

FIRE BOYS ISSUE URGENT CALL FOR TOYS TO REPAIR

Another call was issued by firemen today for old toys no longer needed. The old playthings will be converted into Christmas presents for poor children.

As the restored toys must be distributed a few days before Christmas and as time must be allowed for the drying of paint, all work must be completed by December 20, Chief Roy Elliott said. This leaves only about a week and a half to work on the old toys.

Toys of all kinds are needed but especially wagons of the larger sizes, firemen said. When the work on the discarded toys is completed, the restored playthings, good as new, will be turned over to the Lady Lions for distribution. Meantime anyone interested may go to fire headquarters and see the firemen at work on the battered old toys.

Cards will be distributed by the Lady Lions to families who are to receive the restored toys and presentations will be by card only, it was explained by Mrs. Ray Marti, president of the Lions club auxiliary. Time and place of distribution will be announced later. It is calculated that children of 200 needy families will receive gifts through the work of the firemen and the Lady Lions.

ARMY CHANGES ERASE FAMOUS FIELD BATTERY

Washington —(UP)—The first American field artillery battery to go into action in France during the last World war has been action for the last time. It took part in recent army maneuvers at Fort Meade, Md., before giving way to a smaller unit.

Headquarters battery at the 1st field artillery stationed at Fort Hoyle, Md., believed to have fired the first American artillery shot during the war, will be disestablished in line with a war department plan streamlining all Army divisions. The new compact and highly mobile forces with a peace-time strength of approximately 8,500 and a wartime footing of 12,000 have no headquarters battery.

Although there is much controversy in the field artillery as to which brigade actually went into action first, an interesting sidelight, and one that clinches the claim of the battery, was uncovered in the office of Brig. Gen. Maxwell Murray, commanding officer of the Washington provisional brigade.

An aide related how Murray, then a captain with the 1st Brigade, ordered a 155-millimeter gun rolled to the front on a truck and fired the first shot. It was believed this gave the brigade the right to claim distinction as the first in action.

When the brigade is knocked down, the officers will be reassigned and most of the enlisted men will be transferred to Madison Barracks, N. Y., and Fort Knox, Ky. The unit is one of the most highly technicalized divisions of the artillery.

TWO COAST PLAYERS NAMED ON COLLIER'S ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

New York, Dec. 8.—(Sp)—Selections for Collier's 50th annual All-America football team, a perpetuation of the All-America started by Walter Camp in Collier's in 1889, were announced today. The players are: Ends: Frank Ivy, University of Oklahoma; Esco Sarkkinen, Ohio State.

Tackles: Nicholas Drahoš, Cornell; Joe Boyd, Texas A. & M.

Guards: Harry Smith, U. S. C.; Edward Molinski, Tennessee.

Center: John Schiechl, Santa Clara.

Quarterback: Paul Christian, Missouri.

Halfbacks: Nile Kinnick, Iowa; Tom Harmon, Michigan.

Fullback: Banks McFadden, Clemson.

In awarding the Walter Camp gold football to these players, Collier's points out that in the half century since its first All-America team was published, football has developed from a point where there were maybe 50 or 60 good players in the country, to the present position with its 10,000 or more well-trained, well-coached players electrifying more than 40,000,000 fans.

This of course has tremendously increased the task of picking an All-America. In the early days Walter Camp picked the team personally, having seen all the leading players. But today an All-America advisory board, made up of expert observers in every part of the country, makes the selections.

OVER 100,000 TO SEE TROY PLAY UCLA FOR TITLE AND ROSE BOWL

Los Angeles, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Football teams of southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles went into hiding today, far away from the clamor of pre-game excitement over their battle for the right to represent the west in the Rose Bowl.

More than 100,000 will jam Memorial coliseum tomorrow to watch these two eleven, survivors of the 1939 Pacific Coast conference warfare, collide (at 2 p. m. PST) for the sixth time since they first met in 1929.

U.C.L.A.'s official family, headed by Coach Edwin C. (Babe) Horrell, was confident its "rags to riches" outfit would give the vaunted Trojans a terrific argument, and ardent supporters went even further.

They felt the team will do better than the best it's ever done against Southern California, which was tie the Trojans in 1936.

The S. C. powerhouse, however, remained a general two-to-one favorite to whip their neighbors and march on into the Rose bowl for the second straight year.
