Billy Hulén Says:

Cleveland, Cincy Seem Certain to Clash in Series

It looks like an all-Ohio World Series, all right, with Cleveland and Cincinnati coming to grips in the annual classic for the baseball championship of the universe . . . Feller appears to have a great chance to cop 30 games for the Indians, which should help plenty in bringing them under the American league wire first . . . the Reds, with Derringer and Walters, look far too strong for the rest of the National loop nines.

When Alan Wray was chased out of that softball game at Salem last Monday night, as Wooden Box trimmed Forest Grove 12 to 2, it was his first and only ouster from a softball or baseball contest in seven years of competition . . . Al spouted indignation when he was sent back to second base after scoring on what he believed was a throw from the catcher to the keystone . . . the amps thought otherwise, however, claiming the receiver was just heaving the ball back to the pitcher.

The gross gate of the Medford Roundup Days rodeo last week-end was something over $2,600, the government tax amounting to almost $300 . . . the Medford Athletic association's cut of the proceeds amounted to less than $100 net, due to heavy expenditure on pens, chutes, corrals, advertising, etc. . . . The Salem Senators of the Western International league are doing so poorly at the gate that the club will finish in the red this year if it doesn't sell two or three players for good prices.

Paul Zimmerman of the Los Angeles Times reports: "I asked Babe Horrell (U.C.L.A. coach) who would be the best half-back on the coast this year . . . and quicker than you can say Jack Robinson he said 'Jack Robinson' . . . Butch Nelson, the former Salem high line-plunger, is already tabbed number one understudy to Oregon's Marshall Stenstrom come fall.

Howard Hobson's basketball Webfoots, in making their third straight barnstorming jaunt to New York City next winter, will clash with these opponents: Long Island university (in Madison Square Garden), Temple, Duquesne, Bradley Tech, Oklahoma and Canisius . . . four of last year's five regulars will return for more action and Hobby is optimistic regarding the quintet's chances to win the northern division championship of the Pacific Coast conference.

KATBALL TOURNEY IN SEMI-FINALS

Salem, Aug. 23.—(P)—The Pendleton Elks and Salem Square Deal teams reached the semi-final round of the state softball tournament last night. Thirteen hundred fans turned out to watch Harvey Griffin pitch Pendleton to a 4-1 triumph over the region City Elks. He allowed three hits.

Salem Square Deal tied the score with the Bonneville Engineers in the ninth inning and went on to win, 4-3, in the 10th. Willis, Bonneville pitcher, hurled a three-hit game but got poor support.

BOB HARDY'S TEAMMATE PITCHES NO-HIT GAME

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 23.—(U.P.)—Les Mueller, a lanky, right-hander, pitched a no-hit, no-run game last night for Beaumont of the Texas league. His no-hitter brought Beaumont a 1 to 0 victory over Dallas in the first game of a double-header. It was his 15th victory of the season against nine losses.

'Atherton Axe' Chops 10 Gridders From College Rosters

CHARGE TROJANS, CAL AND BRUINS WITH VIOLATION

Schools Claimed Guilty of Enticement—No Mention of Northwest Colleges

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—(U.P.)—The "Atherton Axe" cracked down on three California universities today and deprived them of 10 promising football players. The blow fell heaviest on the University of California, sponsor of the Atherton investigation and the school which put the sharpest edge on the instrument against proselyting.

A statement issued from the office of Pacific Coast Conference Athletic Commissioner Edwin N. Atherton declared California, Southern California and California at Los Angeles had been guilty of seeking to entice the athletes to enroll in their institutions.

No mention was made of Stanford or the northwest schools that are members of the Pacific coast conference.

The athletes who were named in the ruling and the schools for which they cannot compete in athletics, were:

Cal Losses 6
California: Jack Armitage, Los Angeles high school; Henry Binkley, Narbonne high of Los Angeles; Gustave Kroesen, Jr., Narbonne; Herbert Olds, Redondo Union; George Phillips, Fremont high of Los Angeles, and Willard Sheller, Compton high.

U.C.L.A.: Tharen Hodges, Alhambra high, and John Petrovich, also of Alhambra.

Southern California: Petrovich, Theodore O'Lea and Loren La Padre, the latter two from Phoenix, Ariz., high.

Schmidt's statement named no specific instances of proselyting; it merely declared the athletes were barred from competing from those universities by "reason of activities of representatives of, or persons connected or associated with the institutions, in violation of the conference rules."

