

ALSACE PEASANTS HERDED BACK TO FRONTIER REGION

Refugees Rounded Up in Southern France by Nazis—Allegiance Wooded.

Basel, Switzerland, July 5.—(AP)—Ten thousand German-speaking farmers and peasants of Alsace and Lorraine have returned to their homes from southern France. It was learned today, although isolated French units in those provinces were reported still resisting Nazi troops.

The vanguard of 700 was led by pro-German Alsatians and officers of the German army of occupation.

The officers and civilian aides rounded up groups in a refugee center in southern France to be repatriated to the provinces which were ruled by Germany from 1871 to the end of the world war.

Constant Flow
Since Sunday, there has been a constant flow back into the frontier regions, where fields had stood deserted—tangles of weeds and tall grass—since the start of the war in September.

French sources said the Germans are paying special attention to Alsace and Lorraine inhabitants in an effort to win them over before peace terms which may re-incorporate their provinces into the Reich.

Some of the communities had been scenes of bitter battles, although many Maginot forts in the open country were occupied without fighting after the armistice. Other towns were untouched by actual fighting but were wrecked in dynamiting of roads and bridges by retreating troops.

French Uninformed
The National Zeitung of Basel related that a Swiss citizen, after obtaining German permission to visit his farm across the border, was met Monday by a French sentry and conducted at gunpoint to a captain commanding an isolated fort.

The Swiss showed the captain the permit and a Basel newspaper article of the end of French resistance. The officer turned away with tears streaming down his cheeks saying "No, no. It cannot be true!" This Swiss said the whole detachment believed the Rhine river forts were still intact. Communications had been cut 10 days previously by German motorized units.

EDUCATORS IN FAVOR WAR PREPAREDNESS

Milwaukee, July 5.—(AP)—The National Education association, in annual convention, went on record yesterday as advocating "such preparedness as would make the United States fully able to defend itself."

The stand was taken in a resolution which was accepted by voice vote. Compulsory military training was not included specifically in the resolution. The resolutions committee explaining that the wordage as offered was sufficiently strong to cover the situation.

Radio Highlights

By Associated Press (Pacific Standard Time)
New York, July 5.—As far as American networks are concerned, France has become a place of complete silence since the armistice with the Germans. No longer do any broadcasts originate from there; in fact, two chain staffs have left for other points.

Meanwhile, the Paris short wave station has come back on the air, using both French and German, and apparently operating under German supervision.

The annual all-star baseball game at St. Louis Tuesday will go on the air around 11:15 a.m. The networks intend to carry highlights of day and night sessions of the democratic national convention at Chicago, including the keynote address opening night, July 15.

Tonight: Europe—CBS 4:55, 6:30; WJ-NBC 6; MBS 6; NBC 8. WEAF-NBC—7:15 J. Warren Madden on "Labor and Defense"; 7:30 Los Angeles Times salute to Byrd.
