Billy Hulen says:
I. Pickem Takes Final Fling At Grid Predicting

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—Mr. I. Pickem, with over a month to convalesce from casualties suffered during the grid season proper, makes his 1939 exit today by taking pot-shots at the five major "bowl" games and the East-West Shrine shindig, which has drawn him to this town.

Pickem's wounds are entirely healed, he is back on his feet again and feeling frisky, and he wouldn't be surprised to come up with perfect New Year's Day callings. The weather is lovely here, the sun is shining, and how is everything in Medford?

Because Pickem will be among those present when the East and West start snarling at each other in Kezar stadium Monday, he'll lead off his final 1939 prognostication-program as follows:

EAST-WEST: Medford's Bob Smith will be flinging his left arm all over the lot, so how can Pickem pick anything but the West? It would be plain treason to call the East, and anyway the dopest honesty believes the Babe-Hollingbery-Biff Jones clan will show those easterners a thing or two. With Smith cooperating with Kay Eakin of Arkansas and Zimmerman of San Jose State, the West giants will romp to a 13 to 7 victory over the club of Bernie Bierman and Andy Kerr.

TENNESSEE-U.S.C. Pickem figures it thisaway: The Trojans, in their last two ball games, looked anything but a great team. They were mighty lucky to beat Washington and the U.C.L.A. Tennessee, on the other hand, is at least as good a defensive team as Duke was last season, and the Vols have an offense to go with their impregnable line. It all boils down to the Pickem prediction that Tennessee will wallop the Joesmen by three touchdowns to naught.

TEXAS AGGIES-TULANE. This Sugar bowl classic might turn out to be the best of the day. Williamson rates the teams one-two, respectively, in the nation. The Aggies are unbeaten and untied, while Tulane has only a tie on its record. This really is a coin-flipping affair, as both clubs look equal in every respect, but Pickem'll string along with the Aggies about 20 to 14.

GEORGIA TECH-MISSOURI. Paul Christian will probably be in there firing the leather like a machine gun, but Georgia Tech should have a slight advantage because of being used to the southern weather. It's in the Orange bowl, in case you have forgotten. Anyway, it's Georgia Tech by a 12 to 6 tally.

CLEMSON-BOSTON COLLEGE. In this Cotton bowl fracas at Dallas, Texas, Jim Kimbrough will lead his Clemson aggregation to a 7 to 0 conquest of B. C. Like Missouri, Boston will be hampered by the sunshine, while Clemson will be right in its element.

ARIZONA STATE-CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY. Another eastern team will find the going too hot in this Sun bowl struggle, and Arizona State will upset a fine Catholic University eleven which has lost only one game this season. The score: Arizona State 20 Catholic 7.

HUSKIES DROP SECOND TO MINNESOTA CAGERS

Seattle, Dec. 29.—(P)—The University of Minnesota basketball team made it two in a row over the Washington Huskies last night, winning the second of a three game series 28-26. The final game will be played tonight.

After the score had been knotted three times and each team had forged ahead three times the visitors closed the first half with a 13-11 lead.

CALIFORNIANS TAKE EASTERN TWIN-BILL

Philadelphia, Dec. 29.—(P)—The southern division, Pacific Coast conference, chalked up two victories in a basketball doubleheader here last night.

In the first game Stanford university's quintet stamped Dartmouth by a score of 55-29.

In the final game California's Bears came from behind in the last half to defeat Columbia university 43-36.

BOB SMITH OUT OF WEST LINEUP WITH LEG HURT

Medford Star Suffers In-Depth Gash During Practice For Shrine Classic.

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—(P)—Bob Smith, left-handed passing star from the University of Oregon, will play no football for the Western All-Stars in the Shrine East-West charity game here New Year's Day.

Smith, voted Oregon's most valuable player at the conclusion of the season, suffered a shin gash during scrimmage yesterday, and Dr. E. F. Roth took several stitches in the inch-deep wound.

It was the second major injury suffered by the West Saturday Clyde "Bulldog" Turner, Hardin-Simmons center, reinforced his thigh and has been limping ever since. Johnny Schiechl, Santa Clara, likely will be called on for a 60-minute job at the pivot spot.

Passes Mark Drill The West scrimmage was a game between the "red" and "blue" teams, in which passes from Fullback Leroy Zimmerman of San Jose to John Shrink of Oklahoma produced two touchdowns for the "blues." Kay Eakin, Arkansas halfback, heaved a long one to End Frank Ivy of Oklahoma for a "red" score.

Eastern coaches emerged from a long afternoon of passing scrimmage with plenty of praise for a 150-pound, 5 foot 8 inch halfback from Holy Cross, named Ronny Cahill. Coach Ray Flaherty of the professional Washington Redskins saw the exhibition and spotted Cahill as the "best passer on the field."
