So, if you've a couple of weeks-ends up your sleeve, or a date with a trout, then do what I did and have the car Stop-Wear-Ed! It makes a whole of a difference when you're way up in the mountains to know that it's in top condition.

Tracy does a few brief scenes as Edison as we remember him—at eighty-two—but the body of the story is of a young man's career. Supporting Tracy is a cast of fine performers, with outstanding portrayals turned in by Rita Johnson, who certainly will go places after this one, Lynne Overman, Charles Coburn and Gene Lockhart.
