

OREGON'S McNARY SUPERBLY FITTED SAYS NOMINATOR

Ekwall Eloquent in Offering Name of Senator at Republican Convention

Convention Hall, Philadelphia, June 27.—(P)—Oregon offered Senator Charles L. McNary, the son of pioneers, to the Republican national convention today as a candidate for United States president.

The veteran state minority leader, whose Republican vote in the Oregon primary election exceeded the combined Democratic total for President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner, was nominated by William A. Ekwall of Portland, former congressman and one-time circuit judge in Multnomah county.

"If you want a man who can unquestionably win in November and who, measured from every conceivable standpoint, has the stature, the bearing and the ability to become a great president of this nation during probably the most trying time in our history, then the state of Oregon offers you her most distinguished native son," said Ekwall.

Long Career Cited
Ekwall, recounting the senator's long career in Oregon and national politics and his life-long attachment to the soil, asserted McNary was "superbly fitted" for the presidency by experience, leadership, health, background, judgment and understanding.

"Senator McNary has been the leader of the Republican minority and has been recognized as shrewd, resourceful and a splendid strategist," the judge said. "He has consistently championed the cause of the under-privileged; sometimes his actions have not been popular with the so-called 'old guard' which once sought to dominate the Republican party but even though they sometimes disagreed with him they always respected him for his sincerity and forthright opinions."

The former congressman, member of Oregon's 10-man delegation, dipped into McNary's senate record on wide phases of national affairs:

Friend of Labor

Labor: "Senator McNary has been a friend of labor before and during his tenure in the senate and as a consequence he has their respect and affection . . . He has not advocated unreasonable labor legislation but has recognized the fact that when the laboring man and woman are properly protected it invariably inures to the benefit of the country as a whole."

Farm: "He is the pioneer of farm legislation in the senate. There probably is not a farmer in the United States who does not know of Senator McNary's efforts to aid them with the McNary-Haugen bill which he succeeded in having passed by congress on two occasions but unfortunately on each occasion the bill was vetoed. . . . No other man can be selected by this convention who can attract the votes of the farming districts as can Senator McNary."

Politics: "It is generally conceded that his wise counsel had much to do with the defeat of the so-called supreme court bill several years ago. He knew that by reason of the small number of Republicans in the United States senate, if the fight on this nefarious bill were made a partisan issue, it would certainly pass, and it was his plan that the Republicans hold their fire and allow the Democratic members who were opposed to the bill to make the fight."

Business: "He believes that legitimate business should not be harassed and bedeviled by unreasonable legislation. Senator McNary has fought bitterly against the growing accumulation of concentrated power in the executive branch and he believes business should not be bound by unjust and unfair legislative shackles."

Defense: "He believes we should adequately and quickly prepare to defend ourselves against aggression from every direction, but that under no circumstances should the youth of our country ever again be sent to battle and to die on foreign soil."

IT'S OUR FAMILY'S WHISKEY, NEIGHBOR PA WILKEN'S PERSONAL RECIPE

Here Us Wilkens are Calling on the Statue of Liberty

My brother Bill, on the left there, remarked to my brother-in-law Tom standing next to him that the Statue in New York harbor has been holding the torch of Liberty for 54 years, just as long as us Wilkens have been distilling fine whiskey. William Wilken, in the dark clothes, our chief of coopers, got a smile out of that one.

The "NUTTY FLAVOR" of Our Family's Whiskey Sure Goes Big With All You Folks!

It seems like everywhere we go folks are taking mighty kindly to the good old-fashioned "nutty flavor" of Our Wilken Family Whiskey. Well, we want to tell you that tastiness is no accident. Our family's had 54 years of distilling experience—and on top of that we make our whiskey right straight from Pa Wilken's Personal Recipe. No wonder everybody's so delighted with its goodness and mild "nutty flavor," as well as its neighborly price.
