It's a Handicap
Buenos Aires (U.P.)—The wide-spread police radio network here also has its drawbacks. In addition to equipping patrol cars, authorities have also given apparatus to some detectives who operate on foot. As a result, the plainclothesmen are unusually alert to the crime situation, but the bulk of their two-way radio—two boxes carried in their coat pockets, an amplifier strapped to their chests and a tiny microphone hidden under their coat lapels—renders them virtually useless in chasing a quarry.

Big Brothers
Rocky Mount, N. C. (U.P.)—A little girl tearfully telephoned police to come at once. Sirens screeched. And at the scene the cops found that the girl was afraid the dog catcher, who had been chasing her dog, would be successful.
