Orval Millard Succeeds Otto Frohnmayer As Head of Southern Oregon Group

Orval Millard of Grants Pass was elected president of the Southern Oregon Bar association at its dinner meeting held last evening in Hotel Holland.

Other officers elected were Harry C. Skyrman, vice-president; Sam Bowe, Grants Pass, secretary-treasurer; Frank Van Dyke, Ashland, and Charles Reames, Medford, executive committee.

Main speaker of the evening was James C. Dezenford, Portland attorney who discussed at length the proposed rules of civil procedure for adoption in state courts. Others speaking briefly during the evening were Harvey DeArmond, Bend, president of the Oregon State Bar association and George M. Roberts, Medford attorney. They spoke regarding accomplishments of the association.

Edwin P. Griffiths, associated with the California Oregon Power company in this city, was elected to membership in the Southern Oregon Bar association during the meeting.

It was announced that the state bar convention will be held in Corvallis next October. Thirty members were present and Otto J. Frohnmayer, retiring president, presided.

HARD APPLGATE RAIN MARKS FIRST STORM; NO BLAZES REPORTED

A heavy downpour at the Star ranger station in the Applegate district punctuated southern Oregon's first thunder storm of the year late yesterday afternoon. In the ranger station area, 1.25 inches of rain fell in 45 minutes, to the accompaniment of a stiff wind, Rauger Lee Port reported.

There were several lightning strikes in the Butte Falls district of the Rogue River national forest but up to this afternoon no fires had shown up and it was assumed that rain had prevented or extinguished any blazes that might have started. State forest patrol said no strikes had been reported in its protective area.

The rain was general and varied in quantity. The U. S. weather bureau here measured only .03 of an inch.

Because of the lightning danger, a lookout was posted today at Rustler Peak in the Butte Falls district of the Rogue forest.

Mrs. Waterman was born in Wolcott, Vt., September 4, 1869.

Priscilla Lane Sets Record For Wedding, Divorce

Hollywood, Calif., May 29.—(AP)—Priscilla Lane, screen actress, was revealed by her mother today to have married Orin W. Haglund, assistant film director, at Yuma, Ariz., January 23, 1939, left him the following day and obtained a divorce on grounds of non-support last May 3.

Mrs. Cora B. Mullican, the actress' mother, said that her youngest daughter was married under a fictitious name but that in getting her divorce she used her true name of Priscilla Haglund. "They're young and they made a mistake," Mrs. Mullican said.

She and her husband, T. H. Waterman, lived in Johnson, Vt., for many years before coming to Medford. She was a member of the Congregational church there, and had attended the Presbyterian church here.

She leaves two sisters in Massachusetts, and a host of friends in Medford. Mr. Waterman passed away here March 28, 1939.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Perl Funeral Home, Friday at 2 p. m., Rev. S. L. Divine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Commitment services will follow at Grants Pass, Ore.

TOWNSEND LOSES HOLD IN FLORIDA

Miami, Fla., May 29.—(AP)—It appears that the political prestige in Florida of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the old age pension advocate, has been broken.

U. S. Senator Charles Andrews defeated an attempt by the pension leader to purge him by winning the democratic renomination by landslide proportions.

Returns from yesterday's runoff primary show that Andrews holds almost a 135,000-vote edge over his nearest opponent.

In fact, it was a double setback for Townsend, as Spessard Holland, campaigning for the democratic nomination as governor, won over the Townsend candidate by a large majority.

LINDBERGH HOME GIVEN TO STATE

U. S. CONSIDERING FURNISHING HAVEN FOR WAR REFUGEES

British and Other Governments Urging Opening of Doors to Many as Possible

London, May 29.—(AP)—An appeal to the United States to take as many war refugees as possible is under consideration. R. A. Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons today.

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Secretary Hull said today active consideration was being given to the possibility of receiving Belgian refugees in the United States.

The state department chief said conversations had been held with representatives of the British and other governments about many phases of the refugee problem as well as with private individuals and groups.

Hull said also there had been no developments concerning diplomatic relations with the Belgian government now in refuge in Paris. The statement was taken to indicate continuance of United States recognition of the present Belgian government.

On the question of refugees, Hull said the matter of whether it would be feasible to receive war refugees here had been discussed, but thus far there had been no developments.

