Billy Hulén Says
Trout Plentiful
In Crater Lake
Reports Wharton

Fishing along the middle stretches of Rogue river may be comparatively slow at present, per Joe Wharton's weekly bulletin from Grants Pass, but not so at Crater Lake, where the trail to the water's edge was opened the first of the month.

Wharton reports that a considerable number of good catches are being made daily by trolling with tandem spinner and bait. "As Crater Lake is a national park, an Oregon angling license is not required to fish in Crater and many out-of-state visitors are taking advantage of the privilege," Wharton writes. "On the Fourth of July 246 Rainbows and Silvers were taken on tandem spinners with angle worms."

Commenting on trout fishing in the Rogue, Wharton says, "The water is extremely low and clear and we would advise using small flies and very small leaders. One disadvantage in using very small flies is hooking and salmon which must be carefully released without injury if they are to survive and grow up. This can be easily accomplished when caught on flies, as they are usually lightly hooked on the edge of the mouth and can be easily shaken off without handling."

The thought strikes us that Germany is tough like Jack Dempsey was tough. Dempsey came up the hard way; he had to fight tooth and nail and desperately for his very existence. He was hungry, and that hunger turned him into a wild-man in the ring. Fighters here, accustomed to easier ways of living and perhaps softened by years of plenty, like Jess Willard, had no chance against the Meneasse Mauler.

So it is with Germany. It has come up the hard way in the past 20 years. Its soldiers of today, in their youth, had no easy time of it. They, too, were hungry, and when the guy named Hitler told them a world feast awaited, we see the result. And like Jess Willard, France was softened by years of contentment, and didn't stand a show against the Nazis.

But here is where Germany and Dempsey differ: while the great pugilist could, and did, reach the end of his fighting trail and become a civilized, utterly respectable human, we doubt whether Germany, under Hitler, ever can be the same sort of a nation.

A welcome newcomer to Medford, due here this week, is Don McFadden, former Southern Oregon Normal and University of Oregon star baseball player, and until this week manager of the Eugene Athletics of the Oregon State league. Don has been transferred by his company, a trucking concern, from Eugene to Medford.

Dave Sanderson, writing in the Eugene News, had this to say about McFadden the other day. "Eugene will feel a loss here through its baseball team as Don has put the Athletics in the thick of the pennant scrap for the second half. The Athletics of 1940 are one of the finest teams to be fielded by Eugene in years and years, and every week more and more fans are beginning to see this fact. It has been largely through the efforts of Don and Mrs. McFadden that has put the Athletics over with the fans and kept them going."

Don's pitching helped the University of Oregon win the northern division, Pacific Coast conference championship several years ago, and he has played on several state championship semi-pro teams. While he hasn't done much hurling this season, confining his efforts to an occasional exhibition-game appearance, he still can wheel them in there, and will probably sign with the Craters.

We take a good, old-fashioned bow and smirk for that National league win over the American loop all-stars yesterday, 4 to 0. The game bore out our contention that those members of the New York Yankees, who played with the American leaguers, had no business in there, and that apparently the only reason they were was on past reputations.

Gordon, Dickey, Keller and DiMaggio, once great hitters, went blowless against the Nationals, and Red Ruffing, another erstwhile Yankee star, was rapped by Max West for a three-run homer that gave the senior loopers the victory.

Rego Hurls Craters to 5-1 Tourney Win Over Tillamook

SOUTHPAW FLINGS 4-HIT BASEBALL; TEAM BATS WELL

Medford Plays Gaston Next Friday Eve—Mantle Club and B and O Victorious

Portland, July 10.—(AP)—Medford's efficient baseball crew, a semi-pro tournament favorite, tripped the Tillamook Cheesemakers last night, 5 to 1.

In two other tournament contests at the Vaughn street Pacific Coast league park, Mantle Club of Portland stopped Mount Angel, 8 to 4, and B & O of Portland swamped Moalla, 10 to 2. The loss put Mount Angel out of the running.

Medford backed Jimmy Rego's four-hit pitching with smart work in the field and at bat. An err, a wild pitch and a single gave the southern Oregon team a starter run in the second inning. Single runs in the third, sixth and seventh innings decided the issue.

Jimmy Rego was a surprise pitching choice for the Craters, as he hurled nine innings against Silverton here Sunday and Manager Tom Hawkins, before the team left for Portland, expressed his doubt that the lefthander would feel like working another game with only one day rest. Apparently Rego requested that he start the game, for Hawkins planned to send Steve Crippen to the mound.

