

Copco Crusaders Spread "Better Light-Better Sight" Message

Employing a fleet of 19 brightly decorated trailer-trucks, The California Oregon Power Company is bringing attractive portable displays of the newest certified lamps right to the homes of southern Oregon and northern California people. This unique method of furthering the current "Better Light-Better Sight" campaign, recently launched by Copco and electrical dealers throughout the company's territory, is attracting wide-spread attention. Each of the 19 trailer-trucks is equipped with a complete attractively arranged display of latest types of certified lamps. Copco salesmen, armed with last-minute knowledge of scientific home lighting, and light meters which accurately measure the light in every room, accompany the portable displays on the house-to-house better lighting crusade. Independent electrical dealers in all communities throughout the territory are participating in the comprehensive lighting campaign and offering their patrons the savings possible through the "75 per cent Discount Plan". Top: View of one of Copco's smartly decorated trailer-trucks which carry portable displays of certified lamps to homes of this area. Center: Glimpse of the Copco "better lighting fleet" and staff, poised for the opening gun of the lighting campaign now underway. Bottom: Copco "lighting crusaders", who are bringing the "Better Light-Better Sight" message to home owners of southern Oregon and northern California.

BONA FIDE YANKS BEING TRAINED IN HAWAIIAN DEFENSE

Loyal Citizens to Patrol Essential Utilities in Emergency; Have 80,000 Aliens

Honolulu, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A growing force of "bona fide" American citizens is being quietly trained here to cope with saboteurs in any defense emergency.

The Honolulu police, working with the federal bureau of investigation, is presently training 1,000 citizens to patrol essential utilities and industries and prevent sabotage, thus leaving armed forces free to battle any attacker.

Industries and utilities principally affected are water, telephone, radio, power, plantation mills and dairies.

To Continue Training. The school for the "select" 1,000 has been going on for some weeks. Police Chief William A. Gabrielson revealed. When the first 1,000 are sufficiently trained, they will be replaced with other "loyal" groups, he said.

Such civilian groups are part of a wartime control plan which includes anti-espionage, rigid military censorship, military policing and the barring of aliens from defense plants vital to this Pacific stronghold. Plans, operative here, call for the control of civilian minorities—Hawaii has 80,000 aliens out of a 450,000 population—by, first, the army, navy and marines; and secondly, by the federal bureau of investigation, combined with a large police force, reserve officers, the national guard, and more important, by thousands of anti-sabotage workers.

Bar Alien Workers. At Pearl Harbor, navy base, alien workers are barred; even some American-born. American-born Japanese recently petitioned Delegate Samuel Wilder King, Hawaii's voteless representative to congress, to persuade the navy department to allow American-Japanese to work in the navy yard. So far, nothing stirring.

Japanese language schools with a 40,853 enrollment, are taught by Japanese imported from the homeland. Many of the Japanese—a third they comprise more than a third of the entire island population.

ASHLAND CHANGES DATE FOR DANCE

Ashland, Sept. 10.—(Spl.)—Guy Applewhite, general chairman of the benefit dance scheduled for late this week, announced today that the affair had been moved up a day and would now be held Friday night, September 13, instead of Saturday, September 14. The location remains the same, the Elk's Temple in Ashland. Contributions for the "mess fund", which will receive all proceeds derived from the dance over expenses, are being received at the daily newspaper office and the Army. Purpose of the fund is to provide the enlisted personnel with additional delicacies not provided in the regulation food fund of the army. The goal set is $500. Seven men were mustered into service over the week-end, nearly filling the vacancies. They are Ralph Dias, Paul Jones, Kenneth Lucas, Wilmer Warren, Robert Pope, James Potter and Clifford Ross.

$40,000 Bolt
