Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need. Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

MAJOR ABBEY IS TRANSFERRED TO DIFFERENT UNIT

Other Local Men Also Receive Army Transfers—Enlisted Gain Promotions

Maj. Walter W. Abbey, former Medford automobile dealer now on active duty with the army, has been transferred from the 249th coast artillery to the 18th coast artillery and attached to headquarters and headquarters battery, harbor defenses of the Columbia river, according to word received here today. Both the 249th and the 18th coast artillery are stationed at Fort Stevens.

Capt. Hubert B. Bentley of Ashland also has been transferred from the 249th to the 18th coast artillery. The 18th is commanded by Lieut.-Col. Kenneth Rowntree who used to call here and in Ashland periodically on national guard business.

Beveridge Transferred
Maj. William P. Beveridge of Portland, one time resident here and Medford high school football player, was relieved yesterday of duty as supply officer of the 186th infantry of the 41st division and transferred to the corps area service command at the presidio in San Francisco.

Maj. Beveridge joined the Oregon national guard in the World war period. He served overseas in the World war with the 65th coast artillery. He had served with the 186th infantry 17 years. Medford's two national guard units, Company A and headquarters detachment, now in federal service at Fort Lewis, Wash., are part of the 186th regiment. Maj. Beveridge's parents moved from here to Portland about 20 years ago. The major's father, William T. Beveridge, was a civil engineer here and a member of Medford Elks lodge.

Also announced was the promotion of the following Medford youths who are serving at Fort Lewis: Corporals John R. Pruitt and Leland E. Jones to sergeant; and Privates 1st Class Willard B. Hollenbeck, Clyde P. McCrory, Harold R. O'Neill and Benjamin F. Sparks to corporal.

MANY STORES TO SPONSOR MODELS IN YULE OPENING

Living Models To Be Seen As Windows Unveiled At 6:30 November 26, Word

More than 80 Medford stores were being contacted today to make arrangements for living models in their windows at the celebration opening the Christmas shopping season at 6:30 p. m., November 26, it was announced today by Jack Matlack, director.

"The displays will come to life as the store windows are unveiled at 6:30 sharp," said Mr. Matlack as he outlined plans for what he described as the biggest Christmas opening Medford has ever seen.

"Arrangements are under way for a large illuminated display over the center of the Main street and Central avenue intersection that will be the envy of every city this side of the Rocky Mountains," Matlack asserted. "Frank Rogers, our assistant city superintendent, is engineering the project and the plan will be kept a secret for a big surprise the night of the opening one week from tomorrow."

"Jolly Old Saint Nick himself will be downtown that night with loads of candy for the children and laughs for the grown-ups," Matlack continued.

"With so much of the world depressed with war, Medford merchants this year are working faithfully to make this the

FIRST OBJECTORS TO CAMP DEC. 5

Salem, Nov. 18.—(P)—Six Oregon men, the first conscientious objectors to be sent to a camp in Oregon, will report to the recently established civilian public service camp No. 1 at Cascade Locks on December 5, Lt. Col. Elmer V. Wooten, state selective service director, said today.

Previously, all Oregon conscientious objectors have been sent to a camp at Glendora, Cal.

The six Oregonians going to the Cascade Locks camp are: John H. Dassenbrock, Malheur county; Arthur John Franz and Gilbertson S. Heald, both Marion county board No. 1; Lester E. Gahler, Clackamas board No. 1; Robert W. Northey and Ralph E. Rogers, both Lane board No. 3.

biggest and happiest Christmas southern Oregon has ever had. "So farmers and other rural dwellers should make arrangements ahead of time to have the chores done up so that they can join the people of Medford in having the fun-time of a lifetime Wednesday evening, November 26."

Thanksgiving Turkey Shipping Completed

The Thanksgiving market for Rogue river turkeys is now over with the exception of final sales for the local market. Closing price was 27 cents per pound for hens, and 22½ cents for toms. It is estimated seven or eight cars were shipped out. There is a strong demand for small hens, around 10 or 12 pounds. The valley turkeys were heavier this season than usual, with toms running from 18 to 20 pounds and some around 30 pounds.
