

Tribute to Stars and Stripes Given by Mrs. Faber at Annual Grand Chapter Meet of O. E. S.

The following "Tribute to the Flag" was given by Mrs. Beulah Faber of Central Point, member of the traveling flag committee of the grand chapter of the Eastern Star, at the 52nd annual grand chapter meeting at the Masonic Temple in Portland, on June 10. It was the first time in the history of the Grand Chapter that the tribute was given by a woman.

It is your flag, it is my flag
This flag of the red, white and blue;
It is your country, it is my country
The home of the brave and the true.

The United States and Canada are the only world powers on earth where a speaker can address his friends today without intimidation, censorship or fear of molestation from the air.

When we gather around our fireside we have no fear of oppression; we are free to dial any station on our radio; read our Bible as we choose; and support or criticize the President of the United States or the Premier of Canada, and those in authority in either country, and no dictator on earth can do aught to harm us.

This is America, with freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of thought and freedom of worship—a veritable Garden of Eden.

Of all the symbols in the world today, there is none with so much meaning as the flag of our country. This fabric of red, white and blue represents 5,000 years of struggle upward and onward.

Old Glory stands for humanity; for peace through the world; for equal opportunity to all the sons of men and for dignity and honor. Our flag signifies tolerance, open-mindedness, progress. It embraces within its folds as brothers men of all creeds and beliefs. It makes no distinction of rank or family. Old Glory is the symbol of our protection and patriotism.

The best preparation for whatever the future might hold is the immediate kindling of a deep-seated patriotism. A patriotism that will sweep this country from coast to coast. Patriotism has been defined as love of country. But love of country is only the beginning of patriotism. Patriotism is more than waving the flag and singing. For Americans patriotism is love of America and her free institutions—love of Americanism. America is more than a country; more than an equal opportunity; more than a social experiment station. America is all of these, but America is more than all of these. America is an ideal of human liberty worked out in terms of equality under the forms and guarantees of law. Patriotism is law observance, reverence, self-sacrifice.

The time has come for everyone to think less of self and more of American heritage; to think less of trivialities and more of the world crisis. The responsibility for the continuation of a free government upon the earth is ours and the time for patriotic endeavor is now.

Today with our country on the brink of great dangers, with our entire social structure facing grave disaster, let us who have seen his Star in the East stand together and show the world that our fraternalism is more than personal pomp and pageantry—that we do have a definite goal toward which we are traveling where there is a place of love, labor and service for all mankind, for our Flag, our Nation and our God.

The flag of America has a glorious past; and with the support of orders such as ours will have an even more glorious future. It is the flag of our fathers; it is the flag of our children, and the flag of our children's children. It is not the flag of a king—it is the flag of all of us and all our neighbors. It is the flag of today, the flag of tomorrow, and the flag forevermore!

Generations have passed since our forefathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, but every day since, somewhere, someone has done something worth while for America.

So, when this grand session is over let us return to our homes and preach the glories of America and the American system of living. Patriotism is contagious and the women and men of this great order in their respective communities can change the trend of thought throughout this country.

Return to our homes and run up on our flag poles the brightest, finest flag that money can buy—the Red, the White and the Blue in the designs of the Stars and Stripes, and then as it flutters in the morning breeze,

Return to our homes and sing—sing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," sing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," and sing "God Bless America, Land That I Love; God Bless America, My Home Sweet Home!"

Return to your homes and pray—pray for our flag and what it means; pray for peace, the peace of God's love to all men and to all nations. By prayer, our souls shall become serene and steadfast, equipped to be builders for our God and our country.

Old Glory, we recognize in you a symbol of God's love and care, for your blue was taken from the eternal dome of Heaven, and signifies that above and beyond all is the ever watchful care of the Supreme Architect of the Universe.

Your stars are the never-sleeping eyes of the guardian angels that watch over an indissoluble union of indestructible states. Your white typifies that purity of life and uprightness of conduct that should characterize all who owe you allegiance. Your red is the sacrificial blood, unflinchingly poured out by your heroes upon the altar of freedom, that you might forever "wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

*Your flag and my flag!
And, Oh, how much it holds—
Your land and my land—
Secure within its folds!
Your heart and my heart
Beat quicker at the sight;
Sun-kissed and wind-tossed—
Red and blue and white,
The one flag—the great flag for me and you—

With loving hearts we all salute
—the red, the white, the blue!

tell our neighbors of their heritage and their responsibility in the fight to keep America free. Return to our homes and work—work as we have never worked before, for work is an essential factor in national life. Work to develop America's resources and to build her enthusiasm for that deep-seated patriotism.

Be enthusiastic, because enthusiasm fixed the mariner's trembling needle upon its axis; enthusiasm has held the sword with which freedom has won her battle, and poised the axe of the woodsman as he opened the paths of civilization, and enthusiasm must actuate the lives of men and women in this day of uncertainty.

Return to our homes and sing—sing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," sing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," and sing "God Bless America, Land That I Love; God Bless America, My Home Sweet Home!"

"Can this kind of beer be brewed in any city but PILSEN?"

In the old-time City of Pilsen men learned to brew a brilliant light-hearted beer called Pilsner. There was new keenness to its flavor—a satisfying smack that boosted a man's enjoyment of beer. A body so light and lively—so refreshing—that Pilsner became king of the world's fine beers.

For three centuries the famous old City of Pilsen was celebrated throughout the world by judges of fine beer. For here was brewed beer of superlative flavor and quality... beer never to be forgotten by those who once enjoyed it, here in America.

We'll be gratified if you'll taste today a true-to-type Pilsner brewed in America. A beer produced with one idea—to make it fully equal to imported Pilsner.

Labeled Brown Derby Pilsner, this beer is made to our exclusive Pilsner formula and constantly checked by our own quality control.

As in imported Pilsner, costly malt goes into it, and hops chosen for delicacy of flavor.

Like imported Pilsner, this is beer that goes better however you drink it—with or without food.

MAKE your first taste of Brown Derby Pilsner a generous, mouth-filling "pull." Roll its cool goodness on your tongue. Judge this beer as you prefer, with or without food. Unless you find Brown Derby Pilsner all we claim here—unless it satisfies you in every way—return it to the store where you bought it and they will refund your full purchase price.
