recent central valley cotton strike to produce records at a preliminary session of the committee called to gather records pertaining to possible violation of civil liberties in northern California.

Sheriff George J. Overholt of Fresno county and Sheriff W. O. Justice of Madera county told Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah they were standing on their rights to withhold information the disclosure of which might be against the public interest.

Partial Record Given
Overholt agreed to "tell anything" at the hearing to be held later. Justice, who once refused a committee investigator access to his records, promised to cooperate with a new investigator whom Thomas said would be sent.

District Attorney George W. Mordecai of Madera county produced a partial record but said he would not produce a "confidential" file without a court order.

A large throng of county, corporation and organization officials filled a federal court room where Senator Thomas opened the session by instructing those present to file subpoenaed documents informally.

Among the first to present documents was Mordecai. He handed Daniel Morgolis, committee attaché, a complete file from the Madera county auditor and then a thin folder of papers with the remark, "These are my records."

"Are these all that were subpoenaed from you?" Morgolis asked.

"I don't think they are," Mordecai replied coolly.

"Are you making a partial response," Morgolis asked, "or what is your position?"

"These," said Mordecai, "are all the records that can be produced without disclosure that might not be beneficial to the public interests."

Morgolis suggested the district attorney take it up with Thomas at the formal preliminary hearing, called to determine the response to subpoenas and number documents, although all of them will not be used in the regular hearings to be held later. The disputed records presumably dealt with the recent cotton strike.

Previously Mordecai had said at Madera his records were "confidential" and he won't deliver them until the committee brings a court order compelling such delivery. He declined to say what records he was withholding and suggested the committee specify exactly what records it wanted.

Aaland islands guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, it was announced tonight. A message to this effect has been sent to Joseph A. C. Avelon, secretary-general of the League of Nations, it was stated.

These islands had been the subject of a diplomatic tussle between Finland and Russia. Finland and Sweden had appealed jointly to the League of Nations for approval of their plan to fortify the islands, but Russia refused.

Swing Film

Lana Turner and Richard Carlson head the parade of fun stars in the red-hot jive and swing show, "Dancing Co-Ed," which comes to the New Rialto Theatre tomorrow for a three day run with Artie Shaw and his band playing nineteen popular song hits as the highlight of the fun, romance and swing jubilee. Others in the cast include Ann Rutherford, Lee Bowman, Leon Errol and Thurston Hall.

"Missing Evidence," starring Preston Foster and Irene Hervey, is scheduled to play as the added feature with "Dancing Co-Ed."

sia objected vigorously on the ground that such a step would bottle up the Russian fleet in the Gulf of Finland.

The upshot of this issue, which was debated last June, was that the league council did nothing.

Snow Holds Planes.
Announcement Finland would fortify the Aalands came at the end of a day of apparent quiet in the undeclared war with Russia. A heavy snowstorm prevented air operations over Helsinki, and there was no official word of developments at the front.

The new situation regarding the Aalands, a spokesman announced, resulted from Russia's invasion. Troops already are preparing defenses of the islands against a possible Russian attempt to seize them.

"The Aaland Islands," said the spokesman, "are one of our most vulnerable points. If they should fall into the hands of another power it would close the Gulf of Bothnia and practically isolate Finland from the rest of the world."

It was announced today the total civilian casualties in the recent air raids were 85 dead and 181 wounded, 65 being killed in Helsinki alone.

Sixteen buildings were destroyed by bombs, 11 by fire and 233 others damaged.

Russian Loss Heavy.
There was no official word on activities of the government or developments at the front.

The Finnish command said the Russians had lost heavily when their troops crashed through the thin ice along Finland's lake-studded frontier, and had been mowed down by sharpshooters and machine-guns guarding the frozen lakes.

Several thousand Red army soldiers were reported killed also when they advanced across ground which retreating Finns had mined at Terijoki, alleged birthplace of the Communist and Moscow-endorsed Finnish regime.

The Finnish radio disclosed a peace effort last night, announcing the Helsinki government had asked the Swedish legation in Moscow to consult the Kremlin on the possibility of a settlement.

Prime Minister Risto Ryti declared in a broadcast to the United States today that Finland is "ready to negotiate the demands of Soviet Russia to the utmost limit without violating our independence, or policy of neutrality."

But, he declared, the Finns are determined to defend their liberty and independence.

OREGON IS UPHELD IN TAXING ESTATE IN CHICAGO TRUST

U. S. Supreme Court Reverses Ruling By State Court in Hayes Dispute.

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—In a decision broadening a state's taxing power, the supreme court ruled today Oregon may impose an inheritance tax on a $450,000 trust created in Chicago by a resident of Oregon.

Justice Douglas delivered the decision that reversed a ruling by the Oregon supreme court that the gift was beyond the state's taxing jurisdiction. Justice McReynolds dissented.

Justice Douglas said the property was "within the jurisdiction of the state of Oregon since that jurisdiction is dependent not on the physical location of the property in the state but on control over the owner."

The trust was created in 1935 by the late Dr. Edward Stephen Hayes of Multnomah county, Oregon, for his children and other beneficiaries. He died Feb. 11, 1936.

The Oregon supreme court held the gift constituted federal reserve notes, described as tangible personal property with a situs in Illinois.

Oregon officials contended "the gift was staged outside the state of Oregon solely to defeat inheritance tax at descendant's domicile."

Salem, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Today's United States supreme court decision in the Hayes inheritance tax case will "prevent the bars from being let down so as to permit wholesale evasion of inheritance taxes," E. G. Sanders, head of the state inheritance tax division, said.

The highest court, reversing the Oregon state supreme court, found that Oregon could collect a $60,000 tax on the $450,000 trust established by Dr. Edward Stephen Hayes of Portland, who died Feb. 11, 1936. Sanders said there were no other similar cases pending, and that the Hayes trust also would be subject to taxation in Illinois.

Academy Winner In Stormy Queen Role

Bette Davis, as everybody knows, gave performances in "Dangerous" and in "Jezebel," each of which won her the highest award offered by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

That being the case, it is hard to believe that her characterization of Queen Elizabeth—stern, savage, sardonic, bitter, tender, bawdy, suspicious, and madly infatuated daughter of Henry VIII and the beautiful and doomed Anne Boleyn—will not again entitle her to recognition for having presented the finest screen portrayal of the year.

No star, however great, can demonstrate her ability without a great story told in great words, and both these requirements are eminently exemplified in "The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex," which opened last night at the Craterian Theatre.

The motivation of the story is the desperate struggle in the mind of Elizabeth, between her unreasoning love for the young and ambitious Earl of Essex and her love for the country she rules. Swayed between her infatuation with him, and her fear that he may be false in his protestations of love for her—it is Errol Flynn, is the scornful but ingratiating adventurer, Robert Dexteraux, Earl of Essex, swashbuckling, but subtle and complex. While the mob shouts "Up with Essex! Down with Elizabeth!" he is conscious of his obsession to dethrone the woman he loves, and in the end refuses to save his life—because of her and of England.
