They've been places and done things

JOE DI MAGGIO is a big shot in New York. But if someone there asks him about San Francisco, his home town, he knows all about it. It is the same way with many of our top flight executives . . . and with hundreds of their former home towns.

These men who now sit at desks in the home office did not always sit there. Most of them started in a smaller post and a smaller town—going from town to town as they advanced along the upward road. This is particularly true of executives who have come up through our sales department.

Most of them have worked in places which are just a dot on the map. They know the people there by the most intimate of methods—having been one of them. They know the problems of the people and of the communities.

The result is that when problems of policy come up affecting almost any community you can name, some executive knows intimately how it will affect his old friends Sam and Henry and Jack, who live there. It makes for sympathetic understanding, which, we hope, has always been and will ever be, a mark of this Company's relations with every community where it does business.

BOUNTY PAYMENT SEASON EXTENDED

The county court has extended the period for bounty payments on predatory animals until March 15. It was pointed out that this is the best time of the year for capturing varmints, and the bounty provides a source of income for rural residents when employment is slack. The original order provided for bounty payments during October, November and December.

After March 15 the extermination will probably be taken over by the government hunters.

Vernon Hopkins of the Dead Indian district collected this morning on 16 coyotes and 12 bobcats. Hopkins, one of the best hunters in southern Oregon, has probably killed more coyotes and bobcats than any other resident.

LARGE GAINS MADE IN AIR BUSINESS HERE DURING 1939

United Shows Increases in Passenger Traffic. Airmail Volume, Revenues

Tremendous gains in passenger and airmail business here were made by United Air Lines in 1939 as compared with 1938, it was revealed by figures released today by Max C. Henne, Medford manager.

In 1939, 1395 passengers got on and 1299 got off United Mainliners here, a total of 2694. In the previous year 755 passengers got on and 675 got off, a total of 1430. In December 83 passengers got on and 67 off, a total of 150, as compared with 19 on and 15 off, a total of 34, in the same month of 1938.

Airmail figures showed that Medford dispatched 23,311 pounds of correspondence—equivalent to approximately 932,440 letters—in 1939 as compared with 17,892 in 1938.

Revenue Doubles

The local passenger business gain in 1939 as compared with that of 1938 was 88 per cent and the airmail increase was 30 per cent. The company registered a gain in revenue here of 110 per cent, Henne stated.

Reports from other cities on the company's network indicate that the Medford percentage gains are substantially ahead of those for most other points, though large increases were registered for the airline as a whole, Henne related.

Generally improved business conditions, more service than Medford ever before has enjoyed, travel to and from the world's fairs and the normal growth of airline travel all were factors contributing to the best showing which United Air Lines has made in its more than 13 years of serving this city, Henne said. He pointed out that service improvements included three daily round trips with 21-passenger Mainliners which provided Medford with increased accommodations to care for mount-troffing. The schedules are being continued through the winter months as airline business continues at a brisk pace, Henne emphasized.

New officers of the Medford 20-30 club were installed at a dinner-dance held in Chalker's Motel Saturday evening. ENRIGHT'S TRIAL EXPECTED JAN. 22 IN CIRCUIT COURT

Attorney T. J. Enright, and his brother John Enright, indicted by the last grand jury on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, will probably go on trial in circuit court the week of January 22. It is understood Enright will act as his own counsel, and for his brother.

The Enrights are charged with inducing an Eagle Point district disabled war veteran to write checks, without funds in the bank upon which the checks were drawn. The defendants claim the checks were for legal services. The war veteran denies he received legal aid.

Ted Smith of Butte Falls, charged with alleged forgery, is scheduled to go on trial during the same period. Smith allegedly signed the name of his wife's father to checks.

The petit jury will be called for service in the criminal cases, also for the damage suit of the Soda Springs school district against Jack Connor and Leo Connor, as the result of an auto accident, over a year ago, between a vehicle driven by the Connors and the school bus.

February term of the circuit court is scheduled to start February 26 when a new grand jury and a new petit jury will be drawn from the 1940 general jury list now in course of compilation by the county court.