The victory over Tillamook moved the Craters into a position for their second game Friday night at 8:45 against Gaston Dairy of Portland. The Dairy-men, in two tournament starts, have beaten Sauvie Island, 6 to 4, and Canby, 12 to 3.

This extra-length week in the Pacific Coast Baseball league was off to a daffy start today. The mighty Rainiers of Seattle went down for a shutout 1 to 0 loss to San Francisco last night. The basement barons of Portland turned up in the win list, beating Hollywood, 9 to 4.

A 31-hit melee at San Diego gave Los Angeles a 6 to 5 win over the Padres.

And on Sacramento the ax fell twice. Two players—including Art Garibaldi, the team's most popular in 1939—were sent from the league in a shakeup, and Oakland won a heart-breaking 2 to 1 night game.

The strange Portland-Hollywood affair ended an eight-game losing string for the Beavers and ran the Stars' losses up to six in a row.

The Stars blew a 3 to 0 lead in the fifth, when Portland put on a spurge of six runs—all unearned, because Hollywood had set the stage for them with fumbles. The Stars erred five times in the game.

Bettors Pole Vault Mark

Cornelius Warmerdam, San Francisco Olympic club star, already holder of the unofficial world's pole vault record, is shown here bettering it with a jump of 15 feet 1 1/2 inches at the 32nd annual AAU track and field championships at Fresno, Calif. The meet was held at night. Earlier this season Warmerdam, Tuolumne, Calif., school teacher, soared to 15 feet to better the listed record of 14 feet, 11 inches. Recognition of that jump is awaiting official approval.

Max West Hero of All-Star Game on McKechnie's Hunch

By Harold Claassen
St. Louis, July 10.—(AP)—At noon it was a hunch—nothing more—that caused Manager Bill McKechnie to insert Max West of Boston in the starting lineup of the National circuit in the annual major league all-star baseball game.

Thirteen minutes after the contest was under way, it was a brilliant piece of strategy as West deposited a three-run homer in the right field bleachers and started his mates toward a 4 to 0 triumph over the American league.

McKechnie's belief that Mel Ott of the New York Giants, listed to start in right field until shortly before the game time yesterday, would be of more value in the late innings when that garden would be the sun field prompted the deacon to make change.

"It was my hunch that Ott, who is older and more experienced, would be a bit steadier in the sun and that is the only reason for the change," McKechnie said.

Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox, collected a double and a single and Buck Newsom, the hellcose Detroit finger, cracked a one-baser. Never did the losers have more than one runner on the paths and Appling was the only one to get beyond second.

It was the White Sox shortstop's double off Derringer in the second that brought about West's removal. The Boston clouter tried to make a leaping catch and slammed into the concrete retaining wall. He suffered a bruised hip but is expected to play again Thursday when action is resumed in the big leagues after a three-day layoff.

WARD UNLUCKY IN WESTERN AMATEUR

—Minneapolis, July 10.—(AP)—Art Doering, 24-year-old Chicago youth, started the final 18 holes of qualifying play in the western amateur event today with a one-stroke lead over the field, with a two under par 70 for Tuesday.

A stroke back of Doering were Jim Black of St. Louis, Neil Croonquist and Ken Young of Minneapolis. Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., defending champion; Walter Burkemo of Evanston, Ill., and Earl Larson, Minneapolis, all had 72's.

Bud Ward of Spokane, national amateur titlist, had a bad first 18, posting a 77 for one of his poorest rounds in years.

STEINER PITCHES NO-HIT SOFTBALL TO TIP CATHOLICS

Morris Steiner hurled a no-hit softball game for the Clarence English All-Stars against the Catholic All-Stars at the stadium last night, but lost a shutout in the seventh and final inning on a walk, an error and a long fly to the outfield. The score was 3 to 1.

Joe Peccia, imported from Portland, hurled for the Catholics and gave up five blows—singles by Piche, White, Hoffard and Caples, and a double by Prichard. He displayed a sizzling fast ball and a nice change of pace.

Peccia pitched a doubleheader last night. Working for Wooden Box in the first game, he gave up five hits to defeat Elks of the National league, 9 to 7, in an exhibition clash. Campbell tripled for the winners and Peterson and Boyle doubled, while Keovan doubled for the losers.

In the National league, Faber's edged out Gasco, 6 to 5, with a two-run burst in the eighth frame, and Elks downed Bear Creek, 7 to 5. Webster crashed to homers and R. Pinkham tripled for Faber's. Jackson belted a homer for Gasco.
