Large Crowd Views Night Acquacade At Topsides

Over two hundred valley residents were present last evening at the Moonlight Acquacade sponsored by the Jackson County League of Women Voters at the beautiful estate of the Alfred S. V. Carpenters.

A dozen or more lovely girls, all competent swimmers, performed in the acquacade, the climax of which was a patriotic scene with streamers of red, white and blue being floated the length of the lighted pool to recording tunes of "God Bless America." Completing the picture were large stars held at the far end of the pool by several of the mermaids.

The affair was cleverly opened by Miss Callista Farrell's spectacular dive through a large paper hoop.

An interesting feature of the evening was the Gay Nineties review in which the bevy of young ladies modeled gowns and other wearing apparel of an early vintage. Particularly noticeable was the contrast in a bathing suit of a generation ago modeled by Miss Callista Farrell and the one in which she appeared in the acquacade.

Between scenes of the acquacade were other swimming features. Dick Sleeter's exhibition of a variety of difficult dives brought loud applause from the audience. Later Mr. Sleeter and Miss Marjorie Kelly formed a team to display feats of rhythmic swimming, as did the Misses Peggy Scherer and Julie Carpenter.

No water show is complete without a bit of comedy and this was amply supplied by Harry Thurman, Wilson Church and Harlow Carpenter whose funny antics were appreciated especially by the slightly damp spectators whose ringside seats were vulnerable places for water sprays when the comedians successfully executed a number of pile dives from the board into mid-pool.

Following the entire program, guests mingled in the gardens and yard of Topsides. Many tables for bridge were set up in rooms both upstairs and downstairs of the attractive home and refreshments were served.

The following aqua belles and models appeared in the highly successful entertainment:

The Misses Helene and Jeanne Salade, Peggy Gardner, Jean Schuler, Susan Vilas, Nina Tuttle, Patricia and Callista Farrell, Lois Pringle, Nan Tengwald, Deborah Tunny, Julie Carpenter, Peggy Scherer of San Francisco, Cal., Ruddy Hale of Lake Forest, Ill., Carol Tengwald, Ann and Phoebe Dean, Patricia Thompson, Mary Lou Lyman, Alicia Ruhl and Charity Hart.

Miss Helene Salade was organizer, director and trainer of the unique acquacade and Leonard Carpenter acted as master of ceremonies.

Festival Plans for Next Year Will Be Formed Tonight

Plans for the 1941 Shakespearean Festival will be discussed in a meeting of the executive committee of the Festival Association in Ashland tonight at 7:30 p.m., according to word received here today.

While business heads are winding up the last of the present season, definite moves will be mapped for the continuation of this unique venture through another year. Details are not expected to be worked out tonight, but major phases of production continuation will be taken under consideration.

Financial returns for the season which closed last Saturday in Ashland's outdoor civic Elizabethan theatre have not been tabulated. It is expected that the box office and sponsoring membership receipts will be lowered as a result of the disastrous blaze which last Thursday night swept through the dressing rooms and storage rooms back stage and consumed nearly 60 per cent of all the costumes. Total extent of the damage is not known although production heads estimate the loss at nearly $2,000.

Virtually all the remaining costumes, along with stage props, office equipment and other belongings of the Festival were being classified and stored this week. Both Director William David Cottrell and Art Director Lois M. Bowmer have been busy cataloging the properties and storing equipment.

Participants in the plays have been returning to their homes the fore part of this week leaving a barren and forlorn appearance at the once-busy theatre. A few of the out-of-town players are still in Ashland but plan to leave by the end of the week.

Results of tonight's meeting will decide what courses will be followed in line with plans for another year. Festival heads believe that some form of progress should be carried on throughout the entire year, instead of launching all phases of the productions less than three months before presentation dates.

Ashland Church Scene of Wedding Rites Wednesday

One of the season's loveliest weddings was an event of yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at the Presbyterian church in Ashland when Miss Beverly Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bowman became the bride of David Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rawles Moore of Medford. The Rev. J. H. Edgar united the couple in marriage using the double ring ceremony.

The two rings had been made from the plain gold wedding band of the bridegroom's great grandmother.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Bowman, wore an exquisite dress of white marquisette with lace insets. Her face veil fell from a small coronet of white lace and she carried a bridal bouquet of pastel roses and bavaudia.

