

Happy Crowds in Holiday Spirit Enjoy 8th Annual Fair at Gold Hill

QUEEN INA FIRST RULES GLORIOUSLY OVER GAY EVENT

Americans Should be Thankful for Peace, Plenty, Chairman Howes States.

Gold Hill, Aug. 31.—(Sp)—Crowds in holiday mood today enjoyed the eighth annual northwest Jackson county fair put on by this small but enterprising city.

The prediction of William Howes, general chairman of the fair board, that the eighth annual fair would be "bigger and better" actually came true. The crowds were bigger, the livestock exhibits were bigger, there were 1,400 exhibits all told as against 750 last year, the free barbecue was bigger and everyone agreed that everything was better.

Coming at the end of an exciting day, a dance tonight brought the fair to a close. The dance, in the spacious Gold Hill pavilion, was to continue well into Sunday morning.

Throng At Barbecue
Close to 3,000 persons were treated to the fair's famous free barbecue dinner on the soft, green lawn of the school house on the sloping hill overlooking the city. The tantalizing aroma wafting from the barbecue pits all afternoon whetted appetites so that the thousands of visitors needed no coaxing to accept generous helpings.

Fires in two barbecue pits were laid at 4:00 a. m. and the beef was started cooking at 5:00. From then on F. H. Pinkerton and Mrs. Jeannette Greer spent their time cooking the big meal. And it was big: 700 pounds of the finest steer beef, 200 pounds of potatoes, 25 gallons of brown gravy, and 50 gallons of coffee, to say nothing of large quantities of butter, cheese, pickles, cream and other incidentals.

Over all this joyous activity reigned with majestic poise and regal generosity Queen Ina I, Miss Ina Pearl Lucas of Sams Valley Grange, Assisting Queen Ina were Princesses Edith Howes, Gold Hill Grange, Virginia Centers, Gold Hill Garden club, Charlotte Carter, Live Oak Grange, and Geneva Moore, Wimer Grange.

Gives fervent speech
Crowning of the queen was held during the morning parade that started activities for the day. The coronation address was given by Dennis McGuire, school superintendent. During the coronation Mayor R. G. Wigle turned over the emblematic key of the city to General Chairman Howes. In a brief but fervent acceptance speech, Mr. Howes pointed to the destruction, famine and suffering in Europe, emphasized the "bounteous productivity of our land as shown by the fine exhibits at our fair" and declared that "we should all be thankful that we live in this glorious nation, the best country in the world."

Like Oak, Gold Hill and Sams Valley Granges again had booths which the judges described as excellent. This year, however, the booths were not classified but equal prizes were awarded to all meeting specified minimum requirements.

Fowler is judge
Exhibits showed a wide range of subject matter and much interest was shown in them throughout the day. R. G. Fowler, Jackson county agent, and O. K. Beals, Josephine county agent, were judges of livestock. Mr. Fowler also took part in other judging.

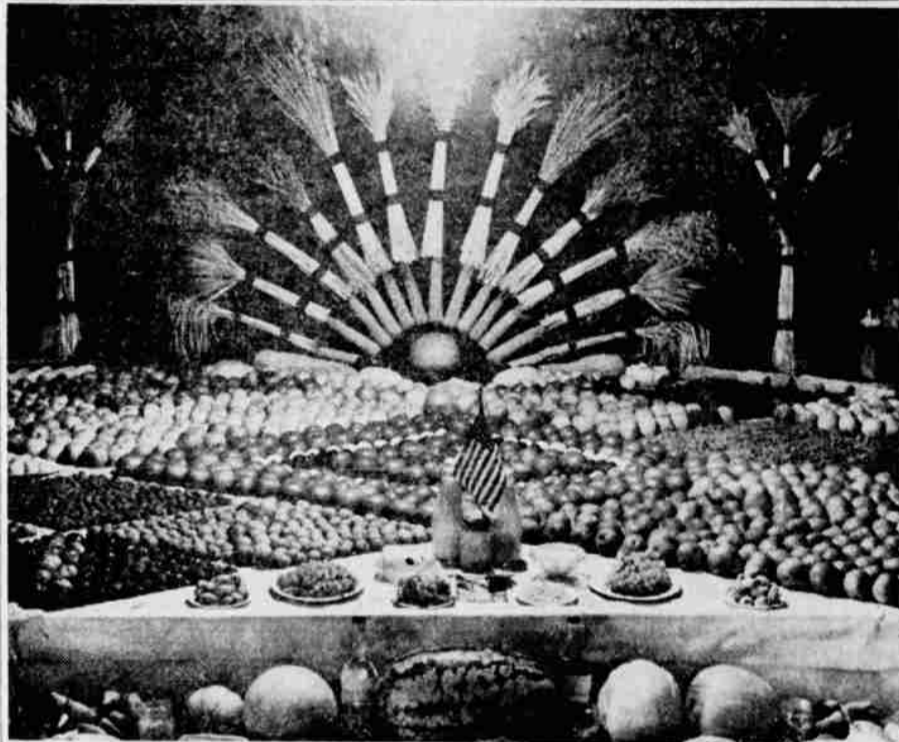

A full afternoon of sports, games and contests occupied children and grown-ups alike, many prizes being awarded winners.

PRESIDENT LAUDS NEW DEAL GAINS IN SEVEN YEARS

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(P)—President Roosevelt said in a Labor Day statement tonight that wage earners, farmers and business men could view with satisfaction the improvement in their lot and that of the nation "in the last seven years."

