

HALIFAX THANKS AIRCRAFT MAKERS OF LOCKHEED CO.

British Ambassador and Wife Present as 1000th Hudson Bomber Departs

Los Angeles, July 18.—(AP)—The 1,000th Hudson bomber for Britain took off dramatically for England yesterday with 30,000 aircraft workers cheering it on and Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, and his wife bidding it Goodspeed.

Jimmy Mattern, famous American pilot, took the plane into the air just after Lord Halifax had addressed a crowd at the Lockheed plant in Burbank. Just before Mattern gunned the plane for the takeoff, Lady Halifax briefly expressed England's appreciation of the efforts of American aircraft workers, and said:

"Now your labor takes wings, go, Jimmy Mattern, and God bless you."

Dramatic Departure

Mattern circled the factory field twice, each time banking and diving to within a few feet of the crowd. Then he flew in to the east. Lockheed officials said he would not take the plane all the way to England, but declined to disclose his itinerary.

Halifax addressed the workers during their lunch period, after he had toured the factory. He was introduced by Robert E. Gross, president of Lockheed, who called upon the audience to "Join me in a demonstration of our spirit."

The crowd roared its approval of aid to the British, and cheered again when Gross called for a show of "thumbs up."

"I bring the thanks of my people for the skill, craftsmanship, work and goodwill you are putting into these fighting ships," Halifax said.

In a prepared address Lord Halifax also brought the personal thanks of an R.A.F. pilot who had flown one of the bombers on a sortie over occupied France. Telling the story, the ambassador related:

Shot to Pieces

"Hell, the pilot said to me, 'it (the machine) was shot to pieces. Pretty nearly everything was shot to pieces. Look at the rudder, not much left of it, but the old kite brought us home 350 miles on one lung. Not another aircraft in the world could take the punishment this one did today and yet make its landfall. If you ever get to California drop into the Lockheed factory and tell them thanks for me. This is a kite that doesn't know when it's beaten."

"That is the quality of sturdiness that has led many high officers in the Royal Air Force to use the words 'the Hudson Lockheed is a household word in our coastal command.'"

"All that you give us," Halifax continued, "will be used in the defense of freedom of speech, thought and religion, and the personal liberties, which things the English speaking people the world over value more highly than life itself."

"You know, we know, and if the Nazis do not know it now they soon will, what you're doing."

Plane Will Do Bit

"This plane (referring to the 1,000th bomber) when it gets to England will do its bit to swell the stream of war material which one day will become a flood as preparation becomes production. Planes and ships, ships and planes from this country to join those that our men and women at home are turning out. are what we need most."

"In making these two vital parts of war equipment California is doing a job second to none and the men and women of Lockheed and Vega may well be proud of their part in it."

The ambassador's address was a non-political statement of British gratitude, but in an earlier press conference he touched upon the situation at Iceland.

"There will be no wholesale exodus of British troops from Iceland at present," Halifax declared.

"British troops will move out only in the proportion in which the United States sends its soldiers in. How long the process will take, I can't say."

There have been demands in this country that British troops leave Iceland, now that American occupation has taken place.

Has Own Ideas

Halifax declined to comment officially as to whether the United States should enter the war actively against Germany, but said: "I have my own ideas, of course, I am afraid they can't be expressed here."

When he left the city hall he was picketed by a group of women carrying anti-war placards.

"The signs bore such legends as 'Wake Up America — the British are Here,' and 'To Halifax With Halifax—United for Peace.'"

The Briton tipped his hat to the pickets, walked through their line to his limousine, and bowed again slightly before entering the machine.

San Francisco, July 18.—(AP)—Joseph K. Carson of Portland said today he was not fully informed as to just what duties would be required of him as inspector general for the office of civilian defense, but that he did not expect to change his residence from the Oregon city.

Carson is to remain in San Francisco for the remainder of the week, and will address an American Legion convention in Eugene, Ore., July 22, he said.

LIEUT. LOE TALKS AT LIONS MEET

First-Lieutenant Roy Loe of the 55th air squadron segment stationed at the Elks picnic grounds was the principal speaker at Wednesday night's weekly dinner-meeting of the Lions club held in the Hotel Medford, telling of the work being done by the group, as well as discussing several "off-the-record" aerial subjects. A round-table discussion was held following the address.

Entertainment was provided by Roger Wolf, who played Chopin's Waltz in C Minor, and Kitten On the Keys, and by Clara Daniels, who gave a reading, "My America," written by Pat Mattison, former Medford girl who won a contest conducted by Columbia university.

The electrical storm threw the meeting into a short "black out."

CIGARETTE BURNS OVER 4,000 ACRES OF RANGE

Pendleton, Ore., July 18.—(AP) Fire believed to have started from a cigarette flipped from a passing car on the Cold Springs highway near here, burned over about 4,000 acres of grazing land yesterday and destroyed an estimated 1,000 sacks of harvested wheat and 400 acres of standing wheat, district fire wardens reported.

LATIN-AMERICAN FIRMS LINKED WITH AXIS ARE PUT ON U. S. BLACKLIST

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—The United States blacklisted 1,800 persons and firms in Latin America today in an effort to bolster national defense and close export channels to Germany and Italy.

The black list was promulgated in accordance with a proclamation of President Roosevelt. On the list were individuals and business establishments which were deemed to have been acting "for the benefit of Germany or Italy" or their nationals, or in collaboration with them.

Also on it were certain persons to whom, the proclamation said, the exportation of "any article or materials" from the United States "is deemed to be detrimental to the interest of national defense."

This expansion of the administration's economic warfare against the axis nations apparently was designed principally to plug leaks through which American supplies may have been siphoned into Germany and Italy by way of Latin America.

It may result also in diminishing the funds which axis affiliates have been using for propaganda and subversive activities.

conservation service land near the Covestate park, in the same general location as last week's Grandview-Metolius blaze.
