NO BREAK SEEN IN GREYHOUND STRIKE

Strike of Pacific Greyhound bus drivers belonging to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen went quietly into its fifth day here today. Busses continued to operate almost normally. The Brotherhood drivers assert the strike is to obtain recognition of the brotherhood as bargaining agent in accordance with a ruling of the national labor relations board. The company contends the board's ruling is before a federal court and that it is under contract to a union of drivers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The strike, the company argues, is a jurisdictional dispute. The strikers deny this.

Portland, Ore., May 21—(AP)—Pickets patrolled the Portland stage terminal yesterday for the first time since the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen drivers struck against the Pacific Greyhound lines, but buses rolled in and out, fully manned and unmoled.

Unionists said three brotherhood members here and 16 throughout Oregon were on strike.

SECOND SPRAY IS URGED FOR MOTHS

Second cover spray for control of first brood codling moth on all varieties of apples and pears should be completed on May 30, according to C. B. Cordy, assistant county agent and L. G. Gentner entomologist, southern Oregon experiment station. The officials recommend use of three pounds of arsenate of lead plus three quarts of medium or light medium summer oil emulsion per hundred gallons. On apples light oil should be used with the lead arsenate. Due to extremely heavy and continued flight of moths, oil in this spray will be very valuable from the standpoint of killing the eggs.

RED CROSS DRIVE FOR WAR RELIEF GETS UNDER WAY

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—A terse Red Cross cablegram to Washington today says French food resources will be "immediately exhausted" because of the inroads made on supplies by 5,000,000 French and Belgian refugees.

An executive committee of five members was formed today to serve with Ben E. Harder in conducting Jackson county American Red Cross chapter's campaign for $2400 to alleviate suffering in the war-torn countries of Europe.

The executive committee met with the Hotel at luncheon in the Medford this afternoon and the broad plan of the campaign was outlined. Each of Medford's five men's service clubs appointed a member to the executive committee.

At the luncheon each was assigned groups of businesses to be contacted in the campaign. Committee members and their assignments: Russell Davis of the Kiwanis club, industrial plants, lumber mills and box factories. Allen Perry of the Rotary club, all retail business in Medford.

O. M. Kesler of the Lions club, professional field, including doctors, lawyers and dentists. Gene Monaco of the 20-30 club, public employes as well as the courthouse, postoffice, city hall, forestry headquarters.

Bert Loury, Jr., of the Active club, fruit industry, packing houses and wholesalers. In each place of business employes as well as employers and executives will be solicited for contributions, Mr. Harder explained, the aim being to make fulfillment of the quota representative of all the people.

Each executive committee member is to be chairman of a sub-committee of his own selection to canvass all the business and professional places designated. It was expected that some of the fields before the end of the day, the rest of them by tomorrow.

Rialto Drama

Based on the widely read Saturday Evening Post story by Alice Duer Miller, "And One Was Beautiful," brings to the screen a dramatic society melodrama in the love of two sisters for the love of a man they both desire. One hides her own crime in his imprisonment; the other, faithful, seeks to clear him even though it means that her sister must pay the law's penalty. Robert Cummings, Laraine Day, Jean Muir and Billie Burke have roles in the film which comes to the New Rialto theatre for tomorrow and Thursday as the added feature with "One Their Own," starring the Jones Family.
