Excepting Hermits

HERMITS are people who think two's a crowd. They live in caves or huts, wear long gray beards and eat everything from berries to nuts. They don't, as a rule, buy anything.

Self-respecting hermits spend most of their time meditating, contemplating and talking to themselves. Their minds are hermit-ically sealed to anything going on in the world. In fact, what really puts hermits in a class by themselves is that they don't care a hang about the news.

But for everyone excepting hermits, news is a vital necessity of everyday life. Since the day Eve told Adam about the apple, news has been the leading topic of conversation all day long.

And today the craving for the news is stronger than ever before... because never before has the individual's welfare and happiness been so intimately affected by events at home and abroad.

That's why your daily newspapers draw a larger and more intensely interested audience... day after day... than any other medium. And that, in turn, is the fundamental reason why your advertising in newspapers inevitably hits harder, works faster and brings more immediate results.
