

Bette Davis In Modern Story, "The Great Lie" Opening At Craterian

ACADEMY WINNER IN UNUSUAL ROLE AS NORMAL GIRL

The new Bette Davis picture, "The Great Lie," opens a three-day run today at the Craterian theatre, with the two-time Academy award winner again making a bid for top honors of the year, according to all advance reports.

A modern story of a woman very much in love and willing to fight all odds to keep the man she loves. "The Great Lie" has George Brent, Mary Astor, Lucille Watson, Hattie McDaniel, Russell Hicks, Thurston Hall and Jerome Cowan in the principal supporting roles.

In the picture, Bette Davis does a right-about-face from the roles she has been playing recently. There isn't a trace of meanness about her. She is a perfectly normal American girl, a gay and usually happy person who chooses to lead a simple life on her farm in Maryland. All the feminine skulduggery which enters the plot is carried on by Mary Astor, who returns to the screen to give the year's surprise performance. She is a very sophisticated woman of the world, a concert pianist who rides the top crest of cafe society. Brent plays an aviator and explorer, in love with Bette but attracted to Mary during his inebriated moments. It is during one of these moments that he marries Mary, and thus starts the drama to startling developments which wind up in a thrilling climax.

"Sign of the Wolf" Has Two Dog Stars In Leading Roles

Two outstanding dog stars of Hollywood have leading roles in the punch-packed Jack London story, "Sign of the Wolf," playing today and Monday at the Rialto theatre. Both dogs are descendants of the famous Strongheart.

Based on the popular author's "That Spot," the film is a story of the fox fur industry of the Canadian wilds. Two prize-winning Alaskan shepherds are loosed in the backwoods when the plane carrying their mistress and her colored servant crashes in a raging blizzard. One of the dogs, Smoky, deserts the stricken plane, and roams the woods until he is taken by a pair of renegade trappers, who train him to rob valuable pelts from nearby fur farms. The other dog, Shadow, although injured, hobbles for miles to the cabin of Michael Whalen and young Darryl Hickman to obtain relief for his stricken mistress and her servant—Grace Bradley and Mantan Moreland. Whalen revives the girl and a romance soon develops between the two, which is threatened

AUTO PRICE INCREASE TERMED INCONSISTENT; WITHDRAWAL IS ASKED

Washington, June 14.—(P)—Leon Henderson, price administrator, asked five automobile manufacturers yesterday to withdraw immediately recently announced price increases.

They were asked to cancel the advances "to aid in resisting inflation."

The request was made in telegrams to the presidents of the Ford Motor company, the Chrysler corporation, the Nash-Kelvinator corporation, the Studebaker corporation and the Hudson

OLD ORTH MANSION IN JACKSONVILLE TO BE CONVALESCENT HOME

Jacksonville, June 14.—(Spl.)—The fine old two-story brick mansion on Third street, built in 1870 by the Orth family and which also served as the home of the late Judge George A. Gardner and his family two decades ago, is being transformed into a convalescent home. Mrs. Florence Truax, a graduate nurse from the east with years of experience, has acquired the property, including a half block of land, and plans modernization to make the institution capable of handling all cases except deep surgery and X-ray.

Although structural design of the building will not be changed, it is planned to install steam heat, an upstairs bathroom, running water in each room and enclosed sun porches with east and west exposures. A first aid dressing room will be equipped as will utility rooms.

In a couple of months Mrs. Truax expects to have the building equipped to 12-bed capacity with two extra rooms to assist her.

An interesting patient now at the home is Mrs. Tilda Sullivan, 85, of Medford vicinity, affectionately known as "Grandma." Mrs. Sullivan and her family resided in Jacksonville 40 years ago.