REDSKIN GRIDMEN TIP WEST, 17-14

Seattle, Aug. 23.—(P)—The eastern All-Stars defeated the west 17-14 in Seattle's first professional football game, held in Sick's stadium last night before a throng of 13,000 for the benefit of the kiddies war rescue fund.

The teams were made up of the members of the Washington, D. C., Redskins, who have been in training for their league campaign in Spokane.

A four period goal by Bo Russell, formerly of Auburn, gave the easterners victory. A pair of former Pacific northwest collegiate stars gave the west its two touchdowns. Jimmy Johnston, former Washington star, scored on a three-yard plunge and Max Krause, former Gonzaga back, scored in a one-man plunging show that carried him 16 yards in four smashes.

Dick Todd, formerly of Texas A. & M., scored both eastern touchdowns.

Headlock Master

Shreveport, Louisiana's gift to the wrestling industry, Jack Hagen (above), will display his skill against Bobby Wagner in the opening event of Monday night's program in the armory. Hagen is one of the best headlockers in the business.

BRAWL EXPECTED WHEN BELCASTRO FACES NAZARIAN

Having disposed of Ernie Piluso last Monday eve to run his Medford winning streak to four in a row, Mean Mike Nazarian is looking ahead to next Monday night when he will attempt to knock off his fifth straight wrestling opponent in the person of Pete Belcastro, the Mad Italian from Weed, Cal.

Promoter Mack Lillard, in signing Nazarian and Belcastro for the one-hour main event, took into consideration the fact that both gents are out and out alley brawlers and that the match, anyway you look at it, should be one of the bloodiest and wildest seen in the armory in several months.

Belcastro has a reputation for being a great winning-streak breaker. Many times grapplers have put together unbeaten strings; then, Pete comes along and belts them over. He has popped off to the effect that Nazarian has been lucky the past month, but that he'll need more than a prayer to keep his record unblemished when the gong rings Monday.

Ernie Piluso, who has copped two of his last three bouts, will attempt to regain main-event billing when he tangles with Otis Clingman in the six-round middle event. It will be a clean, scientific match, as both boys know what it is all about as regards legitimate wrestling.

Two more lily-white matmen will be seen in the opener, pitting Bobby Wagner against young Jack Hagen, the headlock expert from Shreveport, La.

BEAVERS GUNNING FOR LOSS RECORD OF COAST LEAGUE

By the Associated Press
The Portland Beavers, it appears, are gunning for a Pacific Coast league record.

A month ago one would have said the Beavers hadn't a chance to break the circuit's all-time low.

That mark, set by an earlier generation of Portland fly-chasers, has stood since 1921—a season's percentage of .276 (51 games won, 134 lost).

But the basement burnd has gone at the thing with the will to succeed. In three and a half weeks they have won three out of 25, and stand 53½ games behind the pace-setting Seattle Rainiers.

At the rate of less than a win a week, and only 3½ weeks to go, the possibilities are obvious. Right now the Beavers stand at .304 with 45 wins and 103 losses.

That includes last night's session at San Diego. The Padres won, 8 to 4, for a clean-swept three-game series. The Beavers gave their admirers a fright by leading 4 to 2 until the eighth inning. Then they braced and blew six runs and the ball game.

There was only one other league game, and in it Hollywood beat Oakland 3 to 0, behind three-hit pitching by Hiram Bithorn.

