

ASHLAND SCHOOLS SHOW INCREASE IN TOTAL ENROLLING

1,017 Report Opening Day
—14 More Than Last Year—High School Leads

Ashland, Sept. 9.—(Sp.)—
First day enrollment in the city schools of Ashland showed 1,017 attending. Last year the first day total was 1,003, or 14 less. More are expected to enroll during the coming week. Biggest rise in registration was at the high school, where 284 appeared in comparison to 250 on first day last year. At Washington school 240 students enrolled, where 223 appeared last year. Slight drops appeared in the enrollment figures for the junior high school and Lincoln school. The junior high lost its big 9th grade class, which was graduated to high school, and showed a total today of 263 students, as compared to the 1940 figure of 282. The Lincoln school decrease was from 1940's 248 to today's 230. The Washington school enrollment was the biggest since 1930, and the high school total was larger than any other on the available records, since 1928. The school board still is awaiting the report of L. S. Traver, advisor and construction man for the state board of higher education, before making definite plans for the future of Washington school. A bond election to replace the building was defeated recently. Today, at start of school, only the lower floor was being used for classes, and improvised quarters were in use for one class, and for art and music courses.

FALL QUARTER AT SOCE WILL OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 22

Registration Of Upper Classmen Scheduled September 24

Southern Oregon College of Education, Ashland, Sept. 9.—

(Sp.)—The fall quarter at the Southern Oregon College of Education will open Monday, September 22, with registration for all freshman students. Upper classmen will register Wednesday, September 24. The college offers two definite courses of study, the teacher education course and the junior college course. Students enrolled in teacher education are now able to work toward a bachelor of science degree in elementary education upon completion of a standard four-year course of study. Students interested in junior college work and liberal arts will find a wide variety of offerings in art, music, science and mathematics, English, social science, psychology, and health and physical education. Students enrolled in junior college work are able to complete from one to two years of work in medicine, law, forestry, engineering, home economics, business administration, and many other fields. Students enrolling at the college for the first time should submit a transcript of their high school or college record some time prior to registration. It would be particularly helpful to new students to call at the office of the registrar before registration day in order to make out their fall program.

College entrance examinations for all freshman students will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 23 and 24. Regular classes will begin on Thursday, September 25.
