

SELF-KICKING DEVICE FINDING MORE USERS, INVENTOR DECLARES

Crostan, N. C., Aug. 2.—(P)—It's been three years since Craven county commissioner Tom Haywood built his self-kicking machine.

And this fourth summer it's being used more than ever before, although some skeptics had predicted at first its novelty would soon wear off.

Perhaps you don't know what a self-kicking machine is and have never heard of Tom Haywood's?

Well, when you have done something that you feel you shouldn't have, and want to kick yourself for it, Haywood's machine will do it for you.

The self-kicking machine was erected July 21, 1937, on highway 70, often called "North Carolina's Broadway." Thousands of persons have used the machine since.

The machine is still going strong after three years, although Haywood has had to install a new belt, and a third set of new shoes will have to be added in a few weeks.

Haywood says one reason for his machine's increasing popularity is—but let him tell it:

"Some of us who have been kicking previously about America and our form of government are now kicking ourselves after seeing the condition of other countries. We are finding that we are the ones that should be kicked, not our American government."

The announcement took the form of a request for dissolution of Freemasonry printed in the newspaper Le Petit Journal, in Vichy, France.

HOT SPELL CUTS CORN PROSPECTS

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(P)—Hot and dry weather during various periods of crop growth the past month lowered United States corn prospects more than 100,000,000 bushels and cut the potential spring wheat harvest 29,000,000 bushels, according to the estimates of experts released at the board of trade today.

The experts, however, raised their estimates of winter wheat and oats production.

The average of six August estimates indicated a corn harvest of 2,322,000,000 bushels is probable.

The spring wheat harvest estimate was cut to 193,000,000 bushels but the experts raised their estimates of winter wheat production to 524,000,000 bushels, a gain of 25,000,000 compared with a month ago. Thus, the indicated total wheat crop of 717,000,000 bushels was only 4,000,000 less than forecast July 1 and 38,000,000 less than produced last year. The oats crop was estimated at 1,064,000,000 bushels compared with 937,000,000 last year.

LOWER KLAMATH AREA YIELDS EVIDENCES OF PREHISTORIC PEOPLE

Eugene, Aug. 2.—(P)—Another chapter in the strange fascinating history of man in this part of the world can be written as a result of intensive research done this summer in the lake regions of southeastern Oregon by a party of University of Oregon anthropology students and a party of scientists. It was revealed here today by Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department.

Under Dr. Cressman's direction the students studied the lower Klamath lake region for evidences of early man and fossils that would date material already found in other sections of that part of the state.

A considerable number of artifacts and fossil material, most of which is believed to be not less than 4,000 years old, was uncovered by the student party. These included stone work, bone instruments, grinding stones and other age-old instruments. Fossil bones of ancient camels, horses and elephants were also unearthed.