UPSETS FEATURE DOUBLES TOURNEY

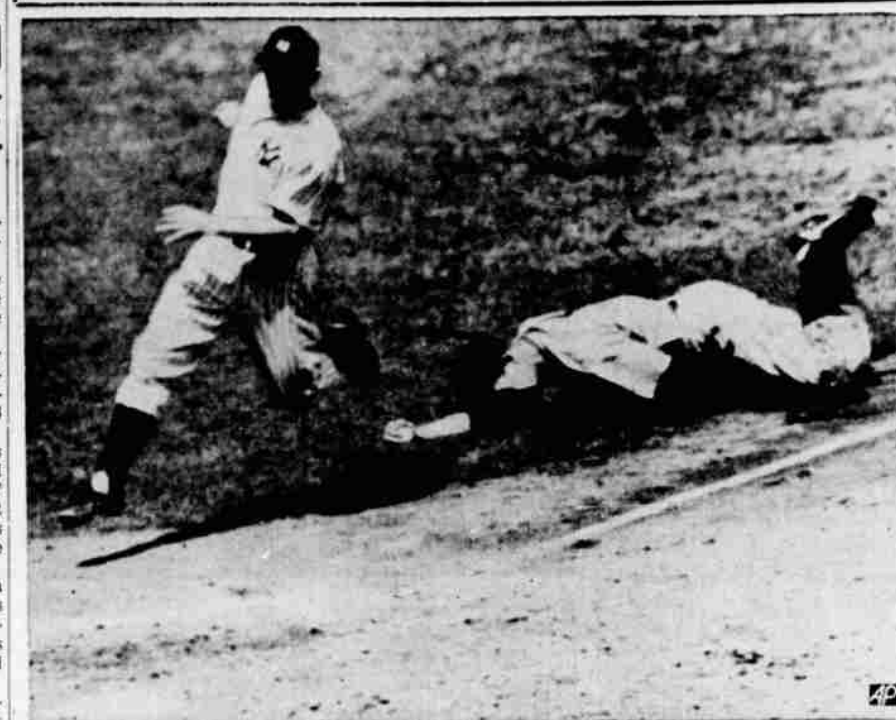

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 23.—(P)—Unseeded semi-finalists threatened the steady march of favorites today in both the men's and women's divisions of the national doubles tennis tourney, as the competition entered the second last round of play at Longwood.

Two capable southerners, Russell Bobbitt, of Atlanta, and Frank Guernsey, of Orlando, Fla., provided the competition with its first upset by blasting out the second-seeded team, Bobby Riggs, of Chicago and Welby Van Horn, of Los Angeles, 6-2, 7-5, 3-6, 8-6.

The No. 2 seeding on the women's list was another jinxed spot, for Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Austin, Tex., and Dorothy Bundy, of Santa Monica, Cal., unranked in the draw, disposed of Margaret Osborne, of San Francisco, and Pauline Betz, of Beverly Hills, Cal., in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, in another surprising quarter-finals match.

Helena, Mont.—(P)—News spread that somebody was "going to get a public bath" on Main and Edwards streets and crowds gathered. It turned out that a crew of workmen were going to clean a bank building.

Rowe Hurt In Collision With Selkirk

Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit Tiger pitcher, is shown as he was knocked unconscious in the second inning of a game with the New York Yankees when he tried to tag George Selkirk. Yank outfielder shown scoring from third. The game, first of a doubleheader, was won by the Yankees, 4 to 3.

New York Grid Giants Drill To Be Soldiers—McLemore

By Henry McLemore
United Press Staff Correspondent
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 23.—(U.P.)—The big fellow in the sport coat called to me clear across the paddock.

"Want something good? Something real good. I mean."

I didn't waste any time getting to him, because the big fellow was Tim Mara, for years one of the top bookmakers, and when he gives you a "good thing" it usually comes down in front or is close enough to have its picture taken at the finish.

"Lemme have it, pal," I said. "The things I've bet on so far couldn't beat Sophie Tucker in a class C handicap, and it's a long walk back to New York." "It isn't a horse I want to tell you about," Mara said. "It's about my Giants. You know, the New York Giants of the pro league."

"I'll save the giants for October," I said. "Tell me about something that can find a hole near the rail, not off tackle; something that involves horse hide, not pig skin."

"Wait'll you hear about the Giants," Mara answered. "Wait'll you hear what they are doing right now. Listen, they're drilling. Drilling to be soldiers. And they're going to keep on drilling until they know enough to qualify as real soldiers."

Then Mara explained his contribution to national defense. From now on, his football players will spend part of each day training to be soldiers. They started yesterday, 50 of them, under the direction of Captain Bill Wood, coach of the West Point football team. Mara has equipped them with rifles rented from the Ives Costume company of Broadway, and plans to buy them military uniforms in the near future. At the present time they are marching in football pants, shoulder pads, blue jerseys and cleated shoes.

"This isn't any nut idea," Mara said. "These are dangerous days and the more men we get ready for trouble, the better. Who figures to be a better soldier than a football player? He is physically perfect, accustomed to hardship, likes the tough going, and is mentally quick. Suppose every football squad, professional and college, adopted our idea? It would provide this country with thousands of trained, conditioned boys and men—boys and men of the type best fitted for leadership. I have seen enough of football to know that it is a game in which only the game and the fit survive. And that is the type you need in case of war."

Mara's idea makes sense to me. Why not have the athletes of this country prepare for military service? Prepare and play their games at the same time. It would make a happy combination, and, if I know the athletes of this country as well as I think I do, they would welcome the chance. Maybe Mara did have a "good thing" after all.
