

2 AMERICANS DIE IN SUDAN DURING ITALIAN ATTACK

Cairo, Aug. 30.—(P)—The governor general of the Sudan announced today that two American missionaries were killed and two wounded by "deliberate" Italian machine-gunning of an isolated missionary post in the Sudan.

The governor-general of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan is a British officer appointed by Egypt with British assent. Administration, however, is carried out through British district commissioners.

The large territory, just south of Egypt, has been under repeated Italian attack, particularly on the eastern frontier near Gallabat, opposite Ethiopia and Kassala, opposite Eritrea.

The governor's report said that two Italian planes attacked Doro, an isolated station of the Sudan interior mission, in Upper Nile province about 55 miles southwest of Kurkuk, August 23.

At least 30 bombs were dropped and then the Italian fliers used their machine-guns, the reports said.

Of the staff of five persons, it said, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Grievie were killed and Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Oglesby were wounded.

All were Americans. (Addresses not given).

A Miss Walsh, an Australian, was unhurt.

The Grievies were said to have run out of the mission station waving a large American flag but that this failed to ward off the machine-gun attack by the Italians.

They're Happy To Be Home Again

A., clasp hands with Mrs. Florence Harriman, United States minister to Norway, celebrating their safe return to New York City after a perilous voyage from Petsamo, Finland. The American Legion carried 897 passengers, all war refugees, and made the return trip through blockaded and mine infested European waters.

Two boys of the Marway tribe nearby also were wounded.

The missionary station was described as "absolutely isolated with no sort of military objective in the vicinity."

U. S. Envoy Killed.

Washington, Aug. 30.—(P)—The state department said today an American consular official in Belgium was killed and another injured in an automobile accident yesterday near Cologne, Germany.

No Surplus Seen.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 30.—(P)—Land reclaimed by Grand Coulee dam will not add to America's agricultural surpluses, Floyd O. Hagie, secretary-manager of the National Reclamation association, said last night.

FISH LIFE STORY TOLD BY SCALES BIOLOGIST SAYS

Solomons, Md., Aug. 30.—(P)—Fish scales were described today as virtual "biographies" telling not only the age, but the origin of fish and how many times they have spawned.

They also tell, more accurately than heretofore possible, whether shad or rock are being "over-fished" to extinction in any given locality.

This new technic, vastly important in conservation, was developed by Dr. R. A. Nesbit of the U. S. fish and wild life service and David H. Wallace of the Chesapeake biological laboratory here.

Scales of fish are better age indicators than teeth in horses. They show annual growth "rings" much like the annual rings in trees, Wallace explained.

These "rings" appear on that portion of the scales shaped like an inverted "V" which lies next to the skin. Under microscopes, they show up as blank spaces where new scale was not laid down due to slowed growth during winter.

The scale's first-year rate of growth depends upon such factors as the aquatic environment as food supply, salinity, and temperature. By measuring this growth, Wallace can tell whether a fish was born in the Hudson river, off North Carolina, in Chesapeake bay, or even in what part of the Chesapeake bay tributaries.

CHILLY WEATHER PERKS UP TRADE

New York, Aug. 30.—(P)—Chill weather boomed retail trade in many communities this week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"Buying was particularly spirited in women's and children's apparel and in home furnishings lines," the mercantile agency said, "but trade benefited generally from the increase in store traffic."

"Advertised specials in furniture, blankets, back-to-school wear and furs were said to have attracted good response."

"For the second consecutive week comparisons of retail trade volume with those of a year ago revealed a slight widening of the margin of gain."

M'NARY FAILS TO LISTEN TO RIVAL

Salem, Ore., Aug. 30.—(P)—Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican nominee for vice-president, said today he had "no comment" on the acceptance speech of Henry A. Wallace, Democratic vice presidential nominee at Des Moines.

Senator McNary, resting at his Fircone farm five miles north of Salem, did not hear Wallace's speech. He said he had intended to listen, but thought it was scheduled later in the day than it was.

Early today Senator McNary motored into Salem where he had several appointments. A number of conferences are scheduled for today.
