

VOTERS' LEAGUE BACKS MOVE TO STRESS DEFENSE

Myron Hunt, Cantonment Architect, to Address Public Meeting On Monday

To stimulate interest in the various phases of national defense and "the battle of production," a national campaign will be conducted the coming two weeks over the entire country by the League of Women Voters, according to an announcement made yesterday by the president of the Jackson county branch, Mrs. Leonard Carpenter. Details of the Oregon campaign were outlined at a meeting which Mrs. Carpenter attended in Portland last week. High lights of the Jackson county campaign will be a public meeting next Monday at 8 p. m. at which Myron S. Hunt, architect for the proposed Jackson county army cantonment, will speak, and a general meeting later in the week, at which Dr. Frank Munk of Reed college, Portland, probably will speak. Monday's meeting will be at the courthouse auditorium. Plans for the local campaign were formulated at a meeting of league board members yesterday at which Mrs. Carpenter explained that the idea of the national campaign originated at a recent meeting of the national board in Washington, D. C. "League leaders feel that many persons have not awakened to the gravity of the national situation," Mrs. Carpenter said, "and the national campaign is being conducted in an effort to make every individual realize that only by united personal sacrifice will 'the battle of production' be won and freedom preserved."

WALBERT REWARD EXTENDED AGAIN

For the sixth time since the disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. (Dick) Walbert last November, while on a plane trip to Portland, the Medford flying club has extended their $250 reward for the finding of the bodies of the missing couple. The reward extension dates from June 13.

The Walberts' left this city November 29 in a small cabin plane. A plane believed to have been the one in which they were flying was reported heard over various southern Oregon sectors, and as far north as Marcola, in Lane county. Search then, as far as weather would permit failed to reveal any tangible clues.

KIWANIS ENTERTAINED BY ACCORDIAN BAND

At their regular noon-day luncheon at Hotel Medford, Monday, Kiwanians were entertained by Sebastian Apollo and his symphonic accordian band. Numbers included Jolly Lumber Jack march, Liebestraume and Songs of the Old South.

A high light of the program was the playing of "Home on the Range" by six-year-old Robert Lee Fisher who has had very few lessons by Mr. Apollo and was not in the least overcome by stage fright.

BEND WILL SEND DELEGATION FOR CATFISH FIESTA

20-30 Delegation Purloins Emblem of East Oregonians to Insure Attendance

Medford 20-30 clubbers, who attended the northwest district 20-30 convention in Bend over the week-end, saw to it that members of the Bend club would not forget the big, annual national catfish derby to be held at Bybee bridge next Sunday.

And because local 20-30ers had plenty of imagination and hands "quicker than the eye," the Bend unit will undoubtedly send one or more catfishing teams to the derby to compete for some of the many prizes to be offered.

Kitty Kettle Taken

During the convention, several members of the Medford 20-30 club, which is sponsoring this year's derby, purloined the Bend club's sacred "kitty kettle," a container for fines levied against members for various reasons. These kettles are treasured dearly by every 20-30 club and are guarded zealously whenever visiting 20-30ers are in the vicinity. But despite the vigilance of the Bend club, the clever Medfordites managed to possess themselves of the kettle.

To say that Bend's 20-30 club gentlemen were fit to be tied upon discovery the kettle had been stolen, would be putting it mildly, and serious repercussions were averted only when the Medford group agreed to return the kettle to Bend members attending and competing in the catfish derby.

A local 20-30 clubber said, "Bend's kitty isn't so hot, anyway, and we will give it back complete overhaul."

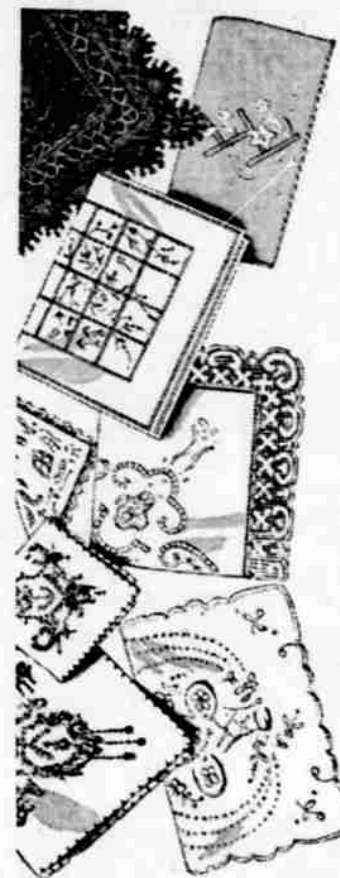

to them when they show up at the derby. The kettle's horn won't honk, and to show them our heart is in the right place we will repair it and give it a complete overhaul."