Coast

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—The Coast mundi, a predatory little animal that scientists have known was spreading out from its Mexican habitat, has now been definitely identified in California. The state division of fish and game described the newcomer as about the size of a raccoon and living on either fruit or flesh.

Biggest bronzes

Boulder City, Nev. (AP)—Two 30-foot bronze figures ornamenting Boulder dam are considered the largest single bronzes ever cast, though the ancient Chinese made larger figures by piecing them together. The winged figures were created by the Norwegian-born sculptor, Oskar J. W. Hansen.

Bugs Dine

Nevada City, Calif. (AP)—When Henry Lewis, war veteran, went to look for $700 in bonus bonds he had packed away, he found that termites had destroyed them. Brushing up what fragments of paper remained, he mailed them to Washington. Officials were able to identify the bonds, and sent Lewis their full face value plus interest.

To Honor Post

Oroville, Cal. (AP)—This city is determined to free itself from memories of the horse and buggy days. The five remaining granite hitching posts will be used to form a protective fence around the Mother Orange tree—the first orange tree planted in California and the mother of California's present orange industry.

ALLIES RETIRING TOWARD CHANNEL SEEKING ESCAPE

at any moment over the port, main supply base of the northern allied armies pocketed in Flanders.

The French admitted that the situation in the north was "extremely critical" as a result of the capture of the Belgian Army, but said the allies still were holding a 30-mile stretch of coast extending northward from Dunkerque.

French Mass For Drive

Unofficial reports that the French were massing their armies of the center for a drive to relieve the pressure in Flanders were given color by a Paris communique announcing new successes along the Somme and Aisne rivers.

The last German forces on the south side of the Somme were reported driven back across the river and the French said the situation there was "highly favorable."

The French declared the Germans were suffering heavy casualties in their attempts to clean out the Flanders pocket, and the Nazis admitted their losses were large, but held they were not disproportionate to their gains.

Germany bombed the pocketed allied forces mercilessly in an attempt to "soften up" resistance, and the allies retaliated by strafing Nazi ground troops and bombing fuel reserves at Bremen and Hamburg.

Two Allied Efforts

The allied armies of the center apparently were concentrating their efforts in two separate sectors.

One allied push was reported in the area of the Somme river. Another attack was poised further east, along the Aisne river, where 30 divisions, or between 450,000 and 600,000 men, were massed.

The Germans pounded on with all their might of air power, tanks and artillery on the allied divisions crushed into a triangle around Lille about 25 miles wide and 55 miles long.

Nazis described this area as being based on the channel coast, about 30 miles wide but tapered sharply to about 25 miles and reaching a point at St. Armand, about 20 miles southeast of Lille.

COUNTY JUDGESHIP CHANGE IS SLATED ON FIRST OF JUNE

rumored, for several days that he contemplated it.

Judge Day was appointed county judge in June, 1934, by then Governor Julius L. Meier, to fill the vacancy caused by the conviction of Earl H. Fehl for ballot theft conspiracy. At that time, Judge Day was a representative in the legislature from this county, where he served with distinction, during one session.

When Judge Day assumed office, Jackson county was writing the final chapters in its history, due to the Banks-Fehl turmoil. He helped steer the county into calm waters, and at the close of the appointive period, was elected to a six year term by the people, which would end next January.

Efficient in Office

During the Day administration, the ten road oiling program was inaugurated, county finances placed upon its present healthy basis, and ruled with sincerity and efficiency. He was founder, executive secretary, and president of the League of Oregon county officers. Judge Day was not a candidate for re-election. He has been a resident of this county for 25 years, engaging in the farm and stock business. Before coming here he followed the banking business in Nebraska, Washington, and at Lebanon, Ore.

Assessor Coleman, appointed county judge, is a native son of Jackson county, widely known, and county assessor for nearly 25 years. He is regarded as one of the best posted men in the state on tax matters.

"My term of office expires at the end of the current year, and I was not a candidate for re-election. I believe my work in preparing essential information for the Oregon counties on the federal contribution question is of far more importance than continuing my work as county judge for the balance of the year. I, therefore, tender you my resignation as county judge of Jackson County, to take effect at your pleasure, but I hope that the effective date will not be later than the first of June.

Sincerely yours,
"EARL B. DAY,
County Judge,
"May 28, 1940."

Comes as Surprise
