ICE ANTICS

By
Sparky Bourque

(This is another in the series of Friday articles by Sparky Bourque, manager and professional instructor of the Medford Ice Arena now under construction, dealing with all phases of plain and fancy ice skating.)

Dancing on ice is one of the most delightful forms of exercise and fun. It is the simplest form of pair skating and always seems to give great pleasure to the skaters as well as the on-looking public. The waltz, one of the most beautiful rhythms of all the times, has given great inspiration to the art of skating and many varieties of dances follow this rhythm.

The waltz combines the most elementary school figures. They are the forward outside edge, the back outside edge and the forward inside three. In itself the waltz is not difficult to learn, consisting, for the gentleman, of a forward outside edge, a plain three and for the lady, two back edges and a three, and so may be easily acquired by anyone capable of skating the fundamental school figures. So long as the waltz is written 1-2-3 time there can be nothing to prevent the skater counting 1-2-3 and by so doing assure his figures being executed in proper time. Even the musical skater will find it helpful to do a little counting, especially if his partner is not familiar with his skating.

In waltzing on ice there are two bars of music to each figure, making six counts in all. It is necessary to count 1-2-3-4-5-6 instead of 1-2-3. Let us take, for instance, the right outside forward edge of the gentleman. With the beginning edge, the skating knee is well bent and the balance leg is well back on the count of one and the position held for two more counts. There is 1-2-3 for the first part of the figure. On the count of four the balance leg is started forward and at, but not before, the balance leg reaches the employed foot the skater makes a three turn.

This is held for two more beats, when the dance starts over again. While the balance leg is going forward the skating leg is gradually straightening, giving the figure an air of ease and grace, that is not only pleasing but helpful in retaining the balance. Inasmuch as the lady is doing a back edge at the time the importance of count and gradual swing forward of the balance leg and straightening of the skating knee is easily seen. At the count of one the lady has her skating knee bent and her balance leg forward. She too holds that position to three counts and starts the balance leg backwards at the count of four in unison with the forward swinging of the gentleman's balance leg. It is important that both skaters swing the free legs forward and backward in unison and the straightening of the knees must be done gradually and to the count. When the waltz is perfected it is the most beautiful of all ice dances.
