BRITAIN WOULD KEEP MAIN PART PRESENT EMPIRE

Two ballots were scheduled before nightfall. Then if no nomination were made, the convention would recess until tonight. Between times, the leaders could survey the situation. Word had come from the various candidates that they had gained the impression Hoover would be willing to let his name stay in the race for the nomination if early ballot strength developed for him.

Only that balloting can determine the strength of the former president, whose name was not formally placed before the convention, and disclose how far Wendell Willkie has pierced the delegate defenses of Senator

Italy Wants Part
 Meanwhile, as more English spokesmen hinted at plans for a British offensive against the axis powers, authoritative sources in Rome said Italian troops, planes and warships may take part in the projected German attack on the British Isles, emulating the exploit of Caesar's Roman Legions nearly 2,000 years ago.

Authoritative reports said Germany and Italy consented to the Soviet demand on Rumania in a "deal" to pay for Russia's pressure to keep Turkey from joining the allies and for Soviet economic aid to the axis powers.

Russian planes bombed villages in Rumania's eastern province of Bessarabia, dispatches said, and one Soviet plane was shot down.

British Bomb Ruhr
 In the main European struggle, British bombers inflicted "very heavy attacks" on Germany's rich industrial region of the Ruhr, London reported. Indications mounted that at least some of France's war fleet, flouting armistice provisions for surrender—had cast its lot with Great Britain and pledged a fight to the finish from North African bases.

Spanish sources and British reports from Gibraltar said French west Mediterranean naval squadrons had sped past Gibraltar to Casablanca, strategic Atlantic port of French Morocco.

French warships in the eastern Mediterranean last were reported remaining with the British fleet at Alexandria.

One Berlin radio commentator, meanwhile, said the British government was trying to contact the axis powers, presumably for peace negotiations, but London officials said the report was "positively rubbish."

For the sixth time in nine days, wide-ranging German bombers swept over England from the southeast coast to northern Scotland. The air ministry said two of the raiders were shot down, and that no serious damage and "only slight" casualties were caused.

SEN. TAFT SECOND, WILLKIE IS THIRD IN OPENING TEST

nomination today in the Republican national convention. The noisy convention atmosphere was quieted somewhat by tenseness as balloting time arrived. All the oratory had been cleared away when delegates streamed onto the floor for the afternoon session.

Last minute reports of shifts of strength flew thick and fast among the delegates. There was word that Herbert Hoover would run if the party wanted him, coupled with the actual opening of a "draft Hoover" headquarters in a downtown hotel.

McNary Denies
 There also was an excited rumor that Senator Charles L. McNary, Oregon's favorite son, had agreed to throw his support to Taft, but in a telephone call from Washington, McNary said: "I told my friends to support any candidate they choose. I am keeping out of the nomination fight."

Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Ten Offered
 Hoover himself, busy with fresh conferences at his hotel, did not amplify his previous statement that he was not "seeking" public office again. But some party leaders gained the impression that he not only wanted to stop Willkie, but also would accept the nomination himself if the opportunity arose.

The names of ten candidates had been put into the convention nominating pot.

The first few ballots were expected to tell whether other candidates, with the apparent support of Hoover, had been able to nail down their delegations tightly enough to withstand the push of the hard-hitting Willkie.
