ROTARIANS HEAR FORESTRY CHIEF

An appeal for public cooperation in safeguarding the forests against fire was voiced by Karl Janouch, supervisor of Rogue River national forest, at a meeting of Medford Rotary club Tuesday. Supervisors Janouch reminds that most man-caused fires are preventable.

Importance of fire prevention in the forests as a national defense measure was stressed by the speaker. "Never toss away a wooden match which you've lighted in the woods without breaking it in two with your fingers—or a paper match without twisting it," Janouch advised.

Modern scientific methods of combating forest conflagrations were described by Supervisor Janouch who was introduced by H. L. Brown, Rotary program chairman.

HONEST INJUN

It pays us to be honest with our customers, for our business is just about as good as our word—and our word is as good as our business is GOOD. Every car that we offer would be an honest value at a far greater price. It's a sensational value at our figure, with the advantage of easy buying.
