State Officer Urges Women's Activity in Politics

Mrs. Roy T. Bishop, state president of Pro America, urged women to awaken to their sense of responsibility and become interested in the political party of their choice, when she addressed Medford members of Pro America at a luncheon meeting yesterday at the Hotel Holland.

The speaker stressed the necessity of women taking part in politics. She discussed formation of "20 clubs," small neighborhood gatherings sponsored by Pro America at which a study of American government will be the main topic.

She suggested that Pro America members take up a study of elementary and high school textbooks and supplementary reading material during the coming year.

During the business session the two delegates to the recent state convention held in Portland, Mrs. Neil Davidson and Mrs. C. M. Hurd reported on the sessions. The local unit also voted to remain in active session during the summer months rather than adjourn until fall as has been the usual procedure.

Morgenthau said at a press conference this transfer was the cause of an executive order signed by President Roosevelt yesterday directing that an unspecified number of coast guardsmen should "operate as a part of the navy."

STRAWBERRIES TO SLACK OFF SOON

The county agent's office reported today the main crop of strawberries on the floor of the valley would be completed in the next two or three days and crops from the upper Rogue river district would be at their marketing peak within the next week. First berries from the Prospect section appeared in local stores this week.

The first cutting of alfalfa is now in full swing, with much hay down. Cutting in the Applegate district was scheduled to start this week, but the cloudy conditions postponed it.

CREDIT CARDS AID LABOR MIGRATION

Portland, June 5.—(AP)—The Oregon state employment service today described the migration north from California of some 3000 strawberry pickers as a "credit card" argosy.

Director L. C. Stoll said that two berry processors, perceiving a picker shortage, obtained sheaves of gasoline credit cards from oil companies, sent agents among the migratory work camps in California and placed the cards with likely-looking pickers who lacked funds for the trip north.

Cost of gasoline and oil ultimately will be charged against the earnings of the pickers. Stoll said that "all concerned were well pleased with the plan."
