LETTER FROM CHINA TELLS SLAUGHTER OF NIPPONS BY CHINESE

Eugene, Ore., June 17.—(Sp.) A gory battlefield, strewn with decomposed bodies and skeletons of Japanese troops, slaughtered by vengeful Chinese, has been described in a letter received here from the war fields of the Orient.

"About 10 miles out of Shanghai we drove over a road where the Chinks had ambushed about 4,000 Japs with no warning or mercy." It read "The Chinese went to work on them while the Japs were asleep when the Chinks swooped down and killed most of them. About 1,000 got away and the rest still lay on the field in advanced stages of decomposition.

"Dogs and crows feasted on the dead, eating their fill and lying asleep 'til they could eat some more. In the ditches on each side of the road were skeletons with the clothes and flesh all gone up to the neck, and from there on the crows and dogs would not eat. This could be seen on all sides for about a mile. We soon got sick and went back to Shanghai."

The graphic first-hand account was written to Mrs. Pearl Williams by her son, Edward, serving on a freighter in far eastern waters.

GATE OPENED FOR PLANE DELIVERIES

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—The United States acted today to facilitate the delivery of war planes to the allies by authorizing the ships to be flown across American borders.

Formerly, planes bought in this country by the allies had to land at the Canadian border, and be towed across.

A new interpretation of the neutrality act, drafted by the treasury and endorsed by the state department, said that the border stops are no longer necessary.

SATKOS SAFE IN KETCHIKAN PORT

Ketchikan, Alaska, June 17.—(AP)—The argosy of the nine Satkos was successfully ended today, at least for a time, as their rude, home-made cruiser, the Ark of Juneau, rode in the waters of Ketchikan's harbor.

Satko, the jobless Virginia welder whose ideas on boat construction horrified Puget Sound waterfront experts and a Seattle juvenile court, sailed the 40-foot craft triumphantly into Alaska waters yesterday at 11 a. m. (PST) completing the trip from Tacoma, Wash., which the experts had predicted would end in disaster.

A welcoming committee headed by Ketchikan's mayor hurried to the waterfront to greet the family and to praise Satko as a man whom Alaskans could admire far more "than one who sits around and waits for something to turn up" in the words of the mayor.
