FIREWORKS STAND HAS CLOSE CALL IN STUBBLE FIRE

A fireworks stand just south of the city limits came very close to going up in one big boom yesterday afternoon when a firecracker thrown out into the highway was blown back in a field and set fire to stubble. City firemen got the blaze out just before the flames reached the stand.

The incident brought a reminder from Police Chief Clatus McCredie today that it is a violation of a city ordinance to sell, possess or set off firecrackers or fireworks of any kind or description within the city limits. This ordinance will be enforced as effectively as possible, the chief said. He emphasized that it is no more lawful to set off firecrackers or fireworks in one's private yard than in the public highway. The ordinance applies to all parts of the city, including private property, he asserted.

The fireworks stand was operated by Frank Dickson, fireman reported. The stand was outside the city and therefore not in violation of the city ordinance, it was pointed out. The stand was on the South Pacific highway in the Earhart field.

Edward Canoose, assistant fire chief, quoted Dickson as saying he lighted a firecracker and threw it out into the street. A puff of wind whipped the firecracker back into the field near the stand. It quickly set fire to the dry stubble. The fire department's chemical crew answered the alarm at 2:48 p. m.

At 4:23 p. m. the chemical crew was called to the Lewis Super Service station at Front and Eighth street to extinguish a burning gasoline but the garage workers had the fire out with chemicals before the firemen
