

NO ADDITIONS TO AGE ASSISTANCE ROLLS THIS YEAR

Liquor Revenues May Help To Wipe Out Part of $1,300,000 Deficit, is Hope.

Portland, May 22.—(AP)—Old-age assistance rolls, closed November when a $1,300,000 deficit was faced, probably will not be reopened this year, the state public welfare commission indicated today.

Applicants for old-age assistance will continue to be cared for by general assistance grants, Chairman J. H. Luhn said. Luhn added that Oregon liquor control commission revenues will be higher than estimated, with the possibility that the anticipated $1,300,000 deficit will be considerably reduced.

A sub-committee will meet in June with the county judges association which asked that new old-age assistance applicants be accepted.

Must Stay in Bounds
"The revenue deficit faced by the state has made it necessary for the welfare commission to stay within funds allocated by the legislature, as well as within funds available, without disturbing the 21,000 persons over 65 who were then on the rolls," Luhn said in a statement endorsed by commission resolution.

The commission refused to sign an agreement with the federal surplus commodities corporation for distribution of commodities, but authorized Administrator Elmer Goudy to confer with Richard R. Brown, FSCC representative, in Chicago this week.

The FSCC informed the commission by telegram that unless the contract was signed or some action taken, the shipment and allocation of commodities to Oregon would stop.

Supply On Hand
Luhn explained that there is "quite a substantial supply" on hand and that a halt in shipment would not result in any hardships.

Goudy explained that the contract offered by the FSCC conflicted in many ways with state law.

The following was allocated from state funds for public assistance programs for the quarter ending September 30: Old-age assistance $445,152, blind assistance $14,131, aid to dependent children $115,150.

The June general assistance budget for counties totaled $300,416 and the commission approved the payment of $178,206 as its share. The counties' share amounts to $124,208.

YOUNG PRESBYTERIANS FIR POINT CONFERENCE SET TO OPEN JUNE 24

Presbyterian youth of the senior and young people's grade

THANKS!

I wish to thank each and every one who so graciously gave their support toward my nomination for coroner. Would that I might see and thank each of you personally. But I just wish to assure you all that if elected, every citizen of the county shall receive all the courtesies that I can bestow.

H. W. CONGER

will meet June 24 to July 1 at Fir Point, near Glendale, Oregon. The conference is under auspices of the Presbytery of S.S. Oregon and the Board of Christian Education.

Rev. M. H. Roach, Th. D. and Rev. Lawrence Mitchemore will be conference directors. Mrs. Herman S. Reichard of Grants Pass, will be registrar and Mrs. Reed Willer, dean of girls. Among those on the faculty will be Rev. Elmer E. Rosenkilde, Rev. and Mrs. Merle F. Ramage, Rev. and Mrs. J. Theodore Burns, Reedsport; Rev. A. Theodore Smith, Klamath Falls; Miss Helen F. Whitaker, North Bend; Mrs. E. F. McFarland, Cottage Grove; Rev. Paul A. Tidball, Glendale; Rev.

Jas. H. Edgar, Ashland; Rev. H. S. Reichard, Grants Pass, and Rev. James Thomson, Seaside. Courses will be taught on the life of Christ, developing Christian personality, frontier friends, getting better acquainted with the Old Testament, Alaska, a frontier today, planning a young people's society program, how the Bible came to be, drama and pageantry in the church. Fine recreational facilities exist for swimming, tennis, and baseball. Special interest groups are conducted on nature study, photography, game making, orchestra leadership and other topics. Vesper service on the hillside, and the evening assembly and the camp fire, climax days of great enjoyment. Rev. John K. Howard, Glendale is business manager and treasurer, and Rev. John W. Hoyt, Medford, is chairman of Presbytery's committee of arrangements. Use Mail Tribune want ads.

Gets "Bookmobile"
Great Falls, Mont. (AP)—A "bookmobile," in reality a 2,000-volume library on wheels, has made its advent in the Great Falls area to provide reading for rural communities where such facilities are inadequate. The bookmobile first of its kind in the state, was provided by the WPA.

Truly Flows
Capetown (AP)—Free drinks of old sherry were enjoyed by scores when a vat containing 10,000 gallons, worth more than $4,000 burst at a Capetown wine shop. The golden flood poured out of the front door, and nothing the staff could do availed to stop it till the vat was dry.
