FIRE RESTRICTION IN FOREST AREAS ERASED BY RAINS

Permits Still Required for Slash Burning — Hunters Asked to Be Careful

The customary fire restrictions in the national forests were lifted today, Rogue River national forest headquarters announced.

Under today's ruling campfires may be built now without a permit; smoking is permissible in the forest areas; and no fire tools are needed for camping.

It was emphasized, however, that permits are still required for burning slashings, stubble fields or any other waste material and that it is unlawful at any time to leave a campfire that has not been completely extinguished.

Hunter Care Asked

Lifting the fire season restrictions will make life in the forests more convenient and comfortable for hunters who will take to the woods tomorrow for the opening of the hunting season. The hunters were asked, however, to be particularly careful in handling campfires, cigarettes and "warming" fires in order to prevent forest fires.

Forest headquarters pointed out that while the forests have been dampened by rain and that conditions in general are favorable for fire prevention, nevertheless there is danger in the situation because hunters are liable to become careless. It was emphasized that a fire started now is likely to smolder for days or weeks and then suddenly flare up on a dry day and be spread rapidly by a fall wind.

Late Fire Danger

Rogue River national forest records show that 21 per cent of the forest fires have occurred after September 20 and that fires after September 20 have burned more than 60 per cent of the total acreage destroyed in the entire season. Not all of these late fires were attributed to late hunters but they indicate the danger of fires after the first fall rains, headquarters pointed out.

Thus far an excellent fire record has been established this year in this part of the state. Hunters were implored to help continue this record.

COLEMAN WITNESS IN TAX PROTEST

The fourth day of the hearing before Circuit Judge H. D. Norton, in the matter of the assessment of the GeBauer apartments, owned by the Washington-Oregon Investment Company opened today, with County Judge J. B. (Blin) Coleman former county assessor, as witness. A reduction of the present assessment is sought.

County Judge Coleman, under questioning by District Attorney Frank J. Newman testified to the assessments on other apartment house property, and particularly the Lithia Hotel at Ashland, and traced the ups and downs in its assessment, and the reason thereof. Comparative values of similar property was also testified too.

More than a score of witnesses have been called, since the start of the case last Monday, including C. S. Butterfield, Charles A. Wing, Frank Redden, and other local and county real estate agents.

Russia Seeks Wheat

Chicago, Sept. 19. — (AP) — Grain export interests received reports today that Russia had entered the market for United States Pacific coast wheat, already having purchased some grain and inquiring for more.

FIRST GUARDSMEN ARRIVE AT CAMP FOR YEAR'S STAY

Portland Area Advance Detachments Leaving Friday — Schedules Incomplete

Camp Murray, Wash., Sept. 19—(AP)—Turning their backs to civilian life, the vanguard of more than 12,000 Pacific northwest national guardsmen arrived here today to begin a year's active training alongside regular army troops.

As advance detachments rolled into this camp which will serve as a temporary cantonment until a $4,000,000 encampment is built four miles south of here, Brig. Gen. Maurice Thompson, adjutant general of Washington, announced an $80,000 building improvement program at Camp Murray was virtually complete.

Salem, Sept. 19—(AP)—The first units of the 41st division, national guard, started rolling by motor trucks today toward Camp Murray, Wash., where the division next week will begin at least a year's intensive training.

Leaving tomorrow by motor convoy will be the advance detachments from the Portland area, including the 41st signal company and some troops of the 162d infantry and the 218th field artillery.

The rest of the Portland troops will leave in trucks next Monday. Tillamook guardsmen will leave Saturday by motor convoy.

Most of the remaining guardsmen will travel in trains, but 41st division headquarters here has not yet received the train schedules. The division includes the national guards of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

FARMERS RECEIVE FIRST 1940 CHECKS

First federal benefit payment checks for compliance with the 1940 soil conservation program arrived today, approximately a month earlier than last year. Today's portion was only a few checks, County Agent Robert G. Fowler said, with more expected before the end of the week.

Checks for wheat compliance have been coming for the past two months. The total amount distributed under the two programs will amount to approximately $80,000, the county agent said.

As fast as the checks are received, farmers are advised by the county agent's office by mail to come and get them.

PORTLAND GUARDS IN GOODBYE MARCH

Portland, Sept. 19. (AP)—Portland bade a hearty farewell to 2,000 Oregon national guardsmen who paraded through downtown streets last night.

The guardsmen put on an impressive show as they marched briskly in regimental formation, 12-abreast, as Major-General George A. White, 41st division commander, saluted them from a reviewing stand.

The men will embark for a year's training at Camp Murray, Wash., next week. They will attend a mass church service at the armory here Sunday.

Weather.

Northern California: Fair tonight and Friday; somewhat warmer Friday; gentle to moderate northerly wind off the coast.
