

JACKSON COUNTY GUERNSEY ASSN. TOURS RANCHES

Annual Visit and Picnic Enjoyed—Fine Animals Eyed—4-H Clubbers Exhibit

The Jackson County Guernsey Breeders' association second annual Guernsey day and tour was enjoyed Tuesday by about 75 people.

The crowd met at the Ralph Jennings farm on Ross Lane to start the tour. They looked over his purebred Guernseys and also the sprinkling system recently installed for the pasture.

At 10:15 they arrived at the Chester Wendt dairy on the Old Stage road and enjoyed a study of his fine herd and his herd sire, Golden King of Sunny Oaks.

The Bill Bigham ranch on Antelope creek was the next call. Here the Antelope Guernsey Calf club, under direction of L. E. Francis, county 4-H club leader, and their project leader, Bill Bigham, exhibited their calves and each was introduced and told of their aims in exhibiting the calves.

Visit Short Farm. At 12:15 the tour reached the H. C. Short farm on Butte creek and inspected his herd of Guernseys and listened to reading of the pedigree of his fine herd sire.

Last stop of the day was at G. R. Stowell's River View Guernsey farm, where the heaping baskets were unpacked and spread on a long table under huge maple trees and all enjoyed a picnic lunch.

Chas. A. Wing, retiring president of the association, introduced C. A. Smith, western representative of the American Guernsey Cattle club of Peterborough, N. H., who gave a very interesting and encouraging talk on the Guernsey breed from its first start on Guernsey Island.

L. E. Francis quoted figures to show the rapid increase in the number of Guernsey calves raised in the 4-H club work here.

Officers Speak. Leonard Freeman, new president of the association; R. G. Fowler, county agent of Jackson county; Chas. Austin, milk inspector; and Mr. Frazier, a Guernsey breeder from Josephine county, were introduced and spoke briefly.

After enjoying the lunch, with coffee, Guernsey milk and cream, and ice cream furnished by the association, the crowd was shown Waldo's Queen Esther, the well-known Guernsey cow that has been the foundation of most of the Stowell herd. Queen and five daughters and a son were exhibited, and C. A. Smith gave a brief history of their production. He called attention to the group as an example of how a herd may be built up from one good foundation cow, as many herds of registered Guernseys have grown.

13-YEAR-OLDS HAVE BOY OVER 6 POUNDS

London, July 25.—(U.P.)—Dr. Letitia Fairfield, senior medical officer of the London city council, writing in The Lancet, British medical journal, said today that a survey of child mothers had disclosed a mother and father each 13 years old.

"Of paternity there can be no absolute certainty but the little fellow had no doubt himself and even went so far as to borrow an older brother's long trousers and bowler hat to visit his offspring with becoming dignity," Dr. Fairfield wrote. "He indeed performed the remarkable feat of doing one of the few things which the law explicitly declares impossible, for it is the 'irrebuttable presumption' of English law that a boy under 14 cannot procreate a child. The baby weighed six pounds and three ounces and had a cleft palate but otherwise was healthy."

FILM SOCIALITE KEEPS INTEREST IN STAGE WORK

Contract Gives Gene Tierney Six Months Freedom Yearly for Play Roles

By Robbin Coons AP Feature Writer Hollywood—Six months here making movies, six months free for the New York stage. That's what 20-year-old Gene Tierney's movie contract, like that of many another screen newcomer, grants her. Newcomers and veterans, once they've known the stage have demanded the freedom to return. But it usually ends there. The novice, if she clicks, suddenly finds herself cast for four or five movies ahead, and the Hollywood pressure force sings an enchanting song of mansions and swimming pools. The stage waits.

"See If I'm Not" "Six months from now," says Gene Tierney, brown-haired, green-eyed, "I'll be in New York, doing a play or looking for one. See if I'm not!" She is relaxing on a couch in her dressing room, rubbing her shoeless feet as she waits for the call to her first screen role as heroine in "The Return of Frank James."

Miss Tierney would be our newest Cinderella if she hadn't been practically a princess to begin with. Daughter of the very social Howard S. Tierneys of Bridgeport, Conn., she went to school abroad and at home, then made her debut and joined the social butterfly brigade.

Not Much Fun "But the parties weren't much fun," she says. "I'd always wanted to be an actress. My father didn't like the idea, but he consented to let me try. He made the rounds of producers' offices with me. I'm sure he was pleased when a month went by without results. But one day I read a part for George Abbott. Dad was a good sport when they chose me."

Tierney soon had reason to believe his daughter would be cured. "Mrs. O'Brien Entertains," her first play, ran only four weeks; her second, "Ring Two," three nights. Then came "The Male Animal," the Elliott Nugent-James Thurber hit, and Gene was in—and in the movies, a year and a half after her stage debut.

CONFLICT KEEPS MOST B. C. CANADIANS HOME

Eugene, July 25.—(U.P.)—War's effect on travel between Canada and the United States was evidenced here today when it was revealed only 10 of 200 British Columbia delegates to the Moose lodge's northwest convention had been able to cross the border. The president of the Northwest Moose association, W. A. Kettle, British Columbia, said restrictions prevent Canadians from traveling in the United States, except for business, education or health. Passports, too, are necessary.

RUSSIA TO START NEW ATTACK UPON RELIGION

Moscow, July 25.—(U.P.)—New courses of anti-religious instruction will be introduced in high schools and universities throughout the Soviet Union, it was announced today.

They can't get along without it!

The life we lead, the work we do, the pleasures we enjoy are materially influenced by what's going on in the world. It's only natural, therefore, that reading the newspaper should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping.

Most people, as a matter of fact, can't get along without it... and practically everybody reads a newspaper every day, not only for the news it brings, but for the interpretation it presents, the pictures it prints, the entertainment it provides, the advice it offers.

Small wonder that the newspaper should be the forceful, profitable advertising medium that it is. Small wonder, too, that today, when the news plays so important a part in people's lives, the newspaper is an even more vital and profitable advertising medium than ever before.
