Wall St. Report

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Sellers sniped at the stock market today and scored more than enough hits to offset quiet strength in an assortment of preferred and specialty issues.

The list held to narrow price changes either way until late afternoon when steels and air crafts were subjected to a mild barrage of offerings. Losses of fractions to a point or so were well distributed at the close.

Transfers approximated 800,000 shares for the full session. Today's closing prices for 32 selected stocks follow:

however, was broken. The boy stepped into the path of the car from the front of a parked auto, the report showed.

According to a report on file today, Val J. Fischer, 46, of 53 Summit avenue, operated a car that struck Steve Pelaki, 40, a watchman at the Medford Fuel company yard, as he was attempting to cross the street at Main and Front streets Wednesday night. The report said Pelaki stepped back to let the car pass and then walked into the side of it. Fischer took him to the police station and then to his home, the report stated. Police said he was not hurt.

Collide on Sixth Mrs. Terisa Weiss of Central Point and J. J. Murphy were drivers of cars that collided this morning in the Sixth street and Central avenue intersection. Mrs. Weiss said she did not see the other car. Murphy's address was not given.

Cars operated by Vernon M. Evans, 25, of the Eads Transfer company, and C. G. Congle of Grants Pass collided on the Pacific highway at Beall Lane Wednesday night. Evans reported that he slowed down to let oncoming cars pass him before making a left turn off the highway into the lane and was struck from the rear by the Congle auto. A couple of passengers were shaken up by the impact, police said.

A dozen accidents occurred in the Medford area during the Christmas holidays and though none was serious there were lucky escapes in two of them. Police patrols were increased during the New Year's holidays and the number of accidents diminished substantially, though two were serious and one ended fatally.

Richard L. Shelton, 23, Camp South Fork CCC enrollee from Aberdeen, Ohio, died Tuesday night as a result of injuries suffered last Sunday in a collision of two CCC trucks on the Butte Falls road. Five other CCC men were hurt, none seriously.

A CCC investigating board was to file a report on the accident and death tomorrow. CCC headquarters stated today that the investigation thus far indicated both truck drivers were at fault for being over the center line of the highway. It was indicated at first that a coroner's hearing or inquest would be held but the district attorney's office decided there was no need of one.

TRIO SENTENCED ON BAD CHECKS

Wearinger Epperson, 19, Paul Swearing, 31, and T. J. Morris, 29, who pleaded guilty to passing spurious checks in this city, were each sentenced today to serve three years in the state penitentiary, by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton. The trio were accused of passing in the neighborhood of $200 in bogus checks here several weeks ago on local stores including J. C. Penney company and the Lewis super service station. They also passed spurious paper in the Talent district and at Bend and Burns. They were arrested at Gooding, Idaho, and returned here a week ago.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Victor Hugo Johnson, former superintendent-at-large of Oregon and Idaho Indian schools, was returned here today for trial on false charges of presenting eight vouchers and forging government checks.
