Dead End Kid

Billy Halop, one of the famous "Dead End Kids" has a leading role with Humphrey Bogart in Warden Lewis E. Lawes' thrilling story of Sing Sing, "You Can't Get Away With Murder," which heads the double bill opening for today and tomorrow at the Roxy theater.

Harry Carey, once the screen's most popular Western player, returns in a role made to order—that of the fighting sheriff in "The Law West of Tombstone," which plays as the companion action feature with the Lawes film.

FIRE GUARDS GET INTENSIVE DRILL

A three-day training camp for fire guards who will man lookout stations in the Rogue River National Forest this summer was underway at Camp Carberry in the Applegate section, today.

Approximately 60 persons will be given intensive training in fire detection and use of fire mapping methods, under direction of M. L. Tedrow. Assisting him is George Griffith from the division of education in the Portland regional office.

Forestry headquarters here reported that a few of the more important look-out stations were being manned now. Full time crews, however, will be dispatched to the stations upon completion of the training camp. The official fire season opened a short time ago and regulations covering camp fires and other phases will be effective until late September.

Wallace Beery Star, "20 Mule Team"

Wallace Beery has what is being hailed as his greatest since the memorable "Viva Villa" in the roaring saga of Death Valley, "20 Mule Team," which comes to the Craterian theater Sunday for a three-day showing. Beery is shown as a veteran muleskinner of the desert trail, and includes among his many adventures typical western gunfights and desert battles.

"Lillian Russell" Now At Craterian

The opening of the spectacular musical hit, "Lillian Russell" at the Craterian theater today, brings to Medford the picture that is admittedly the first real successor to "Alexander's Ragtime Band," boasting a score of old-time favorites in its musical theme, telling the story of one of the most fabulous era this country has ever known.

Also on the program is a new Walt Disney cartoon in technicolor, Donald Duck in "The Riveter."

And, as a special added attraction for tonight only, the Craterian is presenting Ruth Luy's final dance revue of the season on the stage at 9:15 p. m. With her entire group of youngsters, ranging in age from four to sixteen, in more than fifteen different routines, this "grand finale" of Miss Luy's spring season should prove to be interesting stage entertainment to everyone.

"C" Man

Thundering hoofs and the staccato bark of six guns herald the thrilling approach of Charles Starrett's newest romantic drama of the Old West, "Bullets for Rustlers," which stars the popular Western player as a "C" man, a detective employed by the Cattlemen's Association to keep down rustling. The film opens a three-day run tomorrow at the New Rialto theater as the companion action feature with "Gaucho Serenade," starring Gene Autry. Lorna Day and the Sons of the Pioneers play opposite Starrett.
