

JACKSON CO. C-C JOINS EFFORT TO CONSERVE TREES

Local Body to Work With Western States Forest Conservation Association.

Jackson County Chamber of Commerce announced today it had joined the Western States Forest and Conservation Association.

The association was organized recently with the Salt Lake City, Utah, Chamber of Commerce apparently being the prime mover. Statement of its objectives indicates that among other things the association is interested in keeping the U. S. forest service where it is and out of the hands of the secretary of the interior and his department.

Broad aims of the new association were given as the protection, conservation and multiple use of natural resources, including a sound national forest policy.

Objectives Shown.
The association's prospectus states that the "major objective of this organization will be the conservation and wise use of all renewable wild land resources within the western states. The organization is dedicated to the multiple use system of management on a decentralized basis with full consideration for national needs and policies."

Other aims include the promotion of the construction of a forest highway system and opposition to setting aside any more areas for single purpose or limited use purpose. The association insists that before any change in management is made, state legislatures be notified and that no change be made without the approval of the governor or the state legislature.

The U. S. forest service, included in the department of agriculture, practices the policy of multiple use of natural resources while the national park service, in the department of the interior, is viewed as following the policy of single use.

Governmental sub-divisions organizations and individual persons who believe that the U. S. forest service should not be changed, have had a continual fear the past couple of years that in President Roosevelt's reorganization plan the interior department would absorb the forest service and combine it with or operate it like the park service. It is felt in these circles that Secretary Harold L. Ickes is still dickered to get control of the forest service for his interior department.

Any organization in accord with its objectives is eligible to join the Western States Forest and Conservation Association.

COLONEL MAJOR GIVES KIWANIANS STORIES OF PADUCAH CHARACTERS

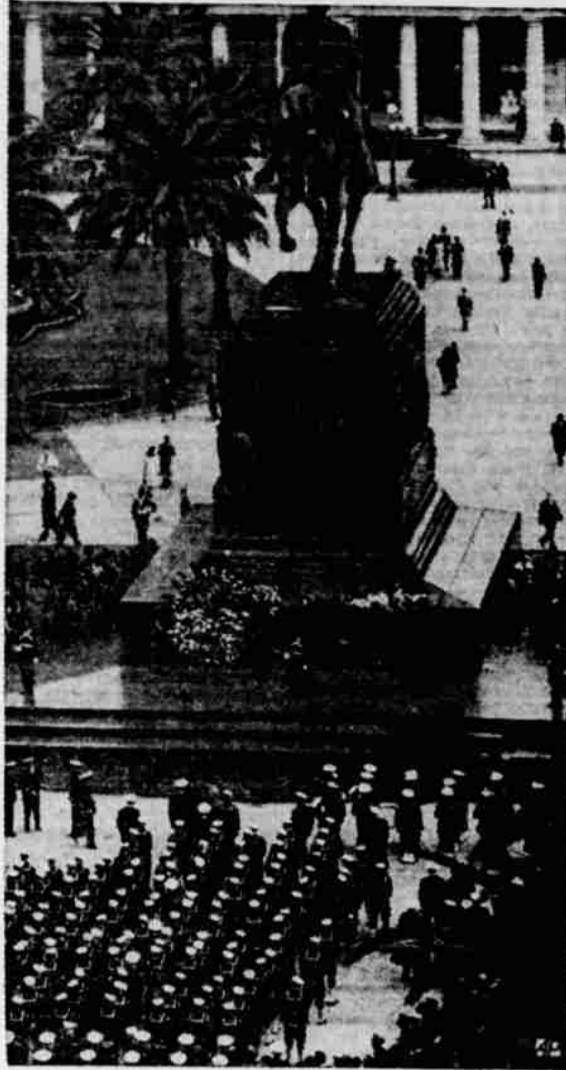

Colonel Jack Major, of Paducah, Ky., who appeared before the local Kiwanians at their regular luncheon meeting Monday regaled his listeners with a choice collection of stories about his Kentucky kin folks and various Paducah characters, justifying in full his international reputation as an entertainer par excellence.

Particular feature of Colonel Major's entertainment was his demonstration of his ability to remember names and faces. After having each member and guest introduce himself he later returned to call each by their proper name. The Colonel's local appearance was sponsored by the Union Oil Company where he is employed as a public relations representative.

Included among out of town guests at the luncheon were Dr. L. L. McCoy, Seattle, "Shorty" Garnett, Alhambra, Calif., and Jack Tungate, Butte Falls. Other local guests were O. D. Frazer, Arch Pierce, Captain Fred Greene, E. C. Gaddis, Charles Braley, Norton Forsyth, and Les Nielson.

PILLS MAY REPLACE BEANS AS STAPLE IN SOLDIERS' DIET

Panzer Force Given Stimulating Benzadrine is Belief Of California Savant.

Seattle, July 16.—(AP)—Soldiers of Germany's Panzer divisions, which sped, roughshod, through allied defenses during the German blitzkriegs, probably were given benzadrine, a synthetic stimulant, to bring them to an "efficiency peak" for their gruelling task. Prof. C. D. Leake, University of California pharmacologist, told interviewers here today.

Professor Leake, attending the University of Washington graduate medical course, said pharmacology is becoming increasingly important in our own national defense program, and that one result of this application of the study of the action of chemicals on living things, may be the discarding of beans as a staple of the U. S. army diet.

Concentrated rations, in capsule form, may supplant them, he said.

Undoubtedly, Professor Leake added, medical men accompanying the Panzer divisions, and "there is little doubt that those divisions were given benzadrine to carry them through 48 to 52-hour blitzkriegs, and keep them at the peak of efficiency." The drug has the stimulating effect of coffee and is not habit-forming, he said.

D.A.V. PICNIC IS ENJOYED IN PARK

Disabled American Veterans and auxiliaries of Jackson county gathered Sunday in Lithia park in Ashland for an annual picnic.

Following dinner at one long table, the following program was given: accordion selections by Mrs. M. L. Huntley; songs by A. Miller of the Klamath Falls chapter; talk, "Co-operation," by V.F.W. Departmental Commander Ira D. Canfield. A baseball game for the younger people was also an event.

Special guests introduced were Ethel Yarbrough, commander Grants Pass auxiliary; Gladys Lawton, state historian; Cora Tingley, senior vice-commander; Mrs. Herman Tottdahl, Klamath Falls auxiliary commander; Floyd K. Dover, state commander; Herman Tottdahl, chapter commander of Klamath Falls; Carl Blainey, Grants Pass; Ira D. Canfield of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Portland, July 16.—(AP)—Lewis J. Kelley, 71, Maupin farmer, died last night of injuries suffered Sunday as a horse he was feeding crushed him against a tree.

They can't get along without it!

The life we lead, the work we do, the pleasures we enjoy are materially influenced by what's going on in the world. It's only natural, therefore, that reading the newspaper should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping.

Most people, as a matter of fact, can't get along without it... and practically everybody reads a newspaper every day, not only for the news it brings, but for the interpretation it presents, the pictures it prints, the entertainment it provides, the advice it offers.

Small wonder that the newspaper should be the forceful, profitable advertising medium that it is. Small wonder, too, that today, when the news plays so important a part in people's lives, the newspaper is an even more vital and profitable advertising medium than ever before.
