British Exports Cited as Proof

London, July 16.—(U.P.)—Increased British exports to the United States were cited today as proof that Britain is "not a beleaguered island." EUGENE WRITER'S PRIZE MONEY TO BENEFIT FAMILY

Mrs. Antonina Riasanovsky, mother of two children and winner of a $10,000 prize for her first novel, today decided to spend her money for health, education and a home for her little family of White Russian exiles.

Mrs. Riasanovsky, who came to the United States only two years ago, said she wanted to buy a home in Eugene, home of the University of Oregon, because she likes "a small town with a big library."

Story of Family. She just returned from Boston where she received her prize from the Atlantic Monthly Press and Little, Brown & Co., publishers. Her novel, "The Family," tells the story of an exiled White Russian family, similar to hers, who lived in Tientsin.

She wrote the book under her maiden name of Nina Fedorova, because she found Americans had trouble with her other name.

First of all, the money will seek to restore the health of her husband, who has been ill for several months in a hospital here. Then perhaps there will be a home in Eugene and later on Nicholas and Alexander, her two sons, may go to college.

Saw Japanese Come. Mrs. Riasanovsky was graduated from the University of Petrograd as a philologist. After fleeing in the Russian revolution, she taught literature, history and psychology in Harbin, Manchuria. She saw the Japanese occupation of Manchuria and later lived in war-torn Tientsin.

"For years I asked myself why some people suffer and grow, while others merely suffer and die," she said. "I didn't begin to set down the answers until we came to the United States in 1938. After three rewrites, I had the story."