Miss Floy Young was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a turquoise gown with full pleated skirt.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Lois Hogan of Reedsport and Marian Moore, sister of the bridegroom. The former wore a turquoise chiffon frock and carried a bouquet of pink asters. Miss Moore's dress was of peach colored chiffon and her flowers were lavender asters.

Jack Thompson of Medford was best man and ushers were Russel Jordan, Bob Roet and Floyd Loomis.

Prior to the wedding, Miss Constance Moore, also a sister of the bridegroom, sang "Because" and "Oh Perfect Love." She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. J. W. McCoy of Ashland.

Vows were spoken at the altar which was decorated with white gladioli. Pastel gladioli decorated the rest of the church. A reception followed the impressive ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Messdames D. R. Smith, McCoy and F. C. Dillard of Eugene assisted about the rooms.

Mrs. Bowman wore a dusty rose and white sheer dress at her daughter's wedding and Mr. Moore's mother wore navy blue sheer and white accessories.

The couple left later for a wedding trip to the south. They will make their home in Los Angeles, Cal., where Mr. Moore is associated with Douglas aircraft company.

Among Medford guests at the wedding were Miss Helen Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Or In Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wing and daughter, Charlotte and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olson and daughters, Dortha and Barbara, Mrs. Myron Root, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Collins and children, Miss Helen Bullis, Mr. and Mrs. Porter J. Neff, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray and Mrs. Harris Jones.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Juanita Young of San Francisco, Cal., Jean Ramsden of Portland, Miss Eva Gadoway and mother of Pendleton, Mr. McCaffery of San Francisco, Ken Turner of Wheeler, Mrs. Moore Kaufman of Frankfort, Ken, Mrs. Ned Williams of Cheyenne, Wyoming and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dillard, former Medford residents now living in Eugene, and their daughter, Miss Kat'leen.

He recently received orders of transfer to Pensacola, Florida where he will be an instructor in aviation for two years. The couple plan to leave for the Florida city after their Medford stay.

While here they will visit Mrs. Dew's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Burgess and Mr. Dew's father, I. A. Dew and his two sisters, Mrs. Stephen Nye, Jr., and Mrs. Russell Sherwood.

Blackwatch Moves Faster Than A Goosestep

A flock of geese gets out of the way—with dignity—as members of the Black Watch are skirled out of quarters in answer to a practice alarm on England's South coast. The piper's by the fence. The Watch fought with the B.E.F. in Belgium. Now, back in England, it's on duty to mop up any parachute invaders who drop in.

Mrs. Robert King Is Brief Caller

Brief visitors in Medford this morning were Mrs. Robert King of San Francisco, Cal., and Miss Helen Henrikson of Aberdeen, Wash. They were en route north by motorcar, where Mrs. King will join her husband, Lieut. King, in making their home on American lake.

Miss Henrikson had been visiting them and is now returning to her Aberdeen home.

The two were guests this morning for breakfast of Mrs. George Robertson at the Hotel Medford.

Love's Old Dream

Life Story of Leon Trotsky

Tranquility and freedom from fear was something Trotsky had never known. Born Le Davidovich Bronstein in the village of Yanovka on Nov. 7, 1879, Trotsky was engaged in revolutionary activity at an age when most youths are still playing games.

At 17 he was leader of a revolutionary organization called the union of south Russian workmen. As such he was arrested in January, 1898, and sent to Siberia for four years.

He escaped, wandered about over Europe and finally, in London, met Lenin. He returned to Russia, never ceasing to plot against the czar, and was again exiled to Siberia from whence he again escaped.

During the war Trotsky was expelled from France and in 1917 went to the United States from where he was recalled to aid in establishment of the communist regime.

The quarrel with Stalin after Lenin's death was a long one and Stalin, preferring consolidation of Russia's strength to attempts at world revolution, won a complete victory.

From Mexico, denouncing Soviet "bureaucracy," Trotsky urged the Russian masses to rebel against Stalin's "deformed and degenerated workers' state."

He summoned the proletariat of the world to revolution.

"If there is a revolution of the proletariat in France," he said, "there will be one in Germany, even in time of war."

"I am sure that the only way to have success for the Soviet union is to have revolutions in Germany and Japan."

"If we admit the idea of a world war without a social revolution outside the Soviet, the defeat of the Soviet is inevitable."

But world revolution must come, Trotsky felt.

"For every 10 workers who stand firm (for revolution)," he said, "there will arise 100 more at their sides."
