

PIONEER PICNIC EAGLE PT. SUNDAY

All pioneers of southern Oregon are invited to the annual Pioneer picnic to be held in the Eagle Point park Sunday. Persons able to do so were asked by the committee in charge to provide transportation to those who have no means of getting to the park.

The picnic lunch will be served at 12:30. Each one attending is asked to provide a well-filled basket of lunch and table service. A program of speaking and old-time music will be held during the afternoon. Prizes will be awarded the oldest married couple and the oldest individual person present.

MARSHAL GOERING DRESSED TO KILL

Berlin, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Herman Wilhelm Goering has done the impossible—he is outstripped himself in his new reichsmarshal uniform.

A new picture of the plump Herman shows him in a cloud-gray cape and tunic with gold trimmings, as opposed to the usual bluish air uniform.

His cap carries the gold flying eagle of the air force on the peak. The chin strap is gold. Around the entire band of the hat is a gold-stitched laurel wreath.

His new baton is made of ivory ornamented at one end with a bas-relief of the air force's spread eagle, at the other with the German fighting cross as it appears on tanks and airplanes. The shank of the baton is decorated with alternate gold spread eagles, iron crosses and fighting crosses.

FILM ACES FREED OF RED CHARGES

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Three notable film actors and a scenario writer have been cleared by the Dies committee of accusations that they were Communist sympathizers.

After a careful study of testimony, Representative Martin Dies said today that there was no evidence to indicate that the actors, James Cagney, Frederic March and Humphrey Bogart, or the writer, Phil Dunne, had ever been connected with Communist activities.

KLAMATH BLAZES NOW CONTROLLED

Klamath Falls, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Four large forest fires on the Klamath Indian reservation were again brought under control this morning after yesterday's high wind sent them surging over fire lines, leaping almost a mile in some cases.

The Swan lake fire swooped over 600 new acres late Tuesday and reinforcements were called from Crater Lake National park and the Yakima reservation. The fire has blackened 8600 acres since it started last week.

Chicago Wheat

Chicago, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A let-up in flour business which was stimulated by last week's sharp price slump, permitted wheat prices to slip about a cent a bushel at one stage today but the market recovered partially before the close. Profits taking and placing of hedge against limited quantities of new wheat offered for sale accounted for much of the moderately active selling; strength in securities helped to support the market here. Wheat closed 1/4c lower than yesterday, September 70c@70 1/4c; December 71 1/4@72c.

Wall St. Reports

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A ripple of confidence ran through Wall Street today and stocks made a general rally.

Gains, which in instances were as much as three points, improved by fractions at the close, but the rate of transaction was spasmodic. About 400,000 shares changed hands.

Foremost in the calculations of the traders was the Royal Air force "show" against the German air armadas. Observers noted growing optimism toward the chances of England to resist invasion.

Adding to this psychology was the constant rise, as spotted in various indices, of American industrial activity under the spur of rearmament.

ALTURAS EDITOR TO LAST REWARD

Alturas, Calif., Aug. 21.—(AP)—R. A. French, publisher of the Alturas Plaindealer, died today in a Sacramento hotel. He was the father of Harry French who shot and killed Claude McCracken, publisher of the Modoc Mail, three years ago in a newspaper feud. Harry French is serving a life sentence for murder.

To You — From Washington by Ethelyn Evans

Washington, (Spl.)—Oregon state society shatters another national capital custom: Heretofore, these state societies end up with a flourishing party—come May or June—each spring, and call it a year! But with everybody who is anybody still on hand, the Oregon organization has gone right on having bang-up parties. A few nights ago some 150 Oregonians met around several blazing campfires in our beautiful Rock Creek park ate luscious picnic foods galore, and competed enthusiastically for the prizes awarded on a western sports program, including some right fancy races and horseshoe pitching.

Not all Oregon senators, congressmen and officials could break away from national affairs to be present, but each sent family or confidential secretary to represent him.