That improvement has come, he asserted, "largely as a result of a far-reaching economic and social program conceived in democratic principles and dedicated to the common good."

Because of the defense program, Mr. Roosevelt said, this Labor Day calls for a more than ordinary observance, and for the dedication of labor, management, farmers and government to a common purpose of protecting and continuing "this great democracy."

He assured wage earners that their contribution would not be "at the cost of lowered labor standards or impaired social advances." These wage earners, he said, are well aware of the great economic and social gains they have made "in the last seven years."

Material and economic advances since 1933, the president said, "have been accomplished in a democracy, for a democracy and by a democracy and they can only be retained and expanded through a continuation of the principles and practices to which we as a nation have always been committed and which we are determined shall be unchanged."

Washington, Aug. 31.—(P)—The defense commission, in a pre-Labor Day statement, endorsed today the 40-hour work week in defense industries and urged strict compliance with all labor standards laws.

War Calendar

By the Associated Press
British in first raid on heart of Berlin; Germans again raid London—thus Europe's big belligerents marked the end of one year of war in Europe.

On Sept. 1, 1939, Adolf Hitler, his territorial demands rebuffed, ordered his legions into Poland. Britain and France declared war on Germany two days later.

Since then France, Poland, Denmark, Norway, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg have fallen. Of the powers challenging Hitler, Britain alone remains in the fight.

Cost:
In blood, estimated: 3,300,000 to 5,300,000 dead, wounded and missing.

In ships, merchant and naval: more than 3,075,655 tons.

In planes: the British say the Germans have lost more than 4,000; the Germans say British losses exceed 5,000. Neither side admits more than a mere fraction of these figures.

Italy, who came in just before France surrendered, claims more than 300 planes destroyed, admits less than 60 losses of her own. Italian-British shipping losses likewise have been few.

In destruction: Here again there is a big spread between claims and admissions. Much of the low countries, northern France and Poland is devastated. But as for Germany and Britain, the censor's pencil largely has hidden.

Germany reports that within 12 months nazi airmen have dropped 5,000,000 bombs weighing more than 75,000 tons and enough to fill 50 American trains of 30 cars each.

The British say they too, have dumped countless tons of bombs on Germany and the territory she has conquered.

PIERCE ALLEN TO SHOW 1941 MODEL PLYMOUTH SOON

Plymouths for 1941 will be on display at Pierce Allen Motor company's completely redecorated showrooms within the next few days, according to a statement made by L. C. Taylor, owner, upon his return from the Plymouth preview in Portland last Thursday.

Mr. Taylor said, in commenting on the new Dodge which is expected soon. "It has been years since the automobile industry has produced an operating improvement approaching in newness and general interest the Fluid Drive which will be featured in 1941 Dodge models."

In consequence there is widespread curiosity regarding the question—how and to what advantage the power of the automobile engine, ordinarily passed to the car's rear wheels through fixed mechanical connection, is now transmitted in an entirely different fashion, namely through a body of oil.

A plain and homespun explanation of the Fluid Drive is one given by the Dodge company's vice president and director of sales, Forest H. Akers. "Our Fluid Drive," says Mr. Akers, "is mounted between the crankshaft and the clutch, where it takes the place of the conventional flywheel. The installation is of extreme simplicity, for it consists of only two working parts—two bowl-shaped shells of steel into which a series of evenly spaced blades or fins are welded.

"One of these bowl-shaped shells is mounted—its open end facing toward the rear—one the end of the engine crankshaft; it is called the driver or impeller; the other Fluid Drive part, similar in construction to the first one, is mounted on the drive shaft of the car in such a way that its open end faces the impeller—almost, but not quite, touching it.

"The two Fluid Drive parts, impeller and runner, are surrounded by a tightly sealed steel housing—and this housing is filled with two gallons of oil. That is all there is, mechanically, to the Dodge Fluid Drive; it is, in effect, a two-section power train with a gap in the center of the Fluid Drive unit, where oil is made the medium to carry driving energy from one section of the unit to the other.

The operator of the new Fluid Drive Dodge has it in his power to drive, if he wishes, the way he has always driven. Or he may do 90 percent of his normal driving with the gear shift left in 'high.' He may stop the car without releasing the clutch pedal; he may ascend hills in 'high' at speeds as low as one mile per hour, stopping midway on the incline, then starting again, with the gears still in 'high.'

Honeymoon Tragedy

Corvallis, Aug. 31.—(P)—William Snider, a Tacoma, Wash., bridegroom, died yesterday, a few hours after a car driven by his bride crashed into a ditch 12 miles south of here. Mrs. Snider apparently went to sleep at the wheel. She was not seriously injured.

'JUNGLE TOWN' IS ABOUT FINISHED

Between fire and a police clean-up, there won't be any Jungle Town left by the end of the week.

Because the residential neighborhood was growing up around Jungle Town, situated at the south end of Fir street, the police department last week began tearing down and carting away the unrestricted subdivision's wood, cardboard and tin shanties of unorthodox architectural design erected by and for the exclusive use of transients on their uppers.

Late Friday afternoon fire came to the aid of the police and wiped out three of the shacks. The police had already removed three. There remained only four which will be removed this week.

What caused the fire was not determined. Employees at the adjacent warehouse of the California Oregon Power company laid a hose line and put the fire out.
