

INDEPENDENT VOTE NOT YET SETTLED, IS SHOWN BY POLL

Fortune Magazine Finds Willkie Favorite in North-East and Mid-West States

By Lyle C. Wilson
UP Staff Correspondent
Washington, July 26.—(U.P.)—The independent vote with variable party ties will determine the presidential election contest between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie, but has not yet made its choice, the first of the post-national convention polls indicated today.

The magazine Fortune reported that Willkie, Republican presidential candidate, was a substantial favorite over President Roosevelt in northern, eastern, mid-western and scattered states which combine to cast a preponderance of electoral college votes.

Undecided Hold Power
Mr. Roosevelt won 44.3 per cent of the nationwide expression of favor in the Fortune poll—he was high in the south—to 40.8 per cent for Willkie. Of the remainder, eight per cent preferred other candidates, refused to answer or said they would not vote and 6.9 per cent were undecided. That 6.9 of indecision would be enough to win for either candidate.

The president piled up big margins of favor in south Atlantic states, the east south central and west south central areas. He tied with Willkie in the mountain states poll and trailed the Republican nominee elsewhere in states with an aggregate electoral vote majority. Fortune reported that analysis of the poll revealed Willkie weakness among farmers and labor and suggested that it might develop disastrously for the G. O. P. ticket, but concluded that the "I Don't Know" vote still holds the 1940 balance of power.
