

Mother Bear Chases Loggers When Cubs Thought Periled

Frank R. Neil, office man for Hamaker & Hild, logging operators of the Butte Falls district, reports two loggers had quite a time last Wednesday with a mother bear and two cubs, as follows:

Frank Feith, operator of a small steam-shovel, engaged in maintaining a road, was busy in a narrow place when a mother bear with two cubs decided to cross the road at this point. Off the bank, the mother bear sighted the steam-shovel, and forthwith chased its engineer down the road, shooed one cub up the east bank, and the other the west bank, where it climbed up a jack-pine.

The treed cub began to cry, after a quiet spell, and its peevish parent chased the shovel operator farther down the road. Every time the cub squealed, she threatened anew.

A truckload of logs came down the road, and the driver, Reg. Drinkwater, sized up the situation. After a long distance conference with his fellow-worker, it was decided to kidnap the cub, by shaking the jack-pine, grab little bruin, and escape, via the truck. The cub was grabbed by the neck and landed in the brush with its captor, who then gathered up the prey and started on the dead run for the truck. Mamma bear was in hot pursuit. When the race became too close, the cub was dropped, and the truck reached safely. The trucker then speeded away.

A swift glance backwards revealed the mamma bear and two cubs poking off into the brush.

TRAIL MAN FINED $25 AS RECKLESS DRIVER FOLLOWING COLLISION

Frank J. Seneski, 53, of Trail was fined $25 in city police court this morning on a reckless driving charge which grew out of an automobile accident on East Main street just east of Bear Creek bridge last night between his car and one operated by Charles L. Devine of 516 Mary street.

City police stated that Seneski, traveling east, was driving on the wrong side of the street when his vehicle collided head-on with that driven by Devine. The mishap occurred at 9:50 p. m. Both cars were damaged considerably and Seneski suffered a small cut on his head.

A receipt in Seneski's pocket, police said, revealed that he paid $24.50 fine and costs in justice of the peace court yesterday on a charge of assault and battery following an alleged family row.

Tribute
As I draw for you a picture in my humble, feeble way
Of a giant with compassion,
here I lack for words to say.
He is mighty like a tower, yet he stands but six feet high,
With a smile that always greets you and a twinkle in his eye.
By the masses he was chosen to defend their proper cause,
And deliver out the justice as found written in their laws.
Standing like a bold defender, tender secrets holding fast,
Sharing with the broken-hearted every sigh by sorrow cast.
In his heart so proudly beating there's a flame of manly pride
Valued not with gold or silver but by friendship true and tried.
With this picture as my banner, let it wave, don't take it down,
And whenever you will see it, you will say there's Syd I. Brown.

They can't get along without it!

The life we lead, the work we do, the pleasures we enjoy are materially influenced by what's going on in the world. It's only natural, therefore, that reading the newspaper should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping.

Most people, as a matter of fact, can't get along without it . . . and practically everybody reads a newspaper every day, not only for the news it brings, but for the interpretation it presents, the pictures it prints, the entertainment it provides, the advice it offers.

Small wonder that the newspaper should be the forceful, profitable advertising medium that it is. Small wonder, too, that today, when the news plays so important a part in people's lives, the newspaper is an even more vital and profitable advertising medium than ever before.
