

BUSINESS GOES TO HIGH LEVEL, BOARD REPORTS

Production in Iron, Steel and Textile Industries Recovers From Early Losses

Washington, July 19.—(U.P.)—Business spurred to a new high in June and July as production in iron, steel and textile industries recovered losses suffered earlier this year, the federal reserve board reported today.

The board's index of industrial production jumped from 106 in May to 114 in June, spurred mainly by increased steel ingot production from 60 to 97 percent of capacity, sharp rises in the volume of coke and pig iron output, and substantially greater activity of woolen mills.

The increase reflected to some extent new government defense orders, but the bulk of the contracts intended to expand industrial capacity and give United States armed forces modern fighting equipment have not reached industry and do not show in the latest business figures.

Department Stores Busy

Department stores sales, usually a good index of mass purchasing power, continued at high levels during June, resisting the usual summer decline. Automobile production fell off seasonally during the month but retail sales continued in large volume, cutting into dealers' stocks of used and new cars, which had reached high levels.

Private residential building decreased more than seasonally after an unusually sharp rise in May. Public construction increases under the impetus caused by construction of army and navy bases.

Methodist Aid Asked

Sheffield, England, July 19.—(P)—The Methodist conference agreed today to ask American Methodists "for all possible help at the most critical moment in the history of civilization."

Correction

Sioux Falls, S. D. (P)—Vernon Crangle wrote an indignant letter when a local newspaper's vital statistics column announced the birth of a girl to the Crangles. Crangle demanded and got, a correction in capital letters, like this: IT'S A BOY!

VACATIONERS' PARADISE . . . COAST LAKES

On the shores of sparkling lakes that dot the coast area Oregon's vacationers find many resources for amusement.

The following article, presented in co-operation with the Oregon State Motor association, is one of a series designed to promote travel in the Pacific northwest. Today's article has been condensed from a motorlog appearing in The Sunday Oregonian July 7.

BY HERMAN EDWARDS
Staff Writer, The Oregonian

We are going to dedicate today's motorlog story to the folks who like to explore. Not to the Admiral Byrds and the Roy Chapman Andrews and their fellow professional wanderers into far-away places, but to the folks young and old, rich and poor, who are enslaved by the universal desire to go places and see things that offer variety from the routine demands of life.

To the angler who seeks untried waters, to the camera fan who quests for pictorial romance, to all those who explore the highways and byways in search of pleasant places to stay and good food to eat, we say:

"We know a place we can recommend for your enjoyment."

The place (the word doesn't take in enough territory—it's a whole region) is the ocean-side lake areas of Lane and Douglas counties, nearest point of which is less than 170 miles from Portland as logged by the motorlog car of The Oregonian and the Oregon State Motor association.

Florence, on the Siuslaw river inlet, may be described as the center of the lake area, which is within the boundaries of the Siuslaw national forest.

Nearby are miles of beaches of the Pacific ocean, its noisy surf muffled by majestic sand dunes that erect a grim barrier. The state parks department of the Oregon state highway commission, in co-operation with the forest service and the civilian conservation corps, has recognized the inevitable popularity of the region and wisely has planned a program of development for public enjoyment of the lakes, streams and nearby areas.

On the shores of Cleawox lake, whose sparkling waters mirror towering sand dunes, CCC troopers are engaged in one of the most ambitious of state park projects. Picnic areas of almost unbelievable charm, a fine stone building for use of bathers, sandy beaches and crystal-clear water are inviting an increasing number of holiday-makers.

On the north shore of Washink lake, so named by the Indians, it is said, for its clear water, similar recreation areas have been provided in the virgin forest bordering the lake.

Southeastward, just over the hill from Washink, Siltcoos lake, largest of the Oregon coast lakes, sprawls in irregular fashion in the foothills. The irregu-Eleven miles south of Florence is Tahkenitch lake. Tahkenitch long has been popular with the anglers, especially for its bass fishing. In addition to the bass there are trout, catfish, perch, bluegills and other species.

Sutton lake, six miles north of Florence, lies, a portion of it, beside the coast highway. Adjacent are forest camps with excellent picnic and camping grounds. Mercer lake lies just south and east of Sutton.

South of these two lakes and east of the highway are Clear and Munsel lakes.

CIO AFFILIATES ASKED TO FIGHT FOR LEGISLATION

Washington, July 19.—(U.P.)—All affiliates of the Congress of Industrial Organizations received from C.I.O. President John L. Lewis today a warning to be prepared to repel anti-labor laws and to fight for progressive social legislation.

"It is in times like these that a well organized bloc of reactionaries in congress will attempt to destroy all labor legislation," Lewis told the affiliates in releasing to them the report of the CIO legislative committee.

The report condemned such pending legislation as proposed revision of the Wagner labor relations act, the Walter-Logan bill to provide court review of rules and regulations set forth by quasi-judicial organizations, and the bill to deport CIO leader Harry Bridges.

FUNERAL HELD FOR REVEREND

New York, July 19.—(U.P.)—Funeral services for the Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reinsner, 68, founder of the Broadway Temple Methodist church, will be held today.

Dr. Reinsner died Wednesday night at French hospital following an operation for gall stones performed June 4.

Dr. Reinsner once estimated that he had converted 10,000 persons through the use of newspapers, handbills, electric signs and other advertising media, for he felt that it was necessary to "swallow reserve and native modesty" in getting across the message of religion.

$225 AND SEDAN COST OF SMOKE

Grants Pass, July 19.—(P)—William Milton Quigley, Jr., of Stockton, Cal., lost his 1939 sedan and more than $225 in paper currency Wednesday when his cigarette missed the ash receptacle in his car, he told state police who helped him keep the fire from spreading. Traveling with his wife to Seattle to visit his father on "my first vacation in 11 years," Quigley hid the money in the cloth-covered seat which caught fire when the lighted cigarette rolled under it.

NAZI TROOPS TOLD THEY MUST MAKE ANOTHER CONQUEST

Berlin, July 19.—(U.P.)—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, in his capacity as Nazi leader in Berlin, told returning German troops today that they "still have one more fight to win."

Speaking to soldiers of the first Berlin division, who marched triumphantly through the Brandenburg gate after conquests in France and Poland, Goebbels said:

"You still have one greater task, then the victory bells will ring over the entire Reich. Then we will build a better Europe. 'Other armies were whipped into war by Jews and plutocrats. But you know for what you are fighting. You are fighting for a greater and more glorious Reich.'"

Goebbels called upon Berliners to provide a tumultuous welcome for your sons, husbands, fathers and brothers who have won great victories in Poland and France.
