

CAST COMPLETED FOR FINAL PLAY OF CIVIC SERIES

Complete cast for the final stage production to be given in the repertoire of Shakespearean presentations in Ashland in August has been announced by Director William David Cottrell. The play is "Much Ado About Nothing" and will be formally shown in the civic Elizabethan theatre in the Litchia city August 10 and 15.

The players' roster comprises Dick Farmer, Delmar Solem, Jerry Vaughter, Harry Moses, John Reischer, Burk Yaden, Phil Henselman, Douglas Hubbard, Don Shanahan, LeRoy Lindner, Jimmie Baughman, Eugene Bennett, Kenneth Evans, Don Huffman, Melba Winston, Ethel Mae Robinette, Carol Cook, Harriet Uecker, Arden Hall, Manly Leggett and Eldridge Gray.

Others in the production are Sue Parkinson, Gene Rhodes, Betty Sue Reed, Mourne Burton, Doris Danford, Beth Fouch, Marilyn Ramsdal, Shirley Crosby, Betty Rhodes and Barbara Carey.

The play has been worked over to some extent and has been brought up to modern style. It contains a dance review, musical selection, comedy touches and bears all the earmarks of a 1940 Broadway hit. The original Shakespearean flavor has been retained however and the new version is expected to bring more favorable response than the original script.

Dorothy Pruitt and William David Cottrell are handling production work. Mrs. Pruitt completed the adaptation recently. John Reischer is handling musical scores while La Merle Beck is directing dances.

Mr. Demmer, who was 84 years old, was known to a wide circle of friends as "Uncle Paul" or "Daddy Demmer." He was born on July 17, 1855, in Gols, Hungary, where he resided until he was 19. In 1875 he came with his family to this country, settling first in Dorchester, Neb.

In 1876 the frontiers of the west attracted his attention and, with his two brothers, Lorenz and Mathias, he took up a homestead in the vicinity of what is now Herndon, Kas.

In the fall of 1878 young Demmer married Maria Fogt Kubitz, in Kansas the youthful couple survived the daily trials and tribulations of frontier life, participating in battles against the Indians and in struggles against plagues and droughts.

The family moved to Oregon in the spring of 1881. Mrs. Demmer died on September 20, 1901.

In 1902 Mr. Demmer married Amelia Downing. His second wife died on August 17, 1911.

Mr. Demmer is survived by a daughter, Marie Chesney of Medford, a step-daughter, Emma Pohlman of San Jose, Cal., four grandchildren, 13 step-grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

RENAME DENMAN HEAD COUNTY GOP, ENTHUSIASM HIGH

Sensing the first genuine chance of presidential election victory in years, the Jackson county Republican central committee re-elected Kenneth G. Denman chairman yesterday afternoon.

The meeting, held in the Hotel Medford and attended by about 70 men and women central committee members, was notable for the enthusiasm displayed over the nomination of Wendell Willkie and Sen. Charles L. McNary for president and vice-president of the United States. Men who had not taken an active part in politics for years attended the meeting and disclosed their own enthusiasm by speaking eloquently of the Republican national ticket.

George M. Roberts, Medford attorney who attended the University of Indiana with Mr. Willkie, fired the meeting with an enthusiastic address on the qualifications of the Republican presidential nominee. Mr. Willkie, he declared, started from scratch and climbed to the top by his own efforts. On the way up Mr. Willkie became thoroughly acquainted with every class of Americans and thus is outstandingly qualified to serve all the people of the United States, Mr. Roberts asserted.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Rosa Galey of Ashland, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Marie D'Albini of Medford, secretary-treasurer.

George Green, Ashland, was chosen state committeeman and Mrs. Zoe R. Hurd, Medford, state committeewoman.

Named to the executive committee were Mr. Roberts, Carl Y. Tengwald, Dr. J. H. Mallory, Miss Alice Hoefs, Frank J. Van Dyke, Guy Tex, Sam L. Sandry and Fred C. Holmes.

Fred Wagner, Ashland, was elected congressional committeeman and Mrs. Katie Grieve, Prospect, committeewoman.

Chosen district committeemen and women were Miss Alice Piel, Ashland; Ray E. Wilson, Jackson, Mrs. Susan D. Robinson, Medford, Miss Bertha Coy, Gold Hill, and Leon Offenbacher, Applegate.

The following were chosen for the nominating committee: William M. McAllister, Mrs. Grieve, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Van Dyke and Frank P. Farrell.

Mr. Denman, a Medford attorney, is beginning his second term as county chairman. The tenure is two years.

Firemen said a passerby had evidently discarded a cigarette in some dry grass alongside the garages, situated on the Fourth street side of the court. No damage was done.

Jinx Week—The week beginning today has proved a jinx to the fire department the past few years. A year ago today, on June 30, the Medford Ice & Storage company fire occurred, inflicting damage estimated at $40,000. Several firemen were overcome by ammonia fumes.
