POLLING PLACES LISTED FOR VOTE ON WHEAT QUOTA

Saturday Referendum to Decide On Self-Imposed Control; All Urged to Vote

Jackson county farmers will go to the polls Saturday, May 31, in what is perhaps the first major cooperative attempt of the nation's farmers to solve an acute farm problem, in the belief of Fred Homes, chairman of the county conservation association.

"With record-breaking surpluses on hand, the world export markets gone, and a huge crop coming up, the wheat farmers of the nation will decide Saturday on a self-imposed control in the first national wheat marketing quota referendum," Homes said.

All Should Vote. "Every farmer affected should vote, and to make sure that he understands fully the importance of the quota plan, we have just concluded an intensive educational campaign, the chairman said. "Meetings have been held throughout the county, and both newspapers and radio have been used to bring home to everyone the issues involved in the referendum."

Polls will be open Saturday between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m. Farmers need not go far from home to vote, as polls will be established in six of the community's are wheat growers affected by the quotas.

They have been appointed as follows: Applegate, S. E. Hansen, Herbert Elmore, Herman Offenbacher; Ashland, Geo. Ed. Dunn, A. C. Edwards, J. R. Munities organized in the county conservation association. The community polling places are: Applegate, Applegate Grange hall; Ashland, Bellview Grange hall; Central Point, Jacksonville, Medford, courthouse auditorium; Eagle Point, Eagle Point Irrigation office; Rogue River, Girl Scout hall; Sams Valley, Sams Valley school.

Committees Named. Community referendum committees will handle the referendum in each community. All McCracken; Medford, Jacksonville and Central Point, John Niedermeier, Dixon Saltgaver, Harry Dunn; Eagle Point, Luther A. Day, B. L. Dodge, Jr., J. H. Stanley; Rogue River, Mark Neathamer, Eugene Moore, Frank McCarvel; Sams Valley Ben Day, E. E. Abbott, George McDonough.

Marketing quotas were proclaimed May 19 by the secretary of agriculture, and if they are to remain in effect, wheat growers voting in the referendum must approve them by a two-thirds majority, the committee man said. He reminded growers that the quotas must be approved if wheat prices are to have the support of federal loans this year.

Referendum committees have been instructed to receive the ballot of anyone who wishes to vote on May 31, although if the voter's name does not appear on the register of eligibility, the ballot is to be sealed in an envelope with the voter's name on the outside until eligibility can be determined.

CIO LUMBERERS REFUSE TO WORK DURING SURVEY

Defense Mediation Board's Proposal Rejected—12,000 Workers in Walkout

Olympia, Wash., May 27.—(AP)—Striking CIO union in the Pacific northwest lumber and logging industry turned down a defense mediation board's proposal yesterday for full resumption of work pending settlement of the various two-week-old walkouts.

The board recommended that operations be resumed pending a study of the situation by a commission which would then attempt a settlement. O. M. Orton, president of the International Woodworkers of America, said representatives at yesterday's conference flatly turned down the proposals which had been made at a meeting in Washington, D. C., recently with union leaders.

The board said the strike involved 12,000 workers in an industry employing 60,000 to 75,000. There are strikes in progress against 52 Puget Sound operations.

The union demands include a full union shop, a flat wage increase of 7 1/2 cents an hour to a minimum of 75 cents, a week's vacation with pay for full year employees, and the elimination of piecework.

"The fir industry is of great importance to our national defense and any stoppage of work will have an effect upon other defense industries within a few weeks," the board said.

Puerto Rico has about 1.15 acres of land per capita compared with the Philippines' 7.50 and Hawaii's 15.77.