But a mere 150 picnickers represent a very small proportion of Oregonians floating about Washington. It might be interesting, if possible, to find out the actual number, who they are, how close a tie binds them to Oregon, how many vote or pay taxes in the home state, et cetera. Of course, most of us here are hyphenated residents: Capital-Oregonians, Capital-Missourians, Capital-whatevers; so few are honest-to-goodness natives of the District of Columbia. Oregon's Mrs. Charles L. McNary is, however—born and reared in Washington, D. C., notwithstanding the fact that recent news articles list Chicago as her home.

"THE Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia" formed the starting point for my recent motor-gallop north through New York's Adirondacks, New Hampshire's White Mountains, Vermont's Green Mountains—with a dip down to the Massachusetts shoreline, including famous Plymouth Rock—always hoping for a cool, cool breeze, as a by-product of this professional trip with the n.h. Jumps were too long and stops too short for a recent chat with "You."

But now I must pass on my

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest, it may just decay in the bowels. There gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. realization that "recreation," these modern times, has become "big" business with a vengeance. It is actually the "one" industry in some of these states and "powerful" important in others. While the business of recreation is, of course, nationwide, the concentration of population in this corner of the country makes it outstanding.

Long abandoned farms have been restored as inns, camps, youth hostels, glorified "Dude" ranches (Eastern style) or into beautiful country homes of wealthy and important people. Such well known folk as Dorothy Thompson, Sinclair Lewis, Westbrook Pegler, Booth Tarkington, Alexander Wolcott, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, and many others spend most of their time in such homes. These "national" citizens join the local churches and committees and get themselves elected as town "selectmen" (councilmen, to you!)—and a township in New England corresponds to a county in the west. They donate lectures, articles and plays, and often act in the summer playhouses. In fact, they become definitely a part of the community and active local citizens—a privilege denied them in 34 cities.

LIKEWISE, the charming villages dotting the highways buzz busily each night with tourists, domiciled in once remote, even "snooty", colonial homes. The huge hotels are filled, also, but not with the old time rocking-chair brigades on the wide verandas. The guests now are hoards of restless, ever onward moving motorists. All the historic handicraft arts are in full flower—beautiful and useful articles are made and sold on the spot in the attractive shops one finds at every crossroad.

Astonishingly, in the mountain and lake regions, the deep winter season is just as busy as the merry-making summer months. Not only at some of our most famous winter-sports resorts, but practically every tiny village or farm with a nearby hill or pond is crowded each winter week end. I am told that my favorite little country inn in Vermont (at the foot of Bromley Mountain) which boasts that it hath neither telephone nor electric lights, is forced to turn sitting-rooms and curtained off corridors into dormitories to accommodate winter-sports lovers. Naturally, all this panting urge for outdoor recreation keeps industrial wheels spinning all down the line—hence 'tis big business.

GIANT Pacific coast crabs—caught, cooked on the spot, and shipped in refrigerator cars to New York, Washington and other eastern cities—are sold here at practically the local, western retail price—35c each. The newspapers are printing detailed instructions on approved shells and means of removing snails, eating, et cetera. Well—

I found last season that you folks were gleefully gobbling huge, fresh Lynnhaven oysters from this coast. I failed to check on comparative prices.

A CAPITOL pilgrimage is listed on my tomorrow's itinerary, also visits to certain women's study groups,—being curious about how some folks actually feel about this "selective service" furore. Mrs. Roosevelt might have known whereof she spoke, at her last conference, here when she kept urging "universal training"—non-combatant—because our youth was not ready for the responsibility of the military conscription idea. But, intermittently, the firm voices of organizations such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Sons of Legionnaires, and others speaking in favor of the principle, can be heard above the clamor of the American Youth Congress and other modern youth groups. Strictly "political" writers simply wallow in news clover nowadays—with political news waves rolling over and all but swamping them. Sour grapes? Mayhap!
