PACKING SCHOOL WILL OPEN HERE ABOUT JULY 14TH

State Department of Vocational Education, School District Cooperating

The state department of vocational education will cooperate this year with the Medford school district and the Fruit Growers' league of Jackson county in sponsoring the pear packing school here beginning about July 14, the league announced today.

It is planned to start the school before the earlier pears are ready for packing, giving those interested an opportunity to complete the course and be ready for work as the pears are received at the packing houses.

Make Good Money
In a recent survey of local labor conditions by the Fruit Growers' league and Walter Morse of the state department of vocational education, it was found that there is a shortage of qualified local packers. It is hoped that by holding local packing schools, enough people will qualify to supply the demand for packers. In this connection it was pointed out that packers may earn comparatively large sums considering the amount of time devoted to the work.

Any resident of Jackson county between the ages of 16 and 35 may enroll. A small fee will be charged, which will be refunded to all who complete the course.

No Added Fee
Arrangements have been made to permit all students enrolled in last year's school to take the course this summer without payment of additional fees.

The school will be held in Pinnacle Packing company plant number 2. Qualified instructors will be provided. At present two classes have been planned, one from 8 a. m. to 12 noon, and another from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. Anyone interested in enrolling is asked to get in touch with employment offices of the local pear-packing houses or with L. B. Mayfield at the Medford Senior high school, phone 4790.

EXECUTIONERS OF MURDER FIRM DIE IN ELECTRIC SEAT

Pittsburgh Phil Strauss and Buggsy Goldstein Believed to Have Murdered 31

Ossining, N. Y., June 13.—(AP)—New York counted 31 murders avenged today with the electrocution of Harry (Pittsburgh Phil) Strauss and Martin (Buggsy) Goldstein, chief executioners of the fantastic Brooklyn murder syndicate.

Between 10 and 10:09 p. m. last night, the two men died in the Sing Sing electric chair, both silent in their final moments. Goldstein was first, then Strauss grinning strangely. It was hard to audit the books of the murder-for-money firm, but officers estimated Strauss and Goldstein alone had slain 31 persons.

They were put to death for strangling Irving Feinstein, small-time bookmaker and police informer. Feinstein's body was soaked in oil and burned in a vacant lot.

Strauss, who had feigned insanity, gave up shortly before he died and talked for the first time since he entered prison. He talked, among other people, to Evelyn Mittleman, known in Brooklyn as "the kiss of death girl," because five previous boy friends died with sudden violence. Strauss was boy friend No. 6.

MODEL AIRPLANES WILL VIE SUNDAY ON AGATE DESERT

At their meeting Wednesday night the Medford Prop Nuts, gas model airplane club, made final arrangements for the contest to be held Sunday at 9 a. m. on Agate desert just north of the Agate school on Midway road.

The contest, the fourth of this season, promises to be the best yet held, as the boys have been turning in excellent times in test hops. Arlon Skinner and Allen Buckingham both losing their ships last weekend. Buckingham's ship was found Wednesday in the Antelope area, about 13 miles from the take-off, but Skinner's has not been located yet.

The club decided to award an extra 5 points in the trophy race to every ship making one flight before 9:30 a. m., as an incentive to get the contest underway on time.

Cold drinks will be sold on the field, the proceeds to be used for prizes in future meets, and that there will be no admission charge to the public.

The local club also decided Wednesday night to send a delegation to the Northwest Gas Model association's meet to be held in Salem July 13, and to the Klamath Falls meet on June 29. The Klamath Falls club has announced there will be $200 in prizes to the winners in their contest and the local boys are anxious to get "in the money."
