

TEACHERS ATTEND ANNUAL INSTITUTE AND CONFERENCE

812 Educators of Southern Oregon Are Welcomed By Normal School President.

Southern Oregon College of Education, Ashland, Nov. 18.—(Sp1)—The seventh annual Educational Conference and Teachers' Institute, sponsored jointly by the Southern Oregon College of Education, the Oregon State Teachers' association, and the counties of Jackson, Josephine, Klamath, and Lake, opened Monday morning with registration of all teachers in the physical education building.

The general session in the afternoon was opened by Dr. Walter Redford, president of the Southern Oregon College of Education, who welcomed 812 teachers on behalf of the college. Assembly singing was led by Dr. D. V. Poling, representative of the state system of higher education.

Greeted By Leader

Mrs. Isabelle Brixner, president of the Oregon State Teachers' association, greeted the teachers on behalf of the association. She outlined the accomplishments of Oregon State Teachers during the past year and also presented the aims and needs to be accomplished during the coming year.

"Our regular program in vocational education has been going on in Oregon for better than 20 years, and the reason is that the program started in 1919 because the federal government was very anxious to promote vocational education." This statement by O. L. Paulson, acting state director of the State Board for Vocational Education, introduced a discussion by him of what the vocational program is doing.

Mr. Paulson stated that the vocational education program in Oregon is training men to take jobs in vital defense industries. The national defense training division of the vocational education program was created to train men in a short length of time. When there is a need for men who are skilled along certain lines, the defense training division sets up classes in co-operation with the local school districts so that the men are ready when they are needed.

Mr. Paulson stated, "Last year we trained 18,000 people. In July alone we sent 962 men to the Boeing Aircraft company."

Rural Classes

In addition to the regular training classes, the vocational education program has organized the Out-of-School Rural Program. This program was designed to train young men to carry on in the jobs left by others who would be taking regular defense jobs and to take care of running the farms.

Dr. Carl Sumner Knopf, new president of Willamette university, addressed the general assembly on "Education Faces the Dawn." Dr. Knopf discussed the three major struggles in which mankind has been engaged since the beginnings of civilization—political freedom, ecclesiastical freedom, and economic freedom.

Dr. Knopf stated that we have accomplished freedom of politics, religion, and economics, but now we don't know what to do with them. The freedoms have developed to such an extent that we have numerous divisions in them—we are trying now to adjust ourselves to them.

In conclusion Dr. Knopf stated that "History says 'On-On-Upward! Upward!' We have had these great surges before, but you can't defeat God!"

Holdup Victim Is Held by Tongue During Beating

Portland, Nov. 18.—(P)—A holdup man who almost tore out the tongue of his aged victim to make him reveal where his money was hidden was sought today by police.

The victim, J. C. Cornell, 70, was found in the entrance to his rooming house. Police said he scarcely could talk but they learned his assailant knocked him down, held his tongue with some instrument and beat him on the head with a shoe until he pointed out where he had hidden $79.

WESTERN MINERAL ATTENTION URGED BY SENATE GROUP

Answer To Problem of Raw Material Is Seen In Untouched Western Ores.

Washington, Nov. 18.—(P)—A senate subcommittee urged today after a study of western mineral resources that "concentrated attention" be given "production of materials which we have in abundance but have not used."

Foreseeing rationing of raw materials in the industrial defense effort and pointing out that manufacture of automobiles had been curtailed and the construction industry restricted, the group stated in a preliminary report that its information "pointedly raises the question as to whether or not it is necessary to make such severe cuts in civil industry."

Hearings Unfinished

The report was submitted by Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), chairman of a public lands and surveys subcommittee, and was authorized, it was explained, because of the importance of material already gathered, although hearings were not completed and the committee was not ready to suggest legislation.

The report stated hearings so far indicated "that the west holds the answer to current problems of raw material shortages which threaten the stability of great segments of industrial activity and a dangerous increase in the cost of living."

Increased production of materials from huge undeveloped resources in the western states, the subcommittee found, "would obviously tend to meet the demands of both defense and civilian industries and offset dangerous inflationary tendencies."

Imports Cited

As proof of its contention that "we have neglected our own resources and have been content to depend upon the output of other lands," the report cited tungsten from China, manganese from Russia's Caucasus mountain area "which is now about to be overrun by the Nazis," and chrome from Africa—all found in the west.

"The undeveloped mineral reserves of the western states," the report declared, "constitute a challenge to a people who are rich beyond their dreams, but who have been led to believe that they are poor in the materials that they need."

The subcommittee heard of numerous instances of undeveloped deposits of important minerals which awaited only the necessary capital for their extraction and conversion to use, but found that "deplorably little has been done in aid of the development of these known deposits. Most of the defense effort has been centered in the east."

SALVATION ARMY GIVEN CAMP USE AT LAKE O' WOODS

Action By Forest Service Assures Annual Camp For Underprivileged Children.

Rogue River national forest headquarters today announced the issuance of a special use permit to the Salvation Army for use of the CCC side camp at Lake o' Woods as a recreation center. It was stipulated in the agreement that the side camp would be available to other organizations for recreational use, headquarters said.

The Salvation Army will have complete control of the side camp and others using it will pay rental to the Salvation Army, the forest headquarters stated. The Salvation army will be required to maintain and service the camp, whatever rentals it receives to be utilized for this purpose.

Assures Camp

Primary aim of the move is to afford an additional recreational area at Lake o' Woods which has rapidly become a popular rendezvous of forest recreationists. Action of the forest service assures the Salvation Army of a suitable place for its annual summer camp for children which was inaugurated the past summer through the financial assistance of the

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or early passages with stinging and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MEDFORD ICE ARENA

George A. Hunt Theaters, Inc. With a site now assured, the Salvation Army, it was understood, will broaden the scope of its summer camp activities.

The side camp, situated at the north end of the lake, is composed of a number of buildings the renovation and remodeling of which for recreational use was completed by the CCC yesterday. The buildings include a dormitory each for boys and girls, a dining hall and bathhouses. There is acreage also for a playground.

New Foundations

The CCC yesterday completed construction of new foundations for some of the buildings, the erection of partitions in the buildings to make them more useful for recreational purposes and rearrangement of the plumbing. The Salvation Army is to install whatever other equipment and facilities are needed.

This was said to be the first venture of its kind undertaken by the U. S. forest service.

While main CCC camps are under army control, side camps are owned by the technical agency erecting them, forest headquarters explained. Portable buildings are on hand in case another side camp should be needed in the forest and if another is installed at Lake o' Woods it will be placed on a site not so valuable for recreational use as the area of the camp being turned over to the Salvation Army under the special use permit, the forest office said.
