Festival Group Committees To Meet Wednesday

Results of preliminary activities in line with the sponsoring membership drive for the Oregon Shakespearean Festival now underway throughout this area will be made known here tomorrow noon at a special luncheon at the Hotel Medford, called for Ashland and Medford committee members and heads.

Although the drive itself was started last week, activities have been generally confined. Following tomorrow's meeting however, the drive will be launched in earnest. Grants Pass, Klamath Falls and Yreka are to be included this year and the Festival will take on the appearance of a definite community enterprise.

Ticket reservations may be secured after July 25, it is announced. Local membership holders may reserve their seats through Pruitt's Music Center. Residents of Ashland may secure better service by contacting the Festival office on Pioneer street. The four plays to be presented this year are "As You Like It," "Much Ado About Nothing," "The Comedy of Errors" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Mrs. Westergren Here for Day

Mrs. E. C. Westergren and small son Eric, arrived in Medford this morning by train from their home in Grants Pass, to spend the day visiting her mother, Mrs. Ralph G. Bardwell.

Television is the place where they begin

TELEVISION seems rather colossal. All is not done with mirrors. Yet you see things where they "ain't." However—poof!—our scientists use television's activating principle daily—to see things which aren't visible at all.

By combining certain electrical circuits with the cathode ray oscillograph—"mainspring" of television—Standard's scientists are able to study pressure inside a combustion chamber or record as in a slow motion picture the mechanical lightning which provides Diesel engine ignition.

Now, as you know, it's still impossible to buy a television set at any corner store. Hence you can imagine how much more difficult it is for researchers who start with the television principle to get apparatus so far in advance of today. Actually, they've been forced to originate much laboratory equipment of their own.

When it comes to devising gadgets which put them in the van of the parade, our scientists have proved themselves outstanding. Some of these instruments actually involve the use of a new electric principle, about which we can't tell you—yet. But of one thing we can assure you. Their scientific leadership means leadership for Standard when it comes to getting the most inner of inside information—about petroleum efficiency.
