Rogue Valley Now Host to Many Visitors

The Rogue River valley is literally filled with visitors from all parts of the country. They are being entertained at a variety of activities; many are enjoying trips to the numerous scenic attractions; others are sojourning at summer homes on lakes while still others are being feted at social affairs in town.

While the influx of visitors has been great, many localities are taking advantage of summer vacations and leaving the valley for other places. Among those visiting here and elsewhere are:

Miss Augusta Parker of Klamath Falls is spending several weeks at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Holmes on the Griffin Creek road.

Johnnie Fleet Smith, petite Medford high school teacher, is summing at the home of her father, Dr. Fleet in New Franklin, Mo. She plans to return in the fall to resume her school position.

Mrs. Earl Herendeen is spending several days in Cottage Grove visiting her husband's relatives.

Frederick Colvig, member of the editorial staff of the Oregonian in Portland is due here today to visit his aunt, Mrs. Myrtle Blakeley in Carigill court and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colvig. He plans to continue on south soon from here and return later for a more extended visit.

Mrs. Merrick Evans and small daughter, Lee, plan to conclude a fortnight's visit here soon. They have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cordy Sunderman at their home on Palm street. The Evans reside in Alameda, Calif.

A colorful visitor is W. W. Chadwick, mayor of Salem, who, with Mrs. Chadwick and their daughter, Margaret, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cedrick T. Reaney at their home on Tripp street. The mayor's many Medford friends hardly knew him when he whipped into town yesterday wearing a mustachio, a ten-gallon hat and a yellow satin shirt—the get-up is a good advertisement for the Salem Centennial to be held in the northern city from July 31 to August 4. Mrs. Reaney is a daughter of the Chadwicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schoeni were brief callers here at the home of Mr. Schoeni's aunt, Mrs. A. E. Lyman on Ross court. Mr. Schoeni, former local resident, is bureau manager of United Press in Olympia, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Garrett are here for several days to visit Mr. Garrett's mother, Mrs. G. C. Garrett and his brother, Jack Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCann and son, John, of Los Angeles are guests of Mrs. McCann's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Beare on Howard avenue.

Mrs. Robert Hart and two small daughters, Ann and Sara, of Klamath Falls were visitors at Lake of the Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Radabaugh of this city were recent visitors at Timberline lodge on the slopes of Mount Hood.

Mrs. Conro Fiero, hostess at the Klamath agency, is week-ending with her mother, Mrs. Will Andrews and her sister, Mrs. James Stevens, at their Carigill court apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strang and sons, Bobby Jr. and David, are due to arrive today to visit Mr. Strang's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strang, at their home on Medford heights. Former residents, the family now calls Reno, Nevada, home. They will be here a week.

La Murle Beck Will Feature Festival Dances

Whether William Shakespeare likes it or not, one of his plays now contains a modern dance revue.

In line with the new version of "Much Ado About Nothing," to be given in Ashland's civic Elizabethan theater on both August 10 and August 15, a series of specialty and solo dances have been woven into the plot and are under the direction of Miss La Murle Beck. Audiences will find a gay, breezy tempo handled by a chorus of 19 girls, while specialty dances will be given by Le Roy Lindner and Miss Beck herself.

A prominent figure in music and dramatic circles, Miss Beck is conducting her second year with the Festival group. Her 1939 characterizations, Audrey, in "As You Like It" and Adriana, in "The Comedy of Errors" won wide-spread acclaim and she is regarded as the discovery of last season's productions. This year she is repeating both roles and is expected to outdo herself in their interpretations.

She is a graduate of Mills College where she specialized in drama, music and fine arts. She was a member of Gilbert and Sullivan's road troupe in 1935 and 1936 and is highly regarded in dramatic circles throughout the entire coast.

Her dramatic experience was started in high school production here and has been furthered through a number of community plays.
