Reese Creek
Reese Creek, Dec. 21—(Special.)—Teachers Harold Reedy and Miss Etna Davis are working hard for the Christmas program Friday evening, Dec. 22. The Home and School Circle ladies have purchased and made a new stage curtain that will aid in the program. A Christmas tree will be enjoyed. Also a visit from Santa Claus.

An all-day community quilting party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Millard, December 13. A bountiful dinner was served at noon. Present were Mrs. Homer Martin, Mrs. C. V. Tiede, Mrs. J. E. Grow, Mrs. E. E. Jackson, Mrs. C. E. Lamb, Mrs. O. P. Rushe, Mrs. C. W. Waddell, Miss Geraldine Jackson and Miss Blanche Tiede.

Charles Rushe was home from the CCC camp the past week-end to visit his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rushe and Gladys. He attended Sunday school while home. The American Union will have a Christmas program and tree Sunday evening, December 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humphrey were home from their mine on the Applegate over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merritt entertained with a Sunday school class party for Mrs. Merritt's class. Games were played and music enjoyed until a late hour, when refreshments were served to the following guests: Gladys Rushe, Reva and Elva Chestnut, Miss Etna Davis, Beth Still, Cleo Merritt, Marie Davidson from Eagle Point, Harold Reedy, Dallas Redding, Leonard Chestnut, Echo Redding, Charles Rushe, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merritt, Janet and Jenny.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Lewis visited at the W. R. Lamb home December 19.

Irving, Ky. (AP)—James Winn, reelected county clerk recently for a third term, maintained his record of just "skinning through". In his three races, his total majority was only 106 votes. In 1927 he defeated the incumbent county clerk by two votes. Six years later he won reelection by 70 votes. This year his vote margin of victory was 34.

Move Shamed
Hugo, Okla. (AP)—When county commissioners put a pay telephone in the sheriff's office, they started something. A news story about the situation—"Pay Telephone in Sheriff's Office. Costs Him Nickel to Call Wife"—caused so many comments against the economy move that the regular telephone was reinstalled.

WOMEN REVIVE SEWING CLUBS IN SOUTHLAND

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Women of the Southland are going back to their needles. Nobody seems to be able to offer a good reason, but each week the items on society pages of small-town newspapers about activities of sewing circles, crocheting and knitting parties, and quilting bees are showing a marked increase. In some cases, sewing news takes up more space than do bridge parties.

Bridge clubs are being converted into sewing clubs, and each week in many homes where card tables have been unfolded for the day quilting frames are being lowered from living room ceilings and the "bridge" clubs go to work. Next day, the members assemble in the home of another hostess.

Knitting, which was resurrected several years ago, isn't losing any popularity. Business men are showing to their office help scarves, saying proudly: "My wife did that. Good, isn't she?" And chances are that the wife had more fun making the articles than he does showing them off.

Baby in the park is knitted from head to toe in dressed garments that are warm and colorful—clothing that will be kept by many mothers as something by which to remember them long after they are married and knitting clothes for their own off-spring.

The quilting spring on throughout the southern states today differs little from that done by grandmothers. About the only innovation is the safety razor blade to cut thread. Grandma, you know, bit the thread in two.

Philadelphia. (AP)—Silent for 35 years, the chimes of the famed Rittenhouse clock—last and acknowledged greatest effort of David Rittenhouse, astronomer—now are heard daily at Drexel Institute of Technology.

The timepiece, an enigma of complex construction, was acquired by Drexel Tech in 1898, but its repair never was undertaken until this year when Stanley Woods, astronomical technician of the Franklin Institute, agreed to do the job.

Woods worked on the clock for nearly 10 months. Many parts had to be refashioned since they could not be bought. The timepiece, which stands more than 9 feet high, with a width of 2 feet and a depth of 15 inches, was built in 1773 by Rittenhouse for Josiah Potts, a wealthy Quaker.

San Francisco. (AP)—With the recent sale of the Star of Finland, to be used hereafter as a refrigerator and storage plant, there passed out from the Golden Gate the last of the famous fleet of square-rigged windjammers, which once proudly sailed the Pacific, and with it the last trace of a kingly dream for a mighty Pacific empire.

The Star of Finland, sister ship of a whole fleet of other Star ships, was built on the order of King Kalakua of Hawaii, and bore the name of Kalulani.

It was the dream of King Kalakua to combine the various South Sea island monarchies into one vast empire, of which he would be the head.

His plan embraced the building of a merchant marine that would send its ships into all parts of the world and which would be greater than any other fleet in the world.

But the grandiose scheme failed through lack of co-operation and vision on the part of the other South Sea kings and monarchs.

Then King Kalakua died.

Were Men
Fairbanks, Alaska. (AP)—How things have changed in Alaska is revealed by a recent wanted in the Fairbanks News-Miner, the continent's northernmost daily newspaper. The owner of Stampede Inn, at Platinum, Alaska, site of one of the world's newest mining bonanzas, bought space to announce that his inn is for sale and that it is "an ideal location for cocktail bar."

Sets Fire
Hanford, Cal. (AP)—Jackrabbits now are regarded in this country as a definite rural fire menace. Fire prevention officials came to the conclusion after investigating a $5,000 grain fire which spread with mysterious speed that the rabbits' tails caught fire and scattered the flames as the panic-stricken animals raced for safety.

Study French
Des Moines, Ia. (AP)—A French girl is coming to Des Moines in September to study—not English—but French. She is Martha Thomas of Bou-Haniffa-Thermes, Oran, Algeria. She plans to attend Drake University to do graduate work in French.

Found
Middleton, O. (AP)—The "old gray mare" really exists for Mrs. Martha Hess, who owns Babe, 30 years old. "She's been with us so long she's just like one of the family," Mrs. Hess said.

Protection Against Fraud in Products is Offered By Agriculture Department.

Salem. (AP)—Eternal vigilance is required of the state department of agriculture to protect the public from harmful and adulterated foods, short weights and dishonest or careless manufacturers.

The duties of the department include everything from formulating marketing agreements to chemical analysis of extracts placed on the market in Oregon. The inspectors of the department save the Oregon consumer many thousands of dollars each year by their ceaseless search. Recent examples of their activities follow:

Department chemists discovered that Oregon housewives were paying 25 cents a bottle for lemon extract that was merely colored water with a slight odor of lemon. They immediately stopped the manufacture of the extract, which was produced by an Oregon company, and warned retailers to be more careful of what they offered for sale.

No Reprocessing
The department also warned retailers and wholesalers that the Oregon law does not permit the sale of reprocessed or reconditioned dates, raisins, currants or other dried fruits. The state regulations class such treatment of these foods as adulteration and prohibit any method of reconditioning them for market.

The department's new weights and measures truck on its recent tour through southern and eastern Oregon discovered 31 heavy duty scales which were faulty. Some of the scales were off as much as 350 pounds on two tons, and most of the faulty weights were in favor of the operators of the scales.

Bees Checked
The revised figures of Oregon's dried prune production for the season just passed show that 22,407 tons were handled in the 451 driers found to be operating. The department's prune drier inspectors, on the job to see that all sanitary regulations were observed, reported this production to the department headquarters.

Switching to bees, the department reported that the American foul brood in Oregon bee colonies inspected in 1939 dropped to 3.8 per cent compared to 5.2 per cent for the previous year.
