Kitchen Maid*HAS WHEAT GERM VITAMINS ADDED!

The Wheat germ now added to Kitchen Maid Flour is the natural vitamin portion of the wheat that by modern methods of milling, is practically non-existent in white flour. The government urges the restoration of wheat germ to assist in building a more healthy nation. Now, in Kitchen Maid Flour, you will find the Vitamin B complex, Thiamin Chloride (B1), Nicotinic Acid, Riboflavin (B2) and also Vitamin E. Now your favorite flour, at the same money saving price, brings you the healthful vitamin.

Vitamin "A" Foods

Best sources of Vitamin A: Cod liver oil, butter, cream, whole milk, condensed milk, evaporated milk, dried milk, egg yolk. Average amounts of Vitamin A are in: Germs of seeds, liver, kidney, cheese, tomatoes, string beans, raw cabbage, carrots, fresh peas, sweet potatoes, squash, peaches, butter-milk, almonds, coconut, peanuts, beans, cauliflower, potatoes, apples, oranges, prunes, barley (whole), yellow corn, oats, wheat bran, brains, heart, fish roe, asparagus.

Vitamin "B" Foods

Sources of Vitamin B are: Whole grain cereals, tomatoes, beans (kidney and navy), raw cabbage, spinach (fresh). The following foods contain above the average amounts of Vitamin B: Yeast products, cream, fruits, potatoes, nuts, liver, coconut, kidney, brains, fish roe, egg yolk, steak, cabbage, broccoli, celery, carrots, onions, parsley, parsnips, pumpkin, squash.

Vitamin "C" Foods

The best sources of Vitamin C are: Tomatoes, lettuce, raw cabbage, spinach (fresh or canned), fresh peas, oranges and other citrus fruits, raspberries. The following foods contain above the average amounts of Vitamin C: White potatoes, yellow turnips, peaches, apples, asparagus, carrots, cauliflower, onions, radishes, kale.

Vitamin "D" Foods

Vitamin D is the "Sunshine Vitamin." Fresh milk and irradiated evaporated milk are the best food sources for Vitamin D. Vitamin D is also present in: Egg yolk, butter, coconut, green leaves, fresh peas, whole wheat, cod liver oil and other fish oils.

Vitamin "G" Foods

Vitamin G is widely distributed in meat, milk, eggs, leafy vegetables, collards, yellow corn, cucumbers, cress, eggplant, squash, peas, onions, potatoes, turnips, cauliflower, Chinese cabbage, etc.—and is probably very little affected by heat.
